CANNON FUNDS WILL BE SIFTED BY GRAND JURY

Alleged Violation of Corrupt Practices Act Is Issue.

FIRST OF SUBPENAS ANNOUNCED BY ROVER

Cleric's Woman Secretary Also Is Included in Investigation.

(Associated Press.)

The case of Bishop Cannon is to be laid before a grand jury.

Evidence obtained by the Senate campaign funds committee will be presented to determine whether the churchman's anti-Smith activities of 1928 were in violation of the corrupt practices law. District Attorney Rover announced yesterday he would take this action. The inquiry is to begin Thursday.

Miss Ada L. Burroughs, of Richmond, treasurer of the Virginia anti-Smith Democratic committee, headed by Bishop Cannon, will be included in the grand jury investigation also, he said.

Subpenas have been sent out for more than a score of witnesses. It was understood the list includes those who were called by the Senate committee in inquiring into the charge of Representative Tinkham (Republican), Massachusetts, that Bishop Cannon had failed to account for a major part of $65,000 contributed to his campaign by E. C. Jameson, a New York Republican.

Challenged by Bishop.

The bishop has challenged the authority of the committee to inquire into his campaign expenditures on the ground that his activities were confined to one State and therefore beyond jurisdiction of the Federal corrupt practices act. He repeatedly has stated that he welcomed a grand jury investigation.

Miss Burroughs twice refused to testify before the committee. Bishop Cannon has been invited by Chairman Nye of the committee to explain the record of his financial transactions in the 1928 campaign but has given no intimation of accepting this invitation.

District Attorney Rover has had before him for several weeks the evidence put before the Senate committee by a score of bankers and political leaders. He conferred, too, with Basil Manly, the committee's investigator.

Frelinghuysen Offers Aid.

Joseph S. Frelinghuysen, former Republican senator from New Jersey, sent a telegram to the committee yesterday volunteering to testify at any time on the $20,000 which he said he gave to Bishop Cannon in 1928.

Mr. Manly said there was no record that Bishop Cannon had reported either the receipt or the expenditure of this sum.

Reviewing the record, Mr. Manly said the bishop had reported the receipt of only $17,300 from Mr. Jameson. He said this was done in a "supplementary report" filed by the bishop long after the 1928 election at the time the Senate campaign funds committee was informed by Mr. Jameson of his contribution to the churchman.

Members of the Senate investigating committee showed interest yesterday in the statement of the bishop that he had contributed $5,000 from

HALE JOINS PROTEST ON DESTROYER CUTS

Hoover Supporter in Senate Charges Disregard of Congress' Mandate.

(Associated Press.)

Already two friends of the Navy in Congress have whipped into action against the administration's cut in the destroyer building program.

Chairman Hale, of the Senate naval committee, yesterday added his protest to that of Representative Britten, of Illinois, who headed the last House naval committee. Both usually are administration supporters.

Senator Hale left his home at Portland, Me., for the Capital, saying the President had "disregarded the mandate of Congress," and administered a crushing blow to the national defense.

Representative Britten said it was "difficult to see how the President can undo what Congress does when Congress is charged by the Constitution with maintaining an adequate national defense."

Meanwhile, the opinion was expressed that the President's action had provided one more fruitful subject for controversy at the next Congress.

While Congress had authorized the construction of eleven cruisers, and appropriated $10,000,000 for beginning work, Secretary Adams announced Tuesday that for reasons of economy only five would be built at the present time.

Admiral William V. Pratt, chief of naval operations, yesterday laid before Secretary Adams a program of curtailed activity designed to meet Mr. Hoover's demand for reduced expenditures.

The details of the plan were not made known. It was evolved in broad outline as an organization and operations program in connection with American naval strength under the provisions of the London naval treaty. Naval officials said the application of its principles would not affect basic naval policy.

Upon his return from a trip to the West Coast, Admiral Pratt, as Secretary Adams' chief naval adviser, turned his attention immediately to President Hoover's request that the Navy sharply pare its 1933 budget estimate of $401,000,000. The President hopes to have the figure reduced to $340,000,000.

The construction bill for 1932 will be $50,000,000. The Chief Executive would approve a 1933 construction bill of $65,000,000 if savings could be effected in other parts of the service and the budget reduced to $340,000,-

Ohio County Employes Facing Payless Paydays

Cleveland, Sept. 30 (A.P.).—County Auditor John A. Zangerle announced today that Cuyahoga County has just enough money to meet its October 1 pay roll, and immediately after that date faces a financial crisis with insufficient money to pay its employes. Cuyahoga County includes within its limits the City of Cleveland and several suburbs.

The county budget commissioner's office said the county will have to go on a quarter working basis, with the stagger system of employment, and that the situation is so acute a special session of the Legislature may have to be called to prevent a shutdown of the courts here.

Premier Laval to Sail For America on Oct. 16

Paris, Sept. 30 (A.P.).—Premier Laval announced this afternoon that he will sail for New York October 16 on the Ile de France, which is due there October 20.

At the last moment the premier postponed his departure from October 14 to October 16 without explaining the change. It was surmised, however, that he wanted to stay here long enough to launch the new Franco-German Economic Commission.

Paris Seen Urging End of War Debts

Fuguere, Laval's Adviser, Says Cancellation Is Trade Cure Need.

Paris, Sept. 30 (U.P.).—Public opinion in France "is growing stronger every day in favor of an end to war debts and reparations," Etienne Fuguere, prominent member of the new Franco-German economic commission, who is close to Premier Laval as an economic adviser, said today in a discussion of future collaboration of European nations for solution of economic difficulties.

"I believe the first step in economic rehabilitation must be the simultaneous suppression of debts and reparations," Fuguere told the United Press in an interview.

"Thereafter America and France should persuade other nations to practice a policy of sane amortization for which France and America would give the necessary financial support," he said.

PARLIAMENT TO ADJOURN FIRST OCTOBER WEEK

PREMIER IS SILENT ON ELECTION PLANS

Many Hurt as Police Ride Down Unemployed Rioters in Crowded West End.

London, Sept. 30 (U.P.).—Prime Minister J. Ramsay MacDonald announced in the House of Commons today that Parliament would adjourn probably October 7, but maintained his sphinx-like silence on persistent predictions of a general election late next month.

While the prime minister was cleverly evading a definite statement on the future of the emergency government, police fought with unemployed men and women demonstrating in the crowded sections of London against the dole cut. Meanwhile the House of Lords approved the national economy bill which gives the cabinet quasi-dictatorial powers during the financial crisis.

Police Disperse Mob.

The unemployment disorders assumed a serious character until mid-afternoon, when foot and mounted police finally dispersed the last group of demonstrators, arresting a large number of leaders, including some women. The outbreak actually started yesterday and continued at intervals in Hyde Park, in Mayfair and Bond street, around Whitehall and at Bow street. A dozen or more persons were injured.

Narrow, dingy Bow street, heart of the West End, was crowded with police reinforcements at dawn, preventing a demonstration outside the police court where twelve persons arrested last night were arraigned. There were several scuffles, but well-organized police ranks turned back the demonstrators. The defendants, including Irene Portons, charged with hitting two policemen in the face with a black jack, were remanded to jail.

Demonstrators Trampled.

Later several demonstrators were trampled by police horses when they reassembled outside the British museum and in Hyde Park. The disorders then spread to Mayfair and Bond street, in the crowded shopping district. Windows were smashed after police charged the demonstrators. The scattered crowd ran through the west end and it was two hours before the outbreak was entirely quelled.

In Hyde Park the stirrups of saddles on horses, which were awaiting riders at Rotten Row, were cut off by the unemployed.

In the House of Commons W. J. Brown, Laborite, presented a petition signed by 500,000 unemployed protesting the dole cuts.

Election Still Question.

MacDonald's announcement in the commons failed to clear up the question of a general election, merely holding the issue in abeyance with the possibility of dissolving Parliament at any time and calling an elec-

Three Convicted Of "Third Degree"

Pennsylvania County Officials Found Guilty of Beating Prisoner.

Norristown, Pa., Sept. 30 (A.P.).—Three Montgomery County officials accused of having used "third degree" methods on a Negro prisoner were convicted today on charges of conspiracy, false imprisonment and aggravated assault and battery.

The men are Ralph J. Rinalducci, former Assistant District Attorney; Joseph Trunk, County Detective, and Brooks Cassidy, chief of upper Dublin township police.

The accuser, William T. Campbell, of Fort Washington, was arrested in May in connection with the dynamiting of the home of E. K. Jones, Negro, at Fort Washington, but later was released. He charged he was beaten until he bled during questioning.

Grange Says Return Of Beer Would Hurt Farmers of Country

Executive Group of Four Members Speaks for Nation-Wide Body

(Associated Press.)

Arguments that beer would help the farmer were answered yesterday by a Nation-wide farm organization—the National Grange—with the statement its return would hurt him.

The grange numbers more than 800,000 farmers, every State represented. Its executive committee is meeting to deal with the agricultural crisis. The organization has long supported the dry cause.

The statement, signed by Louis J. Taber, national master, called it "tragic to find so-called national leaders" pressing for beer to combat the depression.

It supports the position taken by Senator Capper (Republican), Kansas. He contends brewing of 4 per cent beer would result in a reduction in consumption of dairy products, soft drinks, candy and the like.

Senator Capper was answering Senator Bingham (Republican), Connecticut, who promised to support a new bill for 4 per cent beer.

Even while the grange executive committee was preparing its statement in a hotel room high above

LOUIS J. TABER.

Washington's streets, Secretary Hyde's investigation of the effect of beer manufacture on the farmers' income was being undertaken at the Agriculture Department.

Mr. Hyde dropped word last week he planned such a study the better to answer individual inquiries and satisfy his own mind. Thereby he stirred afresh beer talk that has persisted in the Capital all summer.

VATICAN REMOVES SPANISH PRIMATE

Cardinal Retired After Republican Party Protests Political Activities.

Madrid, Sept. 30 (A.P.).—The Vatican has agreed to retire Cardinal Pedro Segura y Saenz from the Spanish primacy, the minister of government, Miguel Maura, announced today.

The removal of the cardinal primate, who has been accused of political activities, was called a victory for the Republican government in a joint statement issued later by President Alcala Zamora and Fernando de Los Rio, minister of justice.

The cardinal is expected to remain in exile in a French monastery or be transferred to Rome. He was expelled from Spain several months ago on charges he had participated in disseminating propaganda against the Republican government. It was thought in some quarters his successor as primate would be Cardinal Ilundian, Archbishop of Seville.

The announcement of the cardinal's removal followed upon weeks of secret negotiation between the papal nuncio, Mgr. Federico Tedeschini, and the Spanish president.

Thousands of telegrams were received by the government asking that congress postpone discusion of the religious section of the proposed Spanish constitution until an accord could be reached with the Vatican for amicable settlement of the church-state problem. Government officials termed the announcement today a big step toward solution of that problem.

Only twice in history, said the statement of the minister of justice, both times within the last decade, has the Pope consented to removal of a cardinal-primate of any country. Those instances were the removal of Cardinal Villot in France and Cardinal Huin in Czechoslovakia.

If the papacy continued "a thorough understanding of all the problems," the statement said, Spanish Catholicism would be raised to "planes of

One-Minute Earthquake Recorded in California

San Diego, Calif., Sept. 30 (A.P.).—An earthquake of a minute's duration was recorded here at 7:47:10 a. m. today on the seismograph at Theosophical headquarters.

The quake was so slight that few people on the street detected it and caused no damage or alarm.

Germany Blocks New War Claims

(United Press.)

The German government refused yesterday to permit the U. S. German mixed claims commission to consider some 1,800 new pleas for alleged war damages filed by American citizens after expiration of the claims convention in June, 1928.

In a note to the State Department, Germany said it could not change its previously expressed decision, namely, that sufficient time had elapsed between the end of the war and the expiration of the claims convention to permit all legitimate applications to be considered.

The German note was a reply to a State Department message sent on June 22, two days after President Hoover announced his moratorium plan to aid the Reich. The American note asked Germany to reconsider its previous refusal to extend the claims convention to admit applications filed between June 1, 1928, and March 10, 1931.

COURTS MAY DECIDE ON GAS OWNERSHIP

Utilities Hearing Ends With the Prospect of Legality Test.

The gas ownership inquiry of the Public Utilities Commission came to an end yesterday with the prospect that the question of the legality of the present ownership will go to the courts for determination.

When the hearing was resumed in the afternoon, William A. Roberts, assistant corporation counsel, acting for the commission, proposed that the more than 100 exhibits he had produced at the hearing should be accepted in evidence.

This was objected to by Wilton J. Lambert and Arthur Dean, counsel for the gas company owners, who entered a general objection to all of the exhibits and specific objections to four.

They contended that the utilities commission was without jurisdiction to make the inquiry; that the La Follette antimerger law was unconstitutional; that the exhibits were irrelevant and incompetent.

Mr. Dean also wanted stricken from the record reference to a telegram from an officer of the Central Public Service Corporation instructing Sherman Damon, trustee of the Washington & Suburban companies, to deliver his proxies to be voted at a meeting having to do with the New York & Richmond Gas Co., one of the companies which figured in the financial maneuverings of the Chicago interests incident to the Washington deal.

The utilities commission overruled the objections of the gas owners' counsel and accepted the exhibits. It overruled the objections of gas counsel to other matters, and, except for answers to be made by deposition under oath by Albert E. Peirce, president of the Central Public Service Corporation, alleged owner of the local gas system, the hearing was closed.

Edison's Strength Is Failing Slowly

Doctor Says Aged Inventor Declines Gradually at Menlo Park.

East Orange, N. J., Sept. 30 (A.P.).—Thomas A. Edison, the wizard of Menlo Park, is slowly failing in health, his physician, Dr. Hubert S. Howe, said today in a bulletin. The complication of four diseases, which brought a serious collapse to the aged inventor several weeks ago, is slowly sapping his strength into a gradual decline.

"Mr. Edison seems to have less interest in things, and his strength has failed somewhat during the last few days," Dr. Howe stated.

Because of his weakened condition, Mr. Edison did not take his customary auto ride this afternoon, despite fair weather and warm sunshine. The aged inventor, however, is not confined to his bed.

140 Held as Bombs Explode in Havana

60 Girls Among Number Arrested; 10 Blasts Injure 2.

Havana, Sept. 30 (A.P.).—Ten bombs exploded in Havana today, and approximately 140 persons, 60 of them girls, were arrested during the celebration of the first anniversary of the fatal wounding of Rafael Trejo, "student martyr."

Two persons were gravely injured by the bombs, but no great property damage was done.

A 5-year-old boy picked up what he thought was a ball. It exploded in his hands, seriously injuring him. A woman was injured by another bomb.

Woman Lives After Fall From Dumbarton Bridge

Mrs. Adeline Greenleaf, wife of Eric C. Greenleaf, an engineer for the Chesapeake & Potomac Telephone Co., fell from Dumbarton bridge yesterday afternoon and not only remained conscious to talk about her experience but received injuries which are not expected to prove fatal.

The soft earth on which the woman landed is about 60 feet below that part of the Q street span from which she toppled and only a few yards from Rock Creek, which flows alongside. At Georgetown University Hospital her injuries were diagnosed as possibles fractures of two vertabrae.

Mrs. Greenleaf was resting comfortably early today.

Complications entered the incident immediately after the woman's inert form was discovered, when she gave the name of Mrs. James Brown and first one address, then another, neither listed in the city directory. It was on this account that Mr. Greenleaf did not learn of his wife's misfortune for several hours after her true identity was disclosed.

JUDGE ORDERS KANE HELD FOR GRAND JURORS

Magistrate Takes Action After 20 Minutes of Testimony.

MOTHER OF VICTIM SOBS IN COURTROOM

"Betty" Is Not Present as 10 Witnesses Take Stand in Hampton.

Hampton, Va., Sept. 30 (A.P.).—Elisha Kent Kane 3d, University of Tennessee professor, was held for the grand jury today at conclusion of a preliminary hearing on a charge of drowning his wife, Jenny Graham Kane, in Chesapeake Bay, last month.

Magistrate J. E. Dixon, of Elizabeth City County, decided to send the case on to the grand jury after he had heard twenty minutes of argument summing up the testimony given by the father, mother and brother of Mrs. Kane and seven other witnesses. No witnesses were offered by the defense.

The regular Elizabeth City County grand jury meets here Monday.

Mother Sobs in Court.

Kane heard his wife's father and mother testify today that their daughter seemed to dread the swimming party on Grand View Beach from which she never returned alive. Mrs. W. C. Graham, mother of the dead woman, gave way to hysteria and was led sobbing from the courtroom after answering four questions. There was no opportunity for cross-examination. "She told me her husband wanted to go to the beach to swim and she looked at me with appealing eyes that seemed to say, 'Don't let me go, or go with me,' Mrs. Graham sobbed just before she was removed from the stand. "They went and my darling daughter never came back alive."

Coroner George K. Vanderslice testified that information given him by Hop Graham, a brother of Mrs. Kane, about letters from "another woman" and domestic difficulties of the Kanes caused him to change a verdict of accidental drowning to murder. He said members of the family had destroyed the letters except for one in his possession signed "Betty."

Betty Not Present.

But Betty, identified as Mrs. E. H. Dahl, of Mount Holly, N. J., was not present today and counsel said she was not expected. During the afternoon the State brought forward a number of fishermen who claim to have witnessed the drowning. They testified to seeing two persons splashing in the water and to hearing screams "at first playfully" and later "distressing."

J. Firman said his father, in the boat with him, said, "You're going to hear from those screams." Commonwealth's Attorney Roland Cock asked the elder Firman what kind of screams he heard and the 72-year-old man said they were "Oh, oh, oh." He said, "The screams made me nervous but I could not see the people."

Mrs. Graham's testimony, the first she has given publicly, came after a

Southland Flier Saved As Blast Wrecks Track

Thomasville, Ga., Sept. 30 (U.P.).—A dynamite blast designed to wreck the Atlantic Coast Line Railroad flyer, the Southland, authorities believed, destroyed a short section of track 35 miles north of here early today.

Reports here said Negroes living nearby heard the blast and built a huge bonfire, which warned the crew of the northbound train. The train was delayed. The southbound section, coming through four hours later, was on schedule.

ST. LOUIS ON EDGE, CONFIDENT OF CARDS

Connie Mack Seeks Third Straight Title in the Annual Classic.

Today's game between the Athletics and Cardinals will be reproduced on The Post's magnetic scoreboard, beginning at 2:30 o'clock.

By SHIRLEY L. POVICH
(Sports Editor of The Post).

St. Louis, Mo., Sept. 30.—Hopes high in a carnival spirit still rampant 24 hours after their idolized Cardinals had been borne in a triumphal procession through the city's streets, St. Louis tonight awaited the morrow and the beginning of the 1931 world series.

And on the other side of the picture are the Philadelphia Athletics, the American League champions, who made their entry into the city early this afternoon, pronounced favorites to beat the Cardinals, and displaying an easy confidence that they will present Connie Mack with his third consecutive world series championship. Their's is a potential history-making role.

Drawing the picture a bit finer, we see in the make-up of the Athletics, with the incomparable Grove and the capable Earnshaw as their pitching threats and the dynamite that lurks in the bats of Simmons, Cochrane and Foxx, the ingredients for the disillusionment of a city tumbling over itself in its adulation of the Cardinals who have brought four national league pennants to St. Louis in six years.

Grove vs. Derringer.

The pitching program for the opening game, barring deep strategical moves of the opposing managers, will find Lefty Grove on the firing line for the Athletics, winging his speed ball into the big mitt of Mickey Cochrane, and Paul Derringer, youthful and husky right hander of the Cardinals, receiving his world series baptism, but the acknowledged ace of the St. Louis staff. Behind the bat he will have the veteran Jimmy Wilson, best of the National League catchers, who outshone Cochrane in the series last year.

Once more the series will find opposed as the master minds of the rival dugouts, Connie Mack, 68-year-old sage of the Athletics, and Gabby Street, 49-year-old manager of the Cardinals, best remembered as the battery mate of Walter Johnson when the Big Train was wasting his pitching prowess on the desert air that characterized the perennial second division clubs at Washington.

The honor of the last year, fell to Mack, when his minions turned back Street's Cardinals in four out of six games to gain their second consecutive world series title. But it was Street's team which made the best showing of a National League contender in the world series since 1926, for no other champion of his league had been able to win more than one game from the American League standard bearers in the four years since Hornsby's Cardinals defeated the New York Yankees.

Virtually Same Teams.

They will send into action virtually the same teams that contested the series to the extent of six games in 1930 but neither has escaped completely the inroads of time or misfortune. Street's is the team that has been the greatest to suffer, with the loss of the veteran right-hander, Jess Haines, due to a persistent shoulder injury, and the certain absence of Third Baseman Sparky Adams for two games at least as a result of a twisted ankle.

Offsetting the absence of Haines will be the presence of Derringer, sensational product of the Cardinals' "farm" system who has won 18 and lost only 8 games in his first year in the majors. In place of Adams at third base will be Andy High, first line substitute, with a reputation as a "money player" and crucial pinch-hitter extraordinary. In one other respect will the Cardinals line-up present a change over 1930. The familiar figure of Taylor Douthit in center

MANY IN MANCHURIA DIE IN NEW CLASHES

Japan Accused of Starting Drive for Independence in Three Provinces.

Peiping, China, Sept. 30 (U.P.).—The brief period of calm over Japanese occupation of Manchuria was shattered again today with reports of many dead in new clashes along the Korean border and charges that Japan had instigated a campaign toward independent government in the three eastern provinces.

Chang Hsueh-Liang, ruler of Manchuria and ally of the Chinese National government, issued a statement saying he had been informed officially of establishment of independent Manchurian governments at Mukden, the capital; Kirin, important railroad point; Harbin, the largest city in the north, and at Heilung-Chiang.

Chang said the independence movement "obviously" was due to Japanese influence and that he would not recognize such governments. Chang has been in charge of the Peiping district of China in recent months and has vigorously protested the Japanese occupation of his provinces.

Advices from Mukden said Chinese were reported to have attacked and sacked a number of Korean emigrant villages in Manchuria, killing some 300 residents. Feeling recently has been high in the frontier area and Japanese troops were sent into that region a week ago after Chinese-Japanese riots were reported. Japanese airplanes were dispatched in pursuit of the Chinese soldiers who were said to have fled after attacking the villages.

The National government at Nanking announced appointment of Alfred Sze, Chinese Minister to London and at present the delegate to the League of Nations council, as minister of foreign affairs. He succeeds C. T. Wang, who was seriously injured last week in an attack by Chinese students who demanded immediate declaration of war against Japan. Late dispatches from Geneva said Sze had declined the appointment as foreign minister.

Geneva, Sept. 30 (U.P.).—The League of Nations Council today passed a resolution summarizing progress toward settlement of the Manchurian conflict and then adjourned to October 14, to give Japan

Le Bourcet, France, Sept. 30 (A.P.).—Approximately 200,000,000 francs (about $8,000,000) in gold were due today by airplane from Amsterdam for consignment to Paris banks. About $1,920,000 were received in that manner yesterday.

Army Bans Soviet Matches; Will Use Those Made in U. S.

War Department Awards Contract to American Company at Higher Figure; Navy Expected to Take Similar Action; Aiding of Idle Seen.

The United States Army, which for the past year or two has been using safety matches manufactured in Russia, henceforth will use matches made in this country, even though these latter matches are considerably more expensive.

The fact that the Army was buying Russian-made safety matches was revealed in The Post several months ago, and the revelation caused something of a sensation.

It was not the fault of the Army that these matches were being used. Under the law, as it stood at the time, the Quartermaster Corps had to accept the lowest bid. The Russian bid was 33 1-3 per cent lower than the American bid, and consequently had to be accepted.

However, in passing the 1932 War Department appropriation bill, Congress wrote in a provision authorizing the War and Navy Departments to buy American-made goods, even though these goods should cost more than the foreign-made goods.

It is in accordance with this provision that the War Department has now awarded a contract to America's Own Match Co., to supply matches to the entire Army. The Navy Department undoubtedly will follow the lead of the War Department.

The Army and the Navy use a vast quantity of safety matches, and their patronage of American manufacturers is expected to be a boon to the industry and to ease the unemployment situation in that industry.

America's Own Match Co., which has won the Army contract, is a branch of the Barat-Forster-Diefield Co., which has factories in Cloquet, Minn.; Dixfield, Me.; Hancock, Mass.; Jackson, Tenn.; Oakland, Me., and White Pigeon, Mich.

GUGGENHEIM SEES WORLD SILVER ERA

Former Senator Pleads for Parley and Is Optimistic Over Business.

New York, Sept. 30 (A.P.).—Silver, in the opinion of Simon Guggenheim, head of one of the world's largest smelting and refining companies, soon will "come into its own" and already is destined for the greatest future of all metals.

Returning from Europe today, the president of the American Smelting & Refining Co., urged a conference of outstanding silver exponents to help hasten the "silver era" he predicted. Every country, he said, would gain something by the move.

The 64-year-old millionaire, who gave up a political career to return to the business world, after serving one term as senator from Colorado, sounded a clear note of business optimism as he talked to reporters.

"All we need is sound common sense and a will to work," he said, in emphasizing that he saw no cause for alarm in present conditions.

Now Is Time to Build.

"Now is the time to build for the future, for a better opportunity never existed."

Returning to a discussion of silver, he said:

"As a direct result of economic disturbances all over the world and the suspension of the gold standard in most European countries, I believe silver will come into its own. It is necessary, and most countries, including Great Britain, are beginning to realize its importance in value.

"A conference should be called of leading exponents of silver and a plan should be developed whereby the metal could regain some of its former prestige and play a more important part in the purchasing power of the world. All countries have something to gain by such action."

Maintaining Dividends.

He said he believed the present would be an opportune time for a concerted effort on the part of world copper producers to help remedy the present situation.

He went on record in favor of corporations maintaining dividends as long as possible without resorting to the borrowing of money, "in consideration of small stockholders."

"For no better could surpluses built up in good years be used than in maintenance of dividends," he said, "for thereby the good will and confidence of stockholders are held.

"Any improvement in the copper industry will depend now on a general improvement of world conditions, and as yet this is not in sight," he said.

M'DONALD TO END PARLIAMENT IN WEEK

tion. Efforts of Arthur Henderson, Labor leader, to get the prime minister to commit himself on the election question failed, although MacDonald said he hoped to announce on October 7 the date at which the Commons would reassemble. Some sources said MacDonald would announce his attitude toward an election in the next week.

It was apparent that the cabinet had not yet reached a decision on an election nor on the Conservatives' demand for a revenue tariff.

Sir Herbert Samuel, acting Liberal leader, went today after the regular cabinet meeting to confer with David Lloyd George, Liberal party chieftain who is ill, and who was reported to be opposed to an early election. The Liberals, who always have supported free trade, recently were said to have agreed to the Conservative demand for an emergency tariff, but it was explained that this compromise was on the understanding that there would not be a general election.

MacDonald telegraphed the secretary of the Seaham Labor party, his constituency, asking a call meeting of delegates Friday night, when he will address them. At this time it was said the prime minister might disclose some indication of his attitude toward an election.

An amendment to the new constitution forbidding the expulsion of foreigners from Spanish territory without legal cause, was adopted today.

Articles relative to inviolability of correspondence and freedom of industry, commerce, press, and academic professions were approved. The age of suffrage was raised from 21 to 23 years.

Undersecretary of State Agramonte said that the government had conducted its negotiations in regard to the cardinal primate "with a hand of iron within a glove of silk."

Senor Agramonte also praised Papal Nuncio Tedeschini, saying that the latter's diplomatic endowments contributed greatly to the success of the negotiations.

Papal Nuncio Tedeschini said that the cardinal had renounced his post voluntarily, without intervention from the Vatican, to avoid possible complications in the church and state controversy. He said the cardinal would await an assignment by the Holy See.

Appointment of a successor probably awaits a change of administration, he said, and a temporary vicar will be named in the meantime.

Col. Taylor to Address Legion Post.

Col. John Thomas Taylor, vice chairman of the national legislative committee of the American Legion, will speak before the meeting of Alexandria Post No. 24, American Legion, tomorrow night at Gadsby's Tavern, in Alexandria. He will tell of some of the high lights of the recent national convention in Detroit.

Coolidge's Plain Words Held Screen by Many

By JOHN J. DALY

MR. COOLIDGE, who in the first instance did not choose to run, now rises to ask a question: "Why should it be supposed that what I was then seeking to escape I am now seeking to acquire?"

Why, indeed; except that it is human nature to suppose, to pry into other men's mind and actions; to discover hidden meanings in the simplest statements; to read between the lines, as 'twere—a game old as the hills.

Even now, when Mr. Coolidge for the second time makes a flat-footed statement, with some elaboration and a study of political economy as fine as the press has seen these many days, his words will be analyzed, scrutinized, twisted, torn, turned about, thrown into the air, set upside down, and given various meanings.

IT will be said, as it has already been said, that he does not choose to run, at this time, because:

It's a wise man who knows his own mind.

The wish is father to the thought.

What goes up must come down.

While there is life there is hope.

Washington being Washington, Mr. Coolidge would not be human if he did not once again wish to cross the Delaware. And so on, and so on, ad infinitum.

* * * *

DIFFERENT standpoints, different views; as exemplified by a fable in Phaedrus: the enemy at hand, a donkey-driver, exhorts his donkey to flee. The donkey asks if the enemy will load him with double-pack saddles: "No," says the man. "Then," replies the donkey, "I do not choose to run, for what care I whether you or some one else is my master?"

It all depends on the way you look at it. For some people, hidden meanings give zest to life. If the same energy spent prying into other people's business were given opportunity to work for the individual good this depression would be cleared up, and it would not be a hard winter.

Mr. Coolidge has thrown his cards on the table, but there are some who still think he has an ace up his sleeve.

Caesar had a saying: "'Tis the common vice of nature, that we repose most confidence, and receive the greatest apprehension, from things unseen, concealed, and unknown."

* * * *

SINCE Mr. Coolidge is said to have received $10,000 for the article in which he elaborated upon his first statement, there is a chance for him to add to his fortune by more literary work in the future. It is certain, as far as the mind of man can apprehend, that he will not run in 1932, but will he feel that way in 1936? That is the question.

It gives a lot of food for thought, and the thinkers will immediately seize upon it as nourishment for their souls. When the 1940 question is answered, once and for all, there is still 1944 to be considered and, farther in the offing, 1948. As time goes on, and Mr. Coolidge grows older—he cannot remain young forever—he will, perforce, have to answer the troublesome question with sealed lips as he enters the halls of the immortals.

BIMETALISM SEEN RETURNING ISSUE

May Figure in 1932, Unless Conditions Improve, Says Sheppard.

(Associated Press.)

Silver clouds are lining the political skies as a result of the world's difficulties with the gold standard.

Predictions are accumulating from political leaders that bimetalism, which lent color to presidential campaigns at the turn of the century is returning as an American public issue.

Though bankers insist the silver issue was settled years ago, temporary abandonment of the gold standard by Great Britain and the Scandinavian countries has given encouragement to those who are seeking recognition of the white metal as a monetary base.

Senator Sheppard (Democrat), of Texas, yesterday was added to the list of those who foresee a return of the bimetallism conflict.

Though Mr. Sheppard said he was not advocating bimetallism, he predicted that if economic conditions continue to grow worse, it may even be a full-fledged issue by the campaign of 1932.

Others who have talked recently of bimetallism, either advocating it or seeing in it a coming political problem, are Senators Borah (Republican), Idaho; Walsh (Democrat), Montana; Shipstead (Farmer-Labor), Minnesota; King (Democrat), Utah, and Couzens (Republican), Michigan.

Mr. Couzens recently said in Detroit that Congress should consider something "along the lines of bimetalism or partial suspension of the gold standard."

Silver has played little part in American politics since William Jennings Bryan used it as a ladder to national fame and the presidential nomination in 1896. It has been a growing problem in recent years, however, as the price of the commodity steadily dropped.

Mr. Sheppard predicted that along with the bimetallism issue would come demands for monetary inflation in this country by the issuance of "fiat" bills. He cited the recent suggestion of Prof. John R. Commons, of Wisconsin University, for issuance of $1,000,000,000 in irredeemable bills, to ease money conditions, increase prices and restore commerce.

Everson Leaves Army for Pulpit

"Flying Parson" Opposes New Military Plans at This Time.

(Associated Press.)

A belief that new military activities should not be undertaken during the depression was voiced yesterday by Maj. Gen. William G. Everson, soldier-pastor, in resigning as chief of the Militia Bureau to return to the pulpit at Denver. The view conformed with previous expressions by high War Department and administration representatives.

"Never was the National Guard more thoroughly organized, equipped and trained than it is today," said Gen. Everson in his letter of resignation.

During the World War he was ordered to active duty as a major in Europe. He was cited by England, France, Italy and Serbia and awarded three battle clasps by the United States. As chief of the Militia Bureau, Gen. Everson flew more than 100,000 miles in two years in visiting National Guard encampments, winning the sobriquet "the flying parson."

Mental Ills of Veterans Are Laid to Loneliness

Cleveland, Ohio, Sept. 30 (A.P.).—Worry, loneliness, and lack of interested personal attention are contributing to an increase in mental disease among veterans at hospitals, Mrs. Willis G. Murray, of Chicago, pioneer in relief work in the Service Star Legion, said today at the legion's national convention here.

The burden of relief work among veterans is increasing all the time, she said, adding that she had been told that the peak of mental cases will not be reached before 1949.

DEBENTURES STAND REITERATED BY HYDE

Replies to European Cotton Body's Claim Action Will Hurt Price.

(Associated Press.)

Secretary Hyde yesterday reiterated the administration's opposition to an export debenture in an effort to stimulate foreign purchasing of American cotton.

Cables from a conference of the European Cotton Association at Liverpool led the Secretary to believe foreign buyers "generally regard debentures and similar measures as calculated to depress prices of American cotton at European ports still further."

So he dispatched a message to the association saying, "It is inconceivable that Congress would take any action the benefits of which would accrue to the buyers rather than the producers of American cotton."

Resolution Adopted.

The European Cotton Association includes organizations at Liverpool, Manchester, Havre, Bremen, Barcelona, Milan, Rotterdam and the British Spinners Association. At the conference they adopted a resolution requesting Hyde "to inform your government that the proposal for subsidizing exports of American cotton by means of debenture or similar measures has already disrupted dealings with mills and is preventing buyers of manufactured goods from placing orders, thereby seriously contributing to the world-wide depression in the cotton industry."

"In the same way," their cable continued, "importers are being seriously hindered from buying.

"It is obvious that such uncertainty is gravely limiting the purchase of the present cotton crop until something definite is known of the views and intentions of the American Government, which would allow buyers to operate with a feeling that such purchases would not be adversely affected later by passage of the debenture proposition."

Not Now Provided For.

Secretary Hyde, in his reply, said debentures or similar measures for subsidizing exports are not now provided for by law. Further, he pointed to numerous futile efforts to enact such measures during the past ten years as methods of increasing prices to American farmers.

To some farm organization officials, the Hyde message was tantamount to a warning from the administration that an export debenture or export subsidy bill enacted by the next Congress would be vetoed by President Hoover.

Jackson, Miss., Sept. 30 (A.P.).—The Roberts-Sillers cotton acreage reduction bill was approved by the State Senate in committee of the whole late today and was placed in the calendar with recommendation for favorable consideration tomorrow.

The bill is closely allied with the cotton acreage curtailment plan adopted by the Texas Legislature and would hold cotton acreage in 1932 and 1933 to 30 per cent of this year's cultivated acreage in Mississippi.

FEDERAL GRAND JURY TO GET CANNON CASE

the anti-Smith funds to the North Carolina anti-Smith Democrats and denying that he had received this money from Claudius Huston, former Republican national committee chairman.

Nevertheless, it was stated by those close to the committee that further inquiry would be made into expenditures by Mr. Huston in the 1928 campaign. One check for $5,000 given to the North Carolina anti-Smith Democrats has been traced to a bank account of Mr. Huston's in New York. This account was opened less than a month before the 1928 election and showed deposits of more than $180,000 and expenditures of $150,000 between October 11 and November 1.

Commenting on the statement by Bishop Cannon and his work in tracing the $5,000 contribution, Mr. Manly said:

"Our work would have been greatly simplified and any possibility of error prevented if Bishop Cannon or his treasurer or secretary had produced the records."

MEXICAN GOVERNOR IS DEFIED BY MAYOR

State Official Fails to Quash the Dual Rule in Guadalajara.

Guadalajara, Mexico, Sept. 30 (A.P.).—Gov. Juan de Dios Robledo arrived today from Mexico City and announced he intended to put an end to the political row, as result of which two state and two city governments were set up here.

A parade of 10,000 persons escorted him to the State Building.

Robledo declared he would reinstate Mayor Jose Mata, and Mata announced he would set up his headquarters immediately in the Municipal Building.

Luis Alvarez Del Castillo, appointed by the legislature to succeed Mata and who now occupies the Municipal Building, said he would have to be removed by force if he were to leave at all.

The District court ordered federal troops to support the Robledo Mata faction, but the troops have orders from the federal government to support Alvarez Del Castillo. They remained on guard outside the Municipal Building tonight and Mayor Mata had not yet attempted to oust Mayor Alvarez Del Castillo.

Arias Named by Peru For Latin Trade Parley

(Associated Press.)

Pan-American Union officials said yesterday they had been notified Rudolfo Garcia Arias would be chairman of the Argentine delegation to the fourth Pan-American Commercial Conference next week. Garcia resides in New York.

Dr. Rafael Belaunde, representing the chambers of commerce of Lima, Callao and Arequipa, Peru, arrived yesterday for the conference. He is a professor at Miami University, but has come to the conference directly from Peru. Diego Montes, Bolivian governmental delegate, was expected to arrive by airplane.

Machado Decree Cuts Expenses 25 Per Cent

Havana, Sept. 30 (A.P.).—President Machado signed a decree today reducing Cuban internal expenditures for 1931-32 approximately 25 per cent.

The budget slash did not affect payments on external obligations, set in the budget at $14,185,164.97, nor other expenditures prescribed by treaty or other international agreement.

Brazilian Aviator Killed.

Rio de Janeiro, Sept. 30 (A.P.).—Sergt. Oliveira Chaves was killed today and a student flier was injured in the crash of an army aviation school plane. The falling plane also struck and injured an 11-year-old boy.

NEW SMITH BOARD ELECTS WALDMAN

Delaware Court Confirms Directorate of Securities Company.

Wilmington, Del., Sept. 30 (A.P.).—Chancellor J. O. Wolcott today confirmed the election of a new board of directors for the F. H. Smith Co., of Washington and New York, dealers in mortgage securities.

The new board was elected at a special meeting held here September 15, and was sponsored by a group of preferred stockholders who were in opposition to the management in control at that time.

The new board has organized with Clarence F. Waldman, of New York, as president, and has established offices in the Delaware Trust Co. building here. The new management is making an investigation into the finances of the company.

The members of the new board, in addition to Waldman, are Harry M. Blair, William F. Edwards and Joseph W. Lawrence, jr., of New York; Rush L. Holland, Washington; Robert G. Merritt, Baltimore, and James B. Lichtenberger, Philadelphia.

Although the election figures were not made public, it was understood the new board was given a large majority over two other tickets, one supported by the management and the other by another group of stockholders.

The special election was ordered by the chancellor after he had ordered canceled 200,000 shares of common stock on the ground they had been issued without proper consideration.

Investment House, 99 Years Old, Fails

Trustee Is Appointed for Townsend Scott & Son in Baltimore.

Baltimore, Sept. 30 (A.P.).—Townsend Scott & Son, one of the oldest investment houses in the United States, was placed in the hands of a trustee today, and automatically suspended from the Baltimore Stock Exchange, of which it was a charter member.

No estimate of the assets or liabilities of the firm was made in the Superior Court action which named Joseph France trustee. The court action stated that Townsend Scott & Son had become unable to meet its obligations and voluntarily applied for the trusteeship.

The firm was established in 1832 by Townsend Scott 2d, great-grandfather of the present head of the firm. The seat held by the present Scott is the only one on the Baltimore exchange which has not gone out of one firm or one family since the exchange was founded in 1844.

Baltimore Banker, 88, Dead at Atlantic City

Atlantic City, Sept. 30 (A.P.).—Elisha H. Perkins, chairman of the board of directors of the Provident Savings Bank of Baltimore, Md., died here today from natural causes. He was 88 years old.

The body will be sent to Baltimore tomorrow for burial. The widow, Mrs. Jean D. F. Perkins, and two daughters, Miss Charlott S. Perkins, of Baltimore, and Mrs. W. S. Finlay, of Sewickly, Pa., survive.

33 Theaters Closed by Row.

Kansas City, Sept. 30 (A.P.).—The managers of 33 neighborhood theaters closed their doors tonight as the result of a disagreement with the motion picture operators' union. The operators have refused to accede to the owners' requests that one operator be employed in each booth instead of two.

Hoover and Laval to 'Visit' On Peace, Arms and Money

Old-Fashioned Neighborliness, Banning Stiff, Diplomatic Usages, Will Strike Dominant Note of French Premier's Sojourn in Washington.

(Associated Press.)

Just plain, old-fashioned visiting, where neighborly conversation finds its own spontaneous channels and takes its own time, will strike the dominant note of the coming visit of Pierre Laval, the French Premier, to Washington.

Of course the talk is bound to run to such topics as peace, disarmament, and world economics, but no stiff and formal diplomatic agenda, setting out what may be disscused, is included in the program of arrangements now under negotiation with Paris.

President Hoover and Secretary Stimson want to get better acquainted with the visitor and his problems and purposes, above all else. They look forward to the event as something more, even, than the usual widely-advertised "heart-to-heart" talks among statesmen.

Laval is a new man to international politics. At home he has made his way politically on domestic issues. Not until the Hoover moratorium suddenly stirred the relationships of nations three months ago did he have real contact with France's problems beyond her own boundaries.

In the moratorium negotiations and all of the ensuing discussion he has taken a stand arousing high hope of his future as a friend of peace. In a sense he represents a new generation of French political thought, and it is a generation with whose leaders American statesmen want to be on terms of personal, friendly understanding.

It is for this reason that the plans for the premier's stay in Washington, beginning three weeks hence, are being woven about the central requirement of long, uninterrupted talks with Mr. Hoover and those others whose responsibilities touch world relationships. Of course, there will be the usual receptions, dinners, and calls of courtesy, but they all will take second place.

Secretary Stimson, at Paris at the close of the moratorium discussions and later at the seven-power conference at London, already has a personal acquaintance with Mr. Laval. President Hoover desires that this acquaintance be extended, and he himself wants to share in it.

He always has put great faith in the value of personal contact. He found the transatlantic telephone a vast help in negotiations on debts and the moratorium. He believes that in foreign affairs personal interchanges far outstrip the tedious exchanges of old-fashioned diplomacy.

It is easy to guess some of the subjects to which Mr. Hoover and M. Laval will come naturally when they sit down to talk together—through an interpreter, but, nevertheless, with the 3,000 miles between the French and American capitals replaced by physical nearness. The two governments have not officially listed these subjects. The necessity for doing so has not arisen.

The United States is interested vitally in peace, in disarmament, and economic recovery.

At the center of world concern on the side of peace stands the problem of relations between France and Germany. It is true that these relations in turn, rest in large degree on such intricate European questions as the Polish corridor, far removed from the realm of American foreign policy. Yet insofar as the Franco-German situation has concerned world stability, Mr. Hoover has not refrained from a friendly interest.

In advance of the February disarmament conference, France has taken a position looked upon here as discouraging. Her first outline of what she can and can not do toward reducing military expenditures startled some of her conferes. American statesmen recognize, however, the special considerations behind the French position, and they remember that through several hundred years of French diplomacy, the first sweeping demands of French statesmen usually have been found pliable to the processes of compromise.

The economic questions with which Mr. Hoover and M. Laval will occupy themselves are many-sided. The President is much interested in the new Franco-German economic commission. He is interested in knowing first-hand the trend of French thought since the making of the moratorium. He will talk with his visitor with a full consciouaness that between them the United States and France now hold the great bulk of the world's gold and the responsibility that goes with it.

These are some of the reasons why the premier's visit seems certain to be a very busy time, and a very significant time, for all concerned.

WILSON QUALIFIES ATTACK ON LEGION

Holds Words Misinterpreted, but Reiterates Rough Element Leads.

Alton, Ill., Sept. 30 (A.P.).—Dr. Clarence True Wilson, general secretary of the Methodist Episcopal Board of Temperance, Prohibition and Public Morals, said here tonight his recent statement regarding the American Legion national convention and its vote for a Nation-wide referendum on prohibition, had been misinterpreted. Speaking before the Southern Illinois Methodist Episcopal Conference, Dr. Wilson declared, however, that the legion has been "at the mercy of a rough element."

"There are 1,000,000 men," he said, "who went across to France from dry cantonments, where they had been taught to let liquor alone, and they were going to Europe as the representatives of American civilization.

"They went over and did their parts bravely and well, and came back as clean in mind and body, as free and loyal to the moral standards of the United States, and as fit to be decent American citizens as when they went away. All this, and covered with the halo of American patriotism and heroism in addition, but some of the number dropped their Americanism, their Christian standards of decency, dropped into French customs and came back to import them into the United States.

"They are not a majority of the American Legion, they are only a small fraction, and their lewdness and drunkenness at their conventions disgraced their fellow members and all former soldiers. The fact is that the organization has been at the mercy of a rough element and some of its officers have used this organization, both through the editing of the Stars and Stripes and the exploitation of the legion convention since, to attack the Constitution of the country, to show that they have no moral sense of loyalty to support the eighteenth amendment until it has had a fair trial in our American life."

Mellie Dunham Buried At Simple Maine Rites

Norway, Me., Sept. 30 (U.P.).—Mellie Dunham, aged old-time fiddler whom Henry Ford made nationally famous, was laid to rest today in Pine Grove Cemetery, where last year he had erected headstones for himself and his wife, "Gram."

Neighbors and friends attended the simple rites at the Universalist Church. His favorite fiddle was the centerpiece of a floral display during the services.

Bank Employe Pleads Guilty.

Chicago, Sept. 30 (A.P.).—Walter Wolf, $75-a-week bank employe, today pleaded guilty to ten counts in an indictment charging him with embezzling $1,047,000 from the Continental Illinois Trust & Savings Bank during a period of more than ten years.

Manchuria will be discussed by speakers at a meeting of the Chinese Students Club of Washington at 8 o'clock tonight at George Washington University, building W, room 29.

Speakers will be Prof. W. C. Johnstone, jr., professor of political science at George Washington, and Dr. Y. C. Mei, director of Chinese educational mission. Their subject will be "The Sino-Japanese Controversy in Manchuria." Miss Y. C. Wong, president of the Students Club, will be chairman.

180,000 German Miners Get 7 Per Cent Pay Cut

Berlin, Sept. 30 (A.P.).—An emergency decree signed by President Von Hindenburg today legalized a 7 per cent wage cut affecting 180,000 coal miners in the Ruhr district.

The measure, effective until November 30, but subject to extension, relieves workers and employers from the payment of unemployment-insurance fees, thus making the reduction only 3 per cent in its effect. Minor walkouts were reported at Essen, Duisburg and Bottrop, but police arrested agitators to prevent the walkout from spreading.

Two able men wanted for trade institute work—a basic industry—splendid opportunity.

An important industry is considering the inauguration of an institute which will go to work on the industry's collective problems, aimed at improving trade practices as well as better serving the public.

The institute will be managed by an Executive Chairman, who now needs two men associates. Headquarters will be in New York, but considerable traveling will be necessary. Men desired should not be over 35—college trained—men who know how to get facts—how to present them—when to talk—when not to—experienced in the handling of a meeting or conference—who know the pitfalls of getting tied up in arguments or petty talk—who have such command of themselves and facts that they quickly gain confidence—men of deep-seated honesty—marked genuineness—fearless, clean-cut men—who know the art of moulding a group into an agreed course or holding an individual in line.

The men desired may now be lawyers trained in the logic of facts as well as conference technique. There can be no high pressure or coercion in this character of work.

The opportunity is extremely attractive—the work will be highly interesting. If you feel that you can qualify, write a letter telling all about yourself and why you think you are the man. Write today to Box 195, The Washington Post.

FREIGHT RATE BOOST HEARINGS ARE ENDED

Interstate Commerce Body Expected to Reach Final Decision by Nov. 1.

(Associated Press.)

The plea of the nation's railroads for higher freight rates was taken under advisement yesterday by the Interstate Commerce Commission.

Lengthy public hearings ended at noon with a warning from railroad attorneys that refusal would entail wage cuts and labor troubles all over the Nation's vast transportation system.

They closed their argument, too, with a reiteration of their contention that the transportation act makes favorable action mandatory.

The petition of the roads for a 15 per cent blanket increase in freight charges has been before the commission since June 17. Extended hearings have been conducted in many parts of the country. A final decision is expected by November 1.

Predicts Wage Action.

Grenville Clark, of New York, representing railroad security holders, yesterday freely predicted that if the petition is denied an effort will be made to reduce the wages of railroad workers. This, he said, would be followed by widespread strikes.

"I have figured out as nearly as possible," he added, "that it would mean 1,400 different possible mediation cases. This commission should not hurl this controversy on the country."

Beginning July 15 the commission held hearings continuously, with the exception of one brief recess. Arguments started September 21.

The railroads based their plea on section 15a of the interstate commerce act. This provided that the railroads were to be permitted a "fair return" not to exceed 6 per cent on their investments. This was to be applied to the carriers as a group.

Would Increase Income.

The carriers contended that they never had reached the figure set by law and that their income this year would be almost as low as 2 per cent. The increase, they claimed, would bring net income to about 4 per cent.

Shippers from throughout the country flocked to hearings in Washington, Chicago, Atlanta, Dallas, Salt Lake City, San Francisco, Portland, Oreg., and Portland, Me., to oppose the increase.

They termed the proposal to increase rates during the present depression "economically unsound" and said it would result in added unemployment because business houses could not stand the additional expense.

When Washington Was Younger—No. 61

BEFORE the happy plan was conceived to celebrate the coming of the apples in the Shenandoah Valley by having a festival and electing a beautiful girl as queen of the white blossoms, the favorite outdoor sports for Washingtonians and nearby residents was to travel down to the orchards with barrels and gather the luscious fruit by the ton.

Here we see a typical group of apple gatherers about 25 years ago. It includes some of the champion apple pickers—and eaters—of the day. One of the gentlemen is reputed to have consumed half a barrelful before going home. Another famous story is told of two of the younger pickers starting home for Washington in a wagon with three barrels of apples and arriving with less than half a barrelful.

Many of these apples were put into pies and others were canned for the winter. But just as many, if not more, went through the mill and emerged as the golden juice which we still know today as cider.

WATSON PREDICTS BEAR RAID INQUIRY

Ind. O. P. Leader, in Warning Stock Exchange, Sees Reform Needed.

(Associated Press.)

Convinced that bear raids contribute to the depression, Senator Watson, of Indiana, the Republican leader, warned the stock exchange yesterday that it faces an investigation of these practices.

Senator Watson speaks with considerable authority in the administration and his prediction that "a thorough and searching investigation of this method of dealing with stocks will be made by a Senate committee," was regarded as significant.

This practice of selling securities in the market for the purpose of reaping profits from a consequent drop in values drew a ban from one stock exchange firm in New York Tuesday, which announced it would refuse to lend money for this purpose.

Safeguard Held Imperative.

"The whole industrial and commercial world," said Senator Watson, "seems to be under the spell of the stock market. It is the belief of many that we shall not recover from our present depression until transactions of this kind are either prohibited or greatly curtailed or properly safeguarded.

"Many senators are of the belief that brokerage houses should not be permitted to lend securities of their customers unless either expressly ordered to do so by them or their consent is obtained. They are of the opinion that an order of that kind by the stock exchange itself would be salutary at a time like this or, failing in that, that some legislation might compel the adoption of such a course.

"They further believe that all 'short' transactions should be thrown open to the public; that the names of the individuals and the brokerage houses should be made public.

Administrative View Seen.

"These gentlemen are of the opinion that these precautionary measures would stop the evils of short selling and at the same time preserve whatever of good there may be in that method of dealing with stocks.

"I have no doubt that one or more resolutions of this kind will be adopted by the Senate soon to meet, and that a thorough and searching investigation of this method of dealing with stocks will be made by a Senate committee."

Senator Watson said he had been informed by a number of senators that they intend to introduce resolutions to investigate the stock market "in its entirety" and "short selling" in particular.

Senator Watson's views were interpreted in many quarters here as indicating the attitude of the administration.

000 as compared with $360,000,000 for 1932.

Admiral Pratt's plan, which has been talked over by his subordinate officers for some time past, now is to fit his organization and operation principles to an economized Navy and provide the best possible activities for the service.

Rotation of vessels in service rather than continued service is one part of the plan. It was said considerable savings in maintenance and personnel costs could be effected in this way.

The American Government has received assurances that the armament building truce in which the League of Nations has invited world-wide participation contemplates no cessation of construction already begun.

The point is vital from this country's standpoint. It is felt that to stop work on the seven cruisers, an aircraft carrier and three submarines now being built would greatly aggravate unemployment and be utterly impracticable.

The league's resolution, the text of which was made public at the State Department yesterday, is not specific on the matter.

It simply urges the governments "to refrain from any measure involving an increase in their armament" for a year, beginning November 1. They are asked to state before November 1 whether they can accept such a truce.

Assurance now has been given, however, that the holiday shall not apply to ships already laid down. While the third committee of the league was drafting the resolution it became evident that a truce undertaking to halt current construction could not succeed of adoption.

As now understood, the truce would bind subscribing governments to forego for a year new construction only.

In this it conforms to the Italian proposal which formed the basis for previous discussion last week at Geneva and which definitely stated that "vessels under construction might be continued and completed."

Although frowned upon by France and Japan and subsequently sidetracked in favor of the more general league proposal, the Italian plan was agreed to by the United States with the provision that it be allowed to build a group of destroyers on which bids were opened recently.

The destroyer group was reduced from 11 to 5 yesterday in line with President Hoover's campaign to cut all budgets.

The American Government is expected to specify in accepting the truce that construction of its five destroyers as well as the other craft now being built will proceed during the holiday year.

DOCTOR IN COLLINGS INQUEST IS STRICKEN

Schultze, Medical Adviser to Prosecutor, Becomes Hysterical in Home.

Huntington, Long Island, Sept. 30 (U.P.).—Dr. Otto H. Schultze, medical adviser to the New York district attorney, whose testimony last Saturday turned the Collings murder inquest into a farce, became hysterical in his home here tonight, locked himself in a bathroom and had to be removed to a private sanitarium for observation.

Dr. Schultze, considered one of the leading autopsy experts of the Nation, performed the autopsy on the body of Benjamin P. Collings, slain yachtsman.

At the inquest he startled hearers by making humorous answers to all questions asked him. He left the court room after telling the coroner and district attorney to guess whether Collings had been murdered, committed suicide or was drowned accidentally.

Following the inquest it was learned he had suffered a nervous collapse. Tonight Coroner William B. Gibson, who presided at the inquest and who threatened to cite Dr. Schultze for contempt, went to the Schultze home after he had heard of the doctor's behavior.

It was revealed then that Dr. Schultze and Coroner Gibson are fast friends, and it was the coroner who quieted the doctor, and, with the aid of three attendants, managed to get him into an ambulance. Physicians refused to comment on Dr. Schultze's ailment.

Body Found Identified As That of William Smith

New York, Sept. 30 (A.P.).—A coroner's identification of a body washed ashore from Long Island Sound gave new life today to the sifting of the latest clew in the quest for the yacht slayers of Benjamin Collings.

After Coroner William Gibson of Suffolk County issued a death certificate in the name of William Smith, of Norwalk, Conn., authorities announced the body found yesterday would be exhumed.

The certificate was issued on the basis of a statement by Richard Raymond, a friend of Smith's, who said he believed the body to be that of Smith because of a scar under one arm.

Raymond said Smith disappeared about the time of the Collings slaying three weeks ago. Smith had been living, Raymond said, with Dr. Lewis Ritchie, a veterinarian, and the latter's son. Raymond said he did not know the present whereabouts of the Ritchies.

The authorities were proceeding on the possibility that the body might be that of the "mysterious" wounded man mentioned by Mrs. Collings in her story of an attack on her husband by two men. The "pirates," she said, on boarding the boat told Collings they wanted him to take a wounded companion to a hospital on the Connecticut shore.

Oscar Huebner, 55-year-old marine engineer, was questioned at White Plains, where he is being held on a violation of parole charge.

Walton League Delegates Named.

Marsden Waddell, William Stimpson, and George Kelley, all of Glenwood, Md., and Robert Chichester, of Sandy Spring, Md., have been elected delegates to the Regional Council of Maryland at Solomon's Island from October 16 to 18 by the Izaak Walton League of Montgomery County.

OUTLOOK IMPROVES AS PAY CUTS START

Seasonal Activity Seen as Industry Stimulus by Labor Department.

(Associated Press.)

The last day of September, the eve of widespread pay-cuts taking effect, confronted the administration with fresh evidence on the wage question as well as trade conditions and unemployment.

Some encouragement was drawn from indications of business improvement, helping to offset the story statistics told of decreased work and compensation paid.

Portents of the seasonal rise of commercial activity, as seen in Federal Reserve Board quarters, were welcomed. Members of the reserve system have been making slightly more commercial loans. This usually is a good sign.

Rail Rates Factor.

At the Interstate Commerce Commission, counsel for the railroads predicted disputes over reducing railmen's wages—unless the petition for a 15 per cent raise in freight rates is allowed.

The Labor Department disclosed that a month ago employment in manufacturing industries was 12.4 per cent less and pay roll totals 20.8 per cent less than at the end of August, 1930.

Very little change occurred in the industrial employment situation during August, as compared with July. The department reported some expansion in seasonal activities, giving work to "thousands of men and women in various sections."

Curtailed operation schedules were noticed particularly in automobile, iron, steel and radio plants. Improvement took place in New England textile mills, as well as silk mills, in the Middle Atlantic district. The bulletin giving this information also said metal and coal mining remained on a greatly curtailed basis, with numbers of workers idle.

Pay Cuts Start Today.

October 1 was the date set not only by the United States Steel Corporation for its 10 per cent wage reduction, but also by numbers of the others who have followed. News dispatches in days just past show the steel industry already largely on the lower pay side, with company from motors, rubber, copper, aluminum and some others.

The volume of wages will remain tremendous, nevertheless. During the first part of the present year factory workers were paid at a rate of $7,700,000,000 annually.

This represents a 34 per cent decline since the high peak of the last boom year, but at the same time there has been a decrease of approximately 25 per cent in the number of factory workers employed.

The class 1 roads, which have made no wage cuts, now are employing 1,320,000 men, at a total of annual wages considerably in excess of $2,000,000,000.

Average Wages Computed.

The census of distribution at present being summarized shows wholesale trade in 1929 paid 1,607,700 employes wages totaling more than $3,000,000,000, or at an average of $34.15 a week.

The present calculations of the Bureau of Labor statistics shows wholesale employes are getting only $30.47, but there is little surface indication of extensive unemployment in this line. The same census of distribution soon will show the earnings of the millions engaged in retail trade.

If the Bureau of Labor Statistics' survey of typical industries is taken as an index to conditions throughout the wage-paid occupations, each person now gainfully employed averages better than $23 a week. The bureau did not calculate the average pay envelope in past years, so there is no direct comparison available.

Calculations in regard to factory workers, however, show their average weekly taking were approximately $25.40 in 1929, against $22-plus this year. All figures entering into these calculations exclude salaried workers.

PROFESSOR IS HELD FOR GRAND JURORS

long examination of the coroner as to information on which he based his verdict.

Tells of Kane's Visit.

"When did Prof. Kane come to your house?" Mrs. Graham was asked by Frank Kearney, prosecuting attorney.

"On the Wednesday before my daughter died," she said faintly.

"Mrs. Graham, tell what you can about what happened the day of the drowning."

"My son and my husband got up early, and I gave them breakfast. After they had gone I went to tell Jenny and her husband to come to breakfast, and I found them sitting on the bed, neither talking. I told Professor Kane to come to breakfast, but he did not reply or move to come. I told Jenny to slip on her robe and come with him.

"Jenny came down, and she told me her husband wanted her to go to the beach and swim. She started toward the sun parlor, and she turned and looked at me with appealing eyes that seemed to say, 'Don't let me go,' or 'Go with me.' They went, and my darling daughter never came back alive * * *."

Physician Called.

A physician was called as Mrs. Graham gave way to her sobs, and she was aided in leaving the courtroom. W. C. Graham father of Mrs. Kane, came on the stand immediately afterward.

"Jenny certainly did not want to leave the house that morning," he said. "I could tell by her actions and expression that she had a fear or dread of something."

Mr. Graham was questioned closely as to whether Kane told him he was "on shore" or "off shore" at the time of the drowning. He insisted it was "on shore," which was in contradiction of Kane's story of the drowning.

The professor paid close attention to the testimony during the day and from time to time made suggestions to his attorneys E. K. Kane, jr., his cousin, took over the cross-examination.

Parents and Teachers to be Guests.

In an effort to create a better understanding between the parents and the teachers of the Oakton School, Mrs. C. T. Rice will entertain the teachers this evening at her home in Oakton, Va. The parents of all the pupils of the Oakton elementary and high school also have been invited to attend the reception.

JOBLESS AID IS HELD CHURCH'S FIRST DUTY

Episcopal Presiding Bishop Scores Profit-Seeking in Pastoral Letter.

Denver, Colo., Sept. 30 (A.P.).—Relief of suffering caused by unemployment was set out as the primary duty today in the pastoral letter of the Bishops of the Protestant Episcopal Church.

The letter, read by the Rt. Rev. James DeWolf Perry of Rhode Island, presiding bishop, at the close of the church's fiftieth triennial convention, said the present condition of society may be summed up in the one word "confusion."

All employers were urged to work for adoption of plans to coordinate production and consumption, insure continuity of employment and provide security of income to workers.

Unemployment, the bishops held, is but a symptom of underlying selfishness.

"An acquisitive society * * * stands bewildered in the presence of a crisis precipitated * * * apparently by the competitive profit-seeking principles upon which it has been hitherto assumed general prosperity is based," the letter said.

Profit Seeking is Scored.

"The church must insist that every financial question is essentially one of human rights. Until business is converted and is conducted in the sight of God, who is the father of all men, no change in technique will be of permanent value. The profit-seeking motive must give way to that of service."

Emphasizing that economic distress and political unrest are aggravated by the present state of international relations, the letter urged that the United States enter the world court and the League of Nations and take the lead in world disarmament.

"In the realm of morals," the letter recited, "there is similar confusion. During the disturbance of social control every man will do that which is right in his own eyes."

The convention agreed today upon Atlantic City as the site for the next gathering in 1934.

Divorced Bishop Retained.

It was learned a proposal to force the resignation from the House of Bishops of B. LeRoy Harris, retired Bishop of Marquette, had been discussed by the House of Bishops meeting in council. It was decided to take no action at this convention. Bishop Harris was divorced and remarried after he resigned his jurisdiction in 1929. He still retains his membership in the House of Bishops.

The joint commission on marriage and divorce was authorized to include church women in a consultative capacity in future deliberations. Information was received by the House of Bishops from the Right Rev. Dr. Kuery, of Berne, Switzerland, secretary of the council of Old Catholic Churches, that the conference on September 7 accepted terms of intercommunion negotiated at a joint conference of the Anglican Communion and the old Catholic churches, in Bonn, Germany, in July.

The agreement is confined to those churches that are in communion with the church of Utrecht.

Volunteers Offer Relief Work Aid

Leaders Pledge President Cooperation With His Plans.

Officers of the Volunteers of America yesterday pledged the aid of that Nation-wide welfare organization to President Hoover in plans the administration is making to minimize distress during the winter.

Charles Brandon Booth, national field secretary, and Lieut. Col. Frank H. Wise, regional commander, called upon the President and assured him that the Volunteers will cooperate to the utmost in relief activities.

Mr. Booth said he had recently completed a tour of the Nation's principal cities and that a survey has convinced him that welfare organizations face a mighty task in caring for the distressed in the winter.

PROTECTORATE SEEN AS JAPAN'S MOTIVE

Chinese Spokesman Charges Manchurian Revolt Is Backed by Nippon.

Nanking, China, Sept. 30 (A.P.).—Coincident with the expressed belief of a Chinese foreign office spokesman that Japan intended to assume a protectorate over Manchuria, Foreign Minister C. T. Wang was forced to resign today because of his asserted unaggressiveness in China's behalf.

Alfred Sze, Chinese Minister to Great Britain, will succeed Wang. Sze was credited in high official circles with having handled China's case well before the League of Nations at Geneva.

Wang was severely beaten by a mob of anti-Japanese paraders who attacked him Monday and wrecked his office. Chinese leaders and popular sentiment blamed him for failing to obtain foreign support for China in her controversy with Japan since the latter's troops occupied southern Manchuria September 18.

A spokesman of the foreign office here asserted Japanese had instigated the independence movements in Manchuria announced in reports from Japanese sources.

He said evidence had accumulated indicating "the Japanese intend to put the occupied area under a Japanese protectorate, thereby placing serious obstacles in the way of a peaceful and lasting settlement of the Manchurian question between China and Japan."

Doubt of the accuracy of Japanese reports was expresed by the spokesman. He said no information had reached Nanking and Shanghai through Chinese channels that leaders in four provinces of Manchuria were planning to erect a republic independent of the remainder of China.

Nanking officials said they believed Japanese influence had supported various efforts to separate Manchuria from China proper. They thought such movements were not spontaneous with the Chinese in Manchuria, saying Japanese occupation would militate against separation from China because of bitterness the occupation had engendered against Japan.

Pending the arrival of Mr. Sze from Europe to become foreign minister, the duties of that position will be handled by Frank W. Lee, a Chinese born in New York City. He formerly was Chinese Minister to Mexico and at present is vice minister of foreign affairs.

TROUBLE IN HOME

Swedish Envoy Blames Gold Action on Rumors

(Associated Press.)

Rumors started abroad were blamed yesterday by Minister Bostrom, of Sweden, for his country's temporary departure from the gold standard. In a note to Secretary Stimson he said, "Only a week ago there was no need for and no cause even to discuss the measure that now has proved necessary."

"Some rumors were started abroad that Sweden's finances were out of order and that the government had difficulties to balance the budget," he said. "These rumors were entirely unfounded."

The Swedish Minister added that his country's exports have decreased somewhat, "owing to the world market situation."

Baltimore & Ohio Cuts Dividend on Common

New York, Sept. 30 (A.P.).—The Baltimore & Ohio Railroad today declared a dividend of $1 a share on the common stock. In the two previous quarters dividends of $1.25 each were paid, added to which the stock was on a $7 annual basis.

New York to Ship $19,300,000 in Gold

Foreign Earmarking Brings Exports for Month to $351,000,000.

New York, Sept. 30 (A.P.).—An additional increase of $19,300,000 in gold earmarked for foreign account was reported today by the Federal Reserve Bank of New York. This brought the total increase in earmarkings since the present movement began about 10 days ago to $276,300,000, and the total for the month to $351,300,000.

In financial circles it was said increases in earmarkings might be expected to taper off from now on, while bankers said withdrawal of more than a billion dollars' worth of the metal for foreign export and earmarking could be made without important effect on the domestic money situation.

Withdrawals for export reported today included $85,000 to Holland, $50,000 to Belgium and $35,000 to Switzerland. Imports consisted of $1,640,000 received from Canada.

Carey Tells President Plight of Cattlemen

(Associated Press.)

Senator Carey (Republican), Wyoming, yesterday reported to President Hoover the live stock feeders of the West were experiencing serious financial difficulty and desired Federal aid.

Carey said President Hoover was "very desirous of seeing something done." He added, however, no specific plan yet had been worked out.

The Wyoming senator said he would confer with Gov. Meyer, of the Federal Reserve Board, over possibilities that the Federal Reserve Bank might bring pressure upon some local banks that decline to finance live stock purchasers.

City-Owned Utilities Attacked.

Atlantic City, Sept. 30 (A.P.).—J. N. Shannahan, Omaha, Nebr., traction advisor, declared before the American Railways Association convention today that the unfavorable results of municipal operation of railway properties in Detroit, San Francisco and Seattle should be "a warning to cooperate with private lines."

Jobless Insurance Hearings to Begin

Hebert, of Senate Body, Arrives in Capital; October 15 Set.

(Associated Press.)

The Senate's investigation of unemployment insurance is to open within two weeks. Chairman Hebert, of the special committee set up to make the inquiry, arrived at the Capital yesterday to arrange for hearings by October 15, with a view to submitting a report when Congress convenes in December.

He said labor leaders, industrialists and economists, including Gerard Swope, of the General Electric Co., and Prof. William Z. Ripley, of Harvard University, would be invited to testify.

The committee, Hebert said, has collected a mass of data about unemployment insurance systems. The resolution creating the group directed it to investigate private systems in the United States and public systems abroad.

Court Is Told Dean Noe And Wife Reconciled

Mephis, Tenn., Sept. 30 (A.P.).—Chancellor Morgan Ketchum today ordered a general continuance of Mrs. Ellen M. Noe's suit for divorce from the Very Rev. I. H. Noe, dean of St. Mary's Episcopal Cathedral here, after the court was assured a permanent reconciliation was in sight.

Under the chancellor's order, the case will remain on the docket, subject to reopening at any time, but attorneys said they believed a dismissal will be the outcome of further conferences between the dean and his wife.

Hoover Helps Dedicate New Waldorf Astoria

New York, Sept. 30 (A.P.).—While 20,000 invited guests inspected its 47 floors, the new Waldorf Astoria in Park avenue was dedicated tonight to the traditions of its predecessor, where the illustrious of many a nation had been feted.

President Hoover took part in the reception by broadcasting a greeting from Washington, in which he referred to the event as "moving day" for a tradition-filled institution.

THIRD MAN JAILED IN BLAZE MURDER

...ne Barber Surrenders ...at Joplin as Police Seek Dooley.

"A... oli... ...ene Barber, who has had a hard ...t getting himself arrested since ...s mentionsd as a suspect in the ...g of Goodwin Miller and his ...and baby, was locked up yester...on his second visit in two days ...e Prince William County Jail.

While Sheriff John P. Kerlin was ...king him in the hills near Joplin, ...a., Barber went to the jail Tuesday ...o see his brother, B. F. Barber, already detained as a suspect. He afterward chatted with Commonwealth Attorney Thomas H. Lion, and was allowed to go his way.

Yesterday he came back again to ...ee his brother, and this time he ...stayed. Jailer David Herndon, in the absence of Sheriff Kerlin, saw to it that Eugene was locked up safely with his brother, and then joined the sheriff and Constable C. A. Bryant in a search for the sole suspect remaining at liberty, Ben Dooley.

Dooley, who lived in a farmhouse about 2 miles from the Miller home, has not been seen since the charred bodies of the trio were found last Friday. Sheriff Kerlin, Constable Bryant and Jailer Herndon went to Quantico last night in quest of the man.

The sheriff yesterday said he appeared further from a solution than ever, but intended to locate Dooley and see what he has to say. Eugene Barber claims to have been in Maryland the night that the Miller family was burned.

Norman Ginn, who owns a store at Dumphries, Va., yesterday confirmed rumors current for some time that Miller was in a fight the night before he and his wife and baby lost their lives in their burning home.

Mr. Ginn told Constable Bryant that he saw Miller in a fight with an unidentified man between Dumphries and his home shortly before midnight Thursday.

Constable Lion said last night that the investigators "still had a few leads" that they had not tracked down, but declined to disclose their nature.

Harold Lloyd Rescues His Family From Fire

Santa Monica, Calif., Sept. 30 (A.P.).—An early morning fire in the bathroom of Harold Lloyd's home today did considerable damage after the motion picture comedian guided his family to safety with his 7-year-old daughter Gloria in his arms. Lloyd was awakened by Gloria's cries.

He seized her and was followed by Peggy, 6-year-old daughter. A nurse carried Harold, jr., to safety, while Mrs. Lloyd the former Mildred Davis, attempted to extinguish the flames. No one was injured except Ernest King, the Lloyd chauffeur, who suffered minor burns attempting to fight the flames.

Traffic Policeman Fined $100 for Recklessness

A fine of $100 for reckless driving was levied upon Policeman Herbert M. Smith, 27, of the Traffic Bureau, by the Police Trial Board yesterday.

Smith was suspended from duty last week after an accident in which Smith's car knocked down Mary Marshall, colored, 56, while she was crossing at Fourteenth and R streets northwest, September 20. The victim was taken to Emergency Hospital, where she was said to be suffering from severe lacerations of the head.

HAULS DOWN HIS FLAG

Butler Gives Last Command In Retiring as Marine Chief

Quantico, Va., Sept. 30 (A.P.).—Maj. Gen. Smedley D. Butler gave his last command to the Marine Corps today and was placed on the retired list.

"You may haul down my flag, sir," was the general's last command, given to Lieut. L. C. Whitaker, his aid.

The general's retirement orders, approved by President Hoover September 1, two weeks after the general requested retirement, were read at a full formation in front of Marine headquarters.

Gen. Butler receives his major general's flag with its red field and two white stars as a memento of his last command.

All of his baggage was marked "Smedley D. Butler, Newtown Square, Pa.," for which place he left this morning by automobile. Although he retains the honorary title of major general in retirement, it has not been placed on his new stationery.

The last honor accorded the general was a salute of thirteen guns.

Progress in Alley Light Shift Made

Hadley, in His Final Report, Details Work for Fiscal Year.

Progress in changing the lighting of alleys from gas to electricity was made in the last fiscal year, Warren B. Hadley, District electrical engineer, stated in his last annual report, submitted yesterday to the District Commissioners. He is retiring after eighteen years' service.

An increase of 559 street lights was reported, the total on June 30, 1931, being 28,740, of which 4,961 are gas and 23,779 are electric. The total gas lighting was reduced considerably in the year.

The electrical department made 49,074 inspections last year and received fees for permits to the amount of $32,676.70, as compared to $33,949 durnig the previous twelve months.

Theater Officials Hurt in Cab Crash

John Payette in Hospital, Hip Broken as Truck and Taxi Hit.

John Payette, 39, 5910 Sixteenth street northwest, general zone manager of the Warner Bros. theaters, was in a serious condition at Garfield Hospital with a fractured left hip last night after a taxicab in which he was riding yesterday morning collided with a Potomac Electric Power Co. truck at New Jersey avenue and H street northwest.

Mr. Payette's assistant, Nat Glasser, 829 Quincy street northwest, who was also in the cab, received minor cuts and bruises. He was treated at Sibley Hospital and later released. R. W. Price, 21, 1726 M street northwest, driver of the cab, also received minor lacerations and bruises.

Carl Lewis, 29, colored, 2533 Sheridan street northwest, driver of the truck, escaped unhurt. Price and Lewis were held for questioning, but later released.

Printers Ask Four-Day Week.

Chicago, Sept. 30 (A.P.).—The Chicago Typographical Union today proposed a four-day week in the printing business here. President Williiam J. Hedge said the union voted unanimously at a meeting last Sunday that it would be "more equitable and just to divide up the work now being performed by its employed members."

NEW CHICAGO GRIP SECURED BY CRIME

Petty Violence, Bombings Supplant Gang Murders; Trade Slump Blamed.

Chicago, Sept. 30 (A.P.).—Petty violence, bombings and vandalism have arisen to plague the city once jarred by gang murders.

The machine guns that rattled out death to "syndicate" rivals in former times have been comparatively silent in recent months. But Chicago, grown more or less apathetic to an occasional bomb, a little gun play now and then in its underworld, has suddenly come to realize that almost nightly raids are made on its theaters, shops and business houses. The raiders do not attempt robbery or murder. Their mission is merely to destroy and annoy.

In 1930 the Employers Association of Chicago listed 74 bombings in the city. Tonight there had already been 84 this year. Last night and early today three were exploded, all apparently aimed at paint shops or their owners.

Theaters Are Bombed.

Nine small, independent motion-picture theaters involved in a controversy with an operators' union have been bombed in recent weeks despite a 24-hour police guard. Other theaters, some of them larger houses not involved in the labor dispute, have had to contend with stench bombs.

The breakage of plate glass windows in store fronts has become more and more common. Last night bricks hurled from speeding automobiles crashed in the windows of five chain stores. Some of the chains are no longer able to buy insurance.

State's Attorney John A. Swanson, saying he was "aroused and indignant" at the growth of terrorism, arranged a conference with Mayor Anton J. Cermak. He wanted to find out, he said, what the police were doing to stop such outrages and how his office could help.

Slump Is Blamed.

The Employes Association, through its executive director, Gordon L. Hostetter, said the criminal element had grown more desperate since it had been hit by hard times; that schemes to prey on legitimate business had been devised that would never have been thought of in normal times.

"We are face to face with a hard winter," said Hostetter. "Society will be hard put to protect itself against the desperate. It will need the best of cooperative effort if it is not to be overrun."

The association especially deplored what it described as the "growing tendency on the part of some business men to turn to racketeering as a means of preserving their business during the depression."

"By a system of conspiracy between labor unions and themselves, utilizing gang forces in some instances, they seek to preserve their levels of commodity, or service prices, by terrorizing competitors into doing business as they themselves do it," Hostetter said.

One suspect in last night's bombings was arrested today. He is James G. Dungan, secretary of a painters' union.

Pair Demand Jury Trial After Gambling Arrests

A single-handed raid by Detective J. K. Baker, of the special investigation squad, was disclosed in Police Court yesterday when Monte Barranco, 30 years old, and Robert McClain, 40 years old, arrested with nineteen others in the raid, pleaded not guilty and asked for jury trials.

They were charged with permitting gaming. Baker said he went to 908 D street northwest, where a few days ago police got a report there had been a shooting. When he went there, just to inspect the place, he claimed he found gambling in progress on the second floor, and he promptly arrested all in sight. Both principals were released on $500 bond for trial October 7.

Rescue Squad Releases Child From Water Pipe

It took some patient effort by members of the Fire Rescue Squad to free 3-year-old James Baer late yesterday after he caught his foot in a water pipe on a lawn two doors from his home at 1506 Monroe street northwest. He was playing with a group of children when he ventured to put his foot into the pipe, called a stopcock box, and was unable to release it.

First his playmates, then passersby, then his mother and sister tried to lift James free, and, failing, summoned the rescue squad. They ordered him to lie flat on the ground and working delicately on the member, eased it out of the pipe within a few minutes.

TO ENTRAP AMERICA.

European statesmen who never lose hope of dragging the United States into their political affairs, and who work incessantly to induce the United States to assume their debts, are now proposing an international economic conference. They hope to draw the United States into a conference having for its purpose the draining of American resources to bolster up Europe.

Under the pretense of discussing purely economic questions, the real object of the proposed conference would be to commit the United States to a series of political adventures in Europe. The question of German reparations would be brought up. Germany's inability to pay reparations on the scale provided in the Young plan would be made apparent; then would come the question of reducing the demands upon Germany. If the United States should participate in the conference the creditors of Germany, who are also debtors to the United States, would at once ask how much the United States would be willing to pay for the sake of stabilizing Germany. "Cancel our debts, and we will cancel a corresponding amount of German reparations," would be the substance of the proposal laid before the American delegates.

The net result of such a proposal, if accepted, would be merely the transference of the war load from Germany to the United States.

Much emphasis is laid upon the necessity for a conference on account of the shortage of gold in certain countries and the alleged advantages of a return to more liberal use of silver for currency. It is also suggested that tariffs are too high, and that an international authority having power to regulate tariffs might work wonders for world betterment. Raw materials are poorly distributed, and perhaps a conference could work out a plan whereby countries possessing surplus raw materials would share them with impecunious countries.

Everything that is proposed as a suitable subject for the agenda of an international economic conference is also a suitable medium for the consummation of crafty schemes calculated to enrich other countries at the expense of the United States. The United States has no gold, silver, tariff concessions, or raw materials to present to other countries. It has everything to lose and nothing to gain by participating in a conference aiming at the "equitable distribution" of this world's goods.

The nation that has kept the peace, worked hard, earned its wealth, and conserved its resources is the common prey of nations that have waged war, lived on the dole, squandered their wealth and wasted their resources. Like Socialists and Communists, they all desire a redistribution of wealth.

If the pressure for this proposed conference should continue it might be well for the United States to give notice that it will not participate. The question of German reparations does not concern this country. The United States refused to take part in fixing German reparations, and made no demands upon Germany for indemnities or territory. The Treaty of Versailles was rejected by the United States. The debts contracted by European governments are separate obligations, and were not contracted with the understanding that their payment was contingent upon the payment of reparations. Every debtor of the United States has received a liberal discount upon his debt and has given his word of honor that he will pay. The proceeds go toward the payment of debts which the United States owes to its own citizens. If European debtors should default or repudiate, the burden will fall upon American taxpayers, because the United States can not and will not default or repudiate.

The international economic conference scheme is a snare intended to entrap the United States.

RAILROAD RATE DELAY.

The Interstate Commerce Commission has spent the entire summer listening to evidence for and against the proposed 15 per cent increase in freight rates to relieve the railroads. Now that the hearings have been closed the commission proposes to take from three to four weeks to make a decision. This case will go into the records as a classical example of procrastination.

From every angle the petition of the carriers for higher rates must be considered an emergency measure. It should have been treated as such by the commission. The railroads have not asked that the rate structure be permanently retained at a higher level, but that their current revenue be increased to bolster up their credit and enable them to avoid wage slashing. There is no reason why the commission should have spent the whole summer taking detailed evidence on an issue that might have been decided within a few weeks.

The hearings have not changed the situation. Volumes of words have been wasted, but the fact remains that the railroads are earning far less than the law allows them as a "fair return" on their investments. It was well known before the hearings began that the proposed increase would be opposed by shippers and supported by holders of railway securities. The commission had at its finger tips all the information that would have been necessary to serve as the basis of an intelligent decision. Nothing has been gained by this delay. The commission has simply imposed upon the patience of the public, which is looking for signs of restored stability.

Failure of the railroads to earn sufficient to maintain their service and protect their investments has already contributed to the depression. Thousands of railway employes have been laid off, and needed development has been suspended. If no relief is given the carriers will doubtless be forced to cut wages, thus adding another demoralizing influence to the depression.

The probability of increased competition from trucks and other unregulated carriers complicates the problem of the railroads, but it should have little influence upon the decision of the commission. The transportation act provides that rates shall be such as to give the railroads a fair return without regard to truck competition. If unregulated carriers encroach upon the national transportation system it becomes the duty of the Government to bring them under control. Strict regulation of rail traffic while highway traffic remains uncontrolled and is subsidized by good roads will soon become intolerable. An increase in freight rates would probably bring this issue to a head and hasten the adoption of equitable legislation.

Nothing can be gained by denying the railroads sufficient return to conduct their business efficiently. A slight increase in freight rates would be far less objectionable than demoralization of the transportation system. The commission will probably discount most of the testimony it has taken and base its decision on fundamental business principles.

UNCLE SAM'S HELIUM.

The successful test flights of the Navy's new dirigible, the U. S. S. Akron, call attention to a scientific achievement that is of foremost importance to the United States. This giant airship is filled with noninflammable helium, which is available in commercial quantities only in the United States. Credit for its performance is not all due to designers of the craft, but must be shared with the scientists and engineers who discovered and developed America's helium supply.

Sixteen years ago helium was a chemical curiosity. It sold for $2,500 per cubic foot. At that price it would have cost $16,000,000,000 to fill an airship the size of the Akron. But even at that price helium could not have been obtained, for there was not a cubic foot of it in the United States. During the World War the late Dr. R. B. Moore, at that time superintendent of the Bureau of Mines experiment station at Golden, Colo., interested the Army and Navy in the possibility of helium-filled aircraft. Three experimental plants were constructed and when the armistice was signed 150,000 cubic feet of helium were en route to the front.

But helium was still expensive. It remained for engineers to reduce the cost of production to a point where it could be put into general use. This has been accomplished at the Government plant near Amarillo, Tex., which was designed and is operated by the Bureau of Mines. In a little more than two years the Amarillo plant has produced over 22,000,000 cubic feet of helium. The average cost over that period was $11.47 per thousand cubic feet, but improvements in the process and equipment brought the cost of 1,000 cubic feet to $5.95 last June.

All of the helium for the Army and Navy is now produced at the Bureau of Mines plant. Negotiations that will bring a virgin gas structure underlying 50,000 acres into Government ownership are being completed. It is estimated that this field will supply the needs of the Government for many years to come. At present the plant gives the Army and Navy an ample supply while operating at one-half of its capacity.

Development of this helium supply has revolutionized the construction of dirigibles in the United States. Inflammable hydrogen is the only other gas used to float lighter-than-air craft. In dirigibles using hydrogen the motors must be suspended below the main body of the ship in gondolas to prevent the motor exhaust from igniting gas leaking from the ship. The Akron's motors are in the main body of the ship. Wind resistance is decreased, the ship is capable of greater speed, the crew does not have to climb up and down open ladders between the gas-filled bag and the gondolas, machine gun nests and airplane hangars are utilized without danger of causing an explosion.

Scientists of the Bureau of Mines who have made available this helium supply have given the United States a practical advantage in the development of airships that should easily bring this country leadership in that field.

HOUSE VACANCIES.

The election of Robert D. Johnson as representative in Congress for the Seventh Missouri District holds little significance. Johnson is a dry Democrat and he succeeds a Democrat. Had the Republican candidate won, the election would have been worthy of special note, but as it transpired Missouri has simply maintained the status quo.

Each party now holds 214 seats in the House of Representatives, with one seat in possession of a Farmer-Laborite. But six more vacancies remain to be filled before Congress meets in December. The First District of Wisconsin will choose a new representative on October 13. Pennsylvania's Second District, Ohio's First and Twentieth Districts, Michigan's Eighth District and New York's Seventh will hold special elections on November 3.

Four of these congressional seats were vacated by Republicans and two by Democrats. It may be anticipated that Republicans will be elected to succeed Republicans and Democrats to succeed Democrats. That would leave the line-up the same as it was after the last election—218 Republicans, 216 Democrats and one Farmer-Labor. Congress will not assemble for more than two months, and other vacancies may occur before that time, or serious illness may detain some members from the organization fight.

The odds are thus still in favor of Republican control in the House. It is not to be supposed that any Republican will desert his party in this contest. No renegade could politically survive such a betrayal of his party. Unless something radical and unexpected comes to light in the coming special elections, there will be no occasion for Jack Garner to contemplate himself riding in the Speaker's car.

Senator Brookhart wants Congress to appropriate another $500,000,000 for the Farm Board. Surprising that he would advocate the expenditure of so much on anything but the suppression of beer.

Colorado is trying to revive its ghost cities of silver boom days, inspired no doubt by the attempt of farmers to resuscitate the export debenture plan.

100 YEARS OF ELECTRICITY

From the London Times.

A little more than 100 years ago Michael Faraday, working in his laboratory at the Royal Institution in Albemarle street, took an iron ring and wound two separate coils of wire around its two halves. The ends of one wire he connected to a galvanometer, and those of the other to a voltaic battery, and he then found that when he made or broke the battery circuit in one coil the galvanometer indicated the passage of a transient current in the other. Thus, on August 29, 1831, he demonstrated the production of electricity from magnetism.

It was no chance discovery. For years he had been searching for the effect, but always he had to end the account of his experiments with the unhappy words, "No result." At this period intense interest was being shown in the relations between electricity and magnetism. Ten or eleven years before Oersted in Denmark had discovered that a magnetic needle was affected by an electric current passing in a wire placed alongside it. Soon afterward, in France, Ampere announced the existence of a dynamic action between conductors carrying electric currents, and Arago discovered the power of an electric current to magnetize iron or steel, as did Davy independently in this country.

Faraday himself, in 1821, contrived an ingenious arrangement by which a wire carrying a voltaic current was made to rotate around a permanent magnet, and in doing so he constructed what in fact was the first electric motor. There was thus abundant evidence that electric currents could produce magnetic effects, and it seemed to Faraday, as indeed to other investigators, that there must be a reciprocal action, that it should be possible, in his own words, to "convert magnetism into electricity."

Proof of the existence of that action, however, eluded him until his successful experiment with the iron ring, and then he began to understand why his previous efforts had failed. On August 30 he put to himself the question whether the transient effects he had observed might not be "connected with causes of difference between powers of metals at rest and in motion." Seven weeks later he obtained a conclusive answer by finding that an electric current was produced when a bar magnet was moved into or out of a helix of wire, and a few days afterward he constructed an actual magneto-electric machine by making a copper disk turn around between the poles of the great horseshoe magnet of the Royal Society.

Thus in ten days of brilliant experiment, spread over a period of less than ten weeks, he elucidated the essential principles of electro-magnetic induction and laid the foundations of the vast fabric of electrical engineering as we know it today. His little electric machine was the forerunner of the dynamo by which mechanical motion is converted into electrical power, and his iron ring with its two coils of wire was the prototype of the closed transformer by which the pressure of the current can be raised or lowered at will, so that in these two pieces of apparatus he produced two of the principal elements of a modern electricity supply system. A third, the electric motor, by which electrical power is reconverted into mechanical motion, he had invented ten years before.

If Faraday had not made the discovery of electro-magnetic induction, and no one else had made it, the world today would, indeed, have been able to enjoy some trivial applications of electricity, such as electric bells and the electric light of the pocket flash lamp, for which the feeble currents of the primary battery are sufficient, but there would have been none of the applications that depend on heavy currents generated by electro-magnetic machinery—no general illumination by the electric light, no electric traction, no electrically-driven factories, no electric furnaces, no great electro-chemical industries.

The League of Nations assembly adjourned without being able to do anything for China, but it did arrange to protect the whales.

Calvin Coolidge, Senator McKellar and Representative Patman are certainly doing all they can for Hoover.

We trust there will be no misunderstandings in connection with the announcement that our distinguished Chief Justice has assisted in celebrating two busts within a week.

An official weather expert in Kansas City predicts a severe winter because the squirrels are collecting and storing green walnuts. But why should the little animals go to all that trouble when there is a visible oversupply of squirrel food in legislative and political circles the country over?

JUST FOLKS

By EDGAR A. GUEST

"THE TRUTHS THAT NEVER CAN BE PROVED."

Believe in them unto the last,
The truths that eye can never see;
The promise when this life is past
An ampler life is still to be;
The soul's growth, scarcely noted here;
The benefit of nobler thought
Which seem at times to disappear
For all eternity are wrought.

Cling to your faith and stay unmoved
Against the storm and stress of doubt;
"The truths that never can be proved"
Disturb your mind no more about.
They live who once were here, and wait
Somewhere for us who stay behind.
Despite the years that separate
Love shall again its loved ones find.

Of God's great purpose and His plan
Come hints but vaguely now and then.
Low whisperings to every man
That he was born to live again.
He feels it neath the starry sky
Where countless radiant beacons shine
That something in him cannot die
But is eternal and divine.

If Horse Bucks When Reins Are Loose, Prudence Suggests Tight Reins

By ROBERT QUILLEN

WHEN time has solved the mysteries that baffled and bedeviled our fathers, we look back from the vantage point of our superior knowledge and wonder why sane men were so stupid and so blind.

Consider, for example, the mysterious scourge of seafaring men called scurvy. It followed ships on the seven seas like a curse. When the Portuguese first found their way around Africa to India, every man aboard ship was foul with scurvy before the journey's end. Their teeth loosened and fell out; their mouths were festering sores; they rolled on the deck, too weak to lift their heads. Yet when the ships dropped anchor at some strange port and the friendly natives came out with baskets of oranges, the sick became well as though by magic. No scientist could have asked for a better demonstration. If fresh fruit could cure the disease, surely the lack of fruit had some part in causing it. Yet many years were to pass before men saw the truth.

A similar blindness long delayed conquest of a similar disease called pellagra. Here again disease and diet were found in constant association, but centuries were to pass before it occurred to men that the two were related.

Viewing these matters in retrospect, it seems incredible that reasonable men should have failed to see the relation of cause and effect. They had only to add two and two and the mysteries were solved.

Yet men in every age are equally blind. The association of ideas seldom impresses them. Times without number they observe the smoke that arises from a fire, but it never occurs to them that a fire may be found where smoke is.

Look about the world and observe the sad plight of religion. Governments outlaw and persecute it. Laymen mock and deride it. Clergymen befoul it to serve their own prejudice. It is a tool for politicians, a victim of class hatreds, a target for the scorn of cynics.

And observe, also the decay of morality, the disregard of law, the scorn of authority, the corruption of power, the dethroning of duty, responsibility and honor, the shallow, silly, wise-cracking, irresponsible flippancy that shames our generation.

Are men still so blind that they can see no connection between contemporary phenomena?

If the captain quits the bridge and the ship runs on the rocks, is it unreasonable to suspect that the two events are related?

PRO AND CON

Press Comment Upon Acts and Actors in the Great American Show, "Politics."

Coolidge Clears the Air.

New York Herald Tribune.

"A retired President ought to be an example of loyal support to his successor," Mr. Coolidge declares. "That is the course I propose to pursue." There can be no mistaking where he stands.

This declaration ought to end once and for all the talk of trying to "draft" the former President for 1932. It is intended to be final, but probably there will always be a few who will not understand, who will read into plain language some reservations. We can not conceive of any responsible persons, however, clinging to the notion that opposition to the President can be rallied around Mr. Coolidge. Indeed, he clearly points to the duty of all members of the party to refrain from any factional controversies which might weaken the authority of the President. If that is broken down, he holds, there would be little left of our Government. More and more the people have come to look to the Executive office for leadership. Indirectly he calls upon them to support the President in the coming session of the Congress in his stand against raids on the Treasury.

In a word, Mr. Coolidge says to the country that a party must stand by its principles and by its loyal leaders. Such a message should prove particularly salutary at this time.

Democracy in Republican Party.

Boston Transcript.

While too much may not be expected of the plan of the Republican State committee to conduct party activities largely through some 35 "councils" in different parts of the State, the proposal surely has merit. Whatever widens popular interest in the doings of the party should be welcomed, and we trust that the men and women who may be requested to serve as members of the various councils will accept their positions and do their utmost to promote party solidarity, which is essential if the State is not to go Democratic again.

The new plan evidently contemplates two main purposes; to sound out party sentiment regarding the issues of the day, in the absence of a leadership which in the distant past was accustomed to do the thinking for the voters, and to raise money in a broader way than through the generosity of wealthy members. The idea of small individual subscriptions, widely scattered, may work; although we would have more faith in its effectiveness if we did not recall that many years ago Will H. Hays, as chairman of the Republican national committee, tried to restrict party contributions to small sums to come from all the people, and that he was compelled to abandon it and to remove the tentative limitation he had imposed. The standby of all political parties always has been the rich candidate or aspirant and business concerns interested in politics for one reason or another; whether such an ideal condition can be brought about that this reliance may be abandoned will be one of the interesting questions the experiment possibly will answer.

Relief From Relief.

Los Angeles Times.

It is a growing conviction that what this country needs right now is relief from relief. Every crazy fanatic from legislators up has a plan, and worries the President to try it out. We need relief from the relievers.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

Congress Has No Authority to Nullify the Constitution by Legalizing Beer and Wine.

To the Editor of The Post—Generally I am in accord with the editorial expressions of The Post from time to time there appears an editorial that I think deserves special commendation. Such was one entitled "Beer—Nothing Doing," appearing in the edition of September 23.

The Post is to be congratulated and commended for so clear a statement of the beer issue at this time. While there is so much muddled thinking concerning the methods that may be employed to legalize light wine and beer. According to certain clamoring groups and certain more or less prominent persons in public position or in private life, all that will be necessary is an act of Congress modifying the national enforcing act by raising the alcoholic content of beer from ½ to 3 or 4 per cent, and declaring that wine, containing as much as 14 per cent of alcohol, is not intoxicating. And all this in spite of the fact that the courts generally take judicial notice that what is known as beer is an intoxicating drink. Under the eighteenth amendment beer is a prohibited drink, and Congress is without power to legalize its manufacture and sale for the reason that it is intoxicating. Certainly the Congress can not legalize something that the Federal Constitution forbids and surely our Supreme Court would not sanction such legislation.

I suggest that the only practicable, legitimate way for the brewers and their wet friends to legalize the manufacture and sale of beer is to bring about the repeal of the eighteenth amendment, or its modification, so as to exempt beer from its inhibitions.

Motorists Who Make Left Turns From Right Traffic Lane Are Menace to Driving Public.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: As one who drives over 20,0000 miles a year, mostly through Washington traffic, I consider the style of left turn recently inaugurated a distinct advance in handling traffic. A situation has recently arisen, however, which has several times not merely embarrassed me but actually endangered my safety. I refer to the now prevalent practice of making left turns at controlled intersections from any traffic lane whatsoever.

If my understanding of the present code is correct, left turns are allowed on the green light, and only from the lane nearest the center of the street. The traffic lanes near the curbing are designated for through and right-turning traffic only. The average driver is sufficiently busy watching traffic moving in the designated way without having to keep an eye on cars near the curbing for fear one of them will suddenly swoop across in front of him.

My experience in other cities has been that, approaching an intersection in a given traffic lane, a driver must obey the regulations for that lane, regardless of personal desires. It therefore behooves a driver to anticipate his maneuvers and get into the proper lane before reaching the intersection.

Possibly a little more publicity in the papers, and a little more police attention to those habitually violating the regulations in this respect, would serve to eliminate this rather serious traffic hazard.

A DRIVER.

Senator Hull's "Constructive" Program Would Plunge the Country Deeper Into Depression.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: Senator Cordell Hull calls on the Democratic party to adopt what he calls a constructive program. But he wants to cure our economic ills by tariff reduction. Any 16-year-old child would know better than that. Why, reducing the tariff rates would throw our home markets, already suffering from overproduction, open to foreign competition with our American industries, resulting in several millions more workers being added to the army of unemployed.

Hull stupidly charges that the tariff laws in effect since 1921 are the cause of the depression. The senator should recall that in 1920 when conditions were worse than they are now his party, then in power, failed to find a constructive program.

It was only when the Republican party returned to power and put the tariff law of 1921 in effect that business improved. From that time until 1929 our Nation had unexampled prosperity, but in 1929 the demagogues in the Senate ran amuck trying to lower the tariff and enact a measure that ran counter to all economic laws. That is the true date of the depression's start, and as long as the demagogues hold the balance of power in Congress business will not improve. I wish the senator would explain this: The Democratic slogan is, "The greatest good for the greatest number." But why does the greatest number get it in the neck when the Democrats are in power?

August Oil Output Falls 12 Per Cent

(Associated Press.)

The military gesture of Gov. "Alfalfa Bill" Murray in closing flush oil wells in Oklahoma early in August was reflected yesterday in the first official figures for that month showing a decline of 12 per cent in the country's petroleum output.

At the same time that domestic production tumbled, imports of foreign petroleum and refined products failed to register a rise. Crude petroleum imports declined from 3,388,000 barrels in July to 2,702,000 barrels for August, while refined products declined from 3,435,000 to 3,224,000.

The net effect was to give petroleum stocks their largest withdrawal, amounting to the unprecedented figure of nearly 16,000,000 barrels. All but 2,000,000 barrels of this represented a decline in crude oil storage. The August production figure, issued by the petroleum economics division of the Bureau of Mines, was 68,418,000 barrels.

Grover Whalen to Talk At Trade Board Session

An address by Grover Whalen, former police commissioner of New York City, will feature the first fall meeting of the Washington Board of Trade at the Willard Hotel, Friday, October 16, it was announced yesterday by Robert J. Cottrell, executive secretary of the organization.

It is understood that Mr. Whalen will take some current business subject as his topic. Mr. Whalen now holds an executive position at Wanamaker's department store in New York City. District officials and a large number of business and professional men will be invited to attend the meeting.

Washington Talkie To Be Begun Soon

Commerce Chamber Picks Committee for Its Own Anniversary.

Filming of the bicentennial talking picture of Washington will begin in this city within the next few weeks, it was announced yesterday by A. Julian Brylawski at a meeting of the bicentennial committee of the Washington Chamber of Commerce. Mr. Brylawski said the scenario calls for a larger production than originally proposed.

The committee launched plans for a special celebration during bicentennial year in commemoration of the twenty-fifth anniversary of the founding of the local chamber. The following committee was appointed: William C. Miller, Miss M. Pearl McCall, Walter B. Clarkson, Mrs. Caroline B. Stephen and George E. Keneipp.

Arnold Kruckman, director of the District of Columbia Bicentennial Commission, told of the work now being carried on by that body. The committee voted to do all in its power to promote advertising in Washington and elsewhere of the various celebrations here.

Eucharistic Pilgrims To Get Lower Rates

Pilgrims to the thirty-first International Eucharistic Congress in June, 1932, at Dublin, Ireland, will be able to obtain important reduction in steamship rates, it has been announced by the Rev. John K. Cartwright, chaplain of the Baltimore Archdiocesan Pilgrimage. Father Cartwright, assistant pastor of St. Patrick's Church here, arranged for lower rates effective on the pilgrimage steamer Rochambeau.

Arrangements were made by Father Cartwright while in Dublin this summer for the Rochambeau to berth in Alexandra Basin at Dublin instead of lying in anchor in Dun Laoghaire, as is the custom. This will obviate the necessity of relying upon tender service for trips ashore.

Dentist Is Accused In Murder Hearing

Dragged Alleged Victim From Party, Asserts Witness.

Reno, Nev., Sept. 30 (A.P.).—Dr. Carl P. Andre dragged Mrs. Martha Hutchinson, Fairmount, W. Va., widow, away from a party at the "dude ranch" of Cornelius Vanderbilt, jr., a few hours before she met death September 13, it was testified today at the dentist's preliminary hearing on a murder charge.

Mrs. Hutchinson, who came to Reno to wed Andre, died after a fall from his automobile.

M. K. McMillan testified that he and several others, including Mrs. Lawrence Tibbett, were at a party when Dr. Andre entered and "grabbed Mrs Hutchinson by the arm and dragged her out of the room." McMillan said Mrs. Hutchinson shouted that "if he beats me up tonight I'll telephone and you can come and get me."

Karastan and Karashah Rugs at Greatly Lowered Prices

A dramatic occurrence—our beautiful collection of the new, rich Karastan and Karashah rugs, in every size and in a range of gorgeous colorings—priced to sell for no more than you would ordinarily pay for a good domestic rug. Every rug is made of the finest yarns, of the same superior quality used in real Orientals. They bring to the average American home the beauty and pleasure that heretofore has been enjoyed only by a limited few.

Karastan Rugs—with the Beauty, Luxury and Distinction of Oriental Rugs—Are Moderately Priced

The intricate loveliness of design, the splendid color of costliest Orientals are duplicated with marvelous perfection in these rug masterpieces—even to the deep rich pile and silky sheen. Only an expert rug maker can detect the reproduction—yet the difference in price is large and the wearability and beauty is the same. Sizes given are approximate.

From Slow-Reeled Silk Which Assures a Clear, Even Weave Is Made

Exclusive Jane Wandl "Sheenless Sheer" Silk Hose

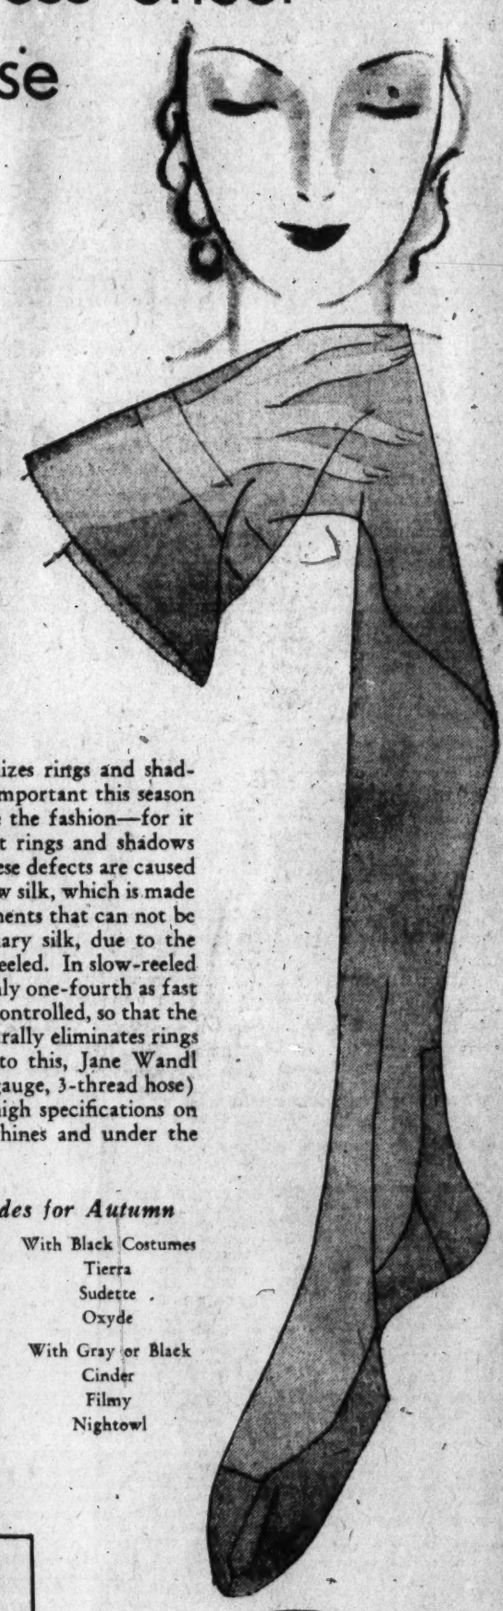
Last Spring Were $1.95



Slow-reeled silk minimizes rings and shadows—which is highly important this season when darker shades are the fashion—for it is in darker shades that rings and shadows are so pronounced. These defects are caused by unevenness in the raw silk, which is made up of four cocoon filaments that can not be kept uniform in ordinary silk, due to the speed with which it is reeled. In slow-reeled silk, the reels are run only one-fourth as fast and are automatically controlled, so that the thread is even and naturally eliminates rings in hose. In addition to this, Jane Wandl "Sheenless Sheer" (48 gauge, 3-thread hose) is made to unusually high specifications on the most modern machines and under the most rigid inspection.

Secretary of Agriculture Returns to Capital

The Secretary of Agriculture, Mr. Athur M. Hyde, is back from a week's stay in Kansas City.

Senator and Mrs. Hugo L. Black, who are spending some time on the Gulf Coast, will return to their home in Birmingham before coming to the Capital early in December.

Senator William E. Borah, of Idaho, arrived yesterday from the West, where he has been since early in the summer. The senator joined Mrs. Borah here and later in the fall they will motor through the East. Mrs. Borah spent a part of the summer in Washington, going on later to the White Mountains and in Maine as the guest of Mr. and Mrs. S. O. Levinson at Kennebunk Beach.

Representative and Mrs. Menalcus Lankford, of Norfolk, Va., have arrived at the Powhatan, where they will be while in Washington.

The Charge d'Affaires of Roumania and Mme. Nano will return to Washington today or tomorrow from Newport, where they have been since early summer.

Edmond C. Flemings Visiting in Capital

The Military Attache to the United States Embassy in Argentina and Mrs. Edmond C. Fleming are now in Washington at the Mayflower for a brief visit before sailing for Buenos Aires on October 9.

They have been visiting Mrs. Fleming's heme in Detroit and have placed their children in school here, Miss Mary Patricia Fleming entering St. Mary's Notre Dame in South Bend, and Mr. Joseph Boyer 3d, and Mr. Francis Palms Boyer, step-sons of Capt. Fleming, going to Newman's Prep School at Lakewood, N. J.

The commissioner of Indian affairs, Mr. Charles J. Rhoads, and Mrs. Rhoads, have given up their house on Tracy place and on October 5 will move to the house, in 2839 Woodland drive, owned by Mr. Hugh R. Wilson, Minister to Switzerland, and Mrs. Wilson.

Capt. Eliot Van Devanter, U. S. A., and Mrs. Van Devanter, who have come to Washington, where Capt. Van Devanter will be on duty, have taken a house in Bell Haven, Alexandria, Va.

Brig. Gen. Samuel E. Tillman and his daughter, Mrs. Tillman-Martin, will come to Washington late this month from their summer place in Southampton, Long Island.

Mrs. Warren Delano Robbins and her daughter, Miss Helen Robbins, are at the Shoreham before moving into the house of Mr. and Mrs. Hampson Gary in Massachusetts avenue which Mr. and Mrs. Robbins have leased.

Col. and Mrs. Louis S. Chappelear will entertain at the Shoreham dinner dance this evening in compliment to Col. and Mrs. J. O. Steger, and their two young daughters.

Col. and Mrs. Steger are the guests of Col. Steger's sister, Miss Ida Steger, having stopped in Washington to visit while en route from Atlanta to the colonel's new post in Omaha.

Chiltons Here While Going To Santiago

Stopping at Mayflower and Visit in Capital Will Be Brief.

Renewing old friendships in Washington, Lady Chilton, wife of the British envoy to Chile, and Miss Elizabeth Chilton, are at the Mayflower for a few days before setting sail on the long journey to South America. In a day or two Miss Anne Chilton will join Lady Chilton and her sister for a brief stay. They have been spending the summer at Grand Rapids, Mich., where Lady Chilton's father, former Ambassador to Japan, Mr. Thomas J. O'Brien, makes his home.

Sir Henry, who went to Santiago from the Vatican about a year ago, was formerly attached to the British Embassy here as counselor, and it was in Washington that Miss Betty Chilton made her debut and here that Miss Anne Chilton graduated from hair ribbons to the sedate ways of the young girl in her teens.

The days of school books with crumpled edges seem far removed from the sphere of Miss Anne's activities now, for last year brought social triumphs enjoyed by few maidens even associated with the smart diplomatic set of Santiago. For the lovely daughter of the Ambassador scored a distinct hit with the Prince of Wales and his brother, Prince George, when they visited the South American capital last winter seeking command of commerce for Great Britain.

At the gay new cabaret at Vina del Mar, Prince George and Miss Anne Chilton danced the tango, making the triumph of the evening with the combination waltz and tango steps, then the latest vogue. The gayety enjoyed by the girls in the southern metropolis recalls the brilliant round of parties several years ago which marked the debut of Miss Elizabeth Chilton in Washington, the fetes arranged for her crowning the entertainments for the buds of that year.

Lady Chilton and her daughters plan to be in Washington about a week. They will sail from New York on October 24 to join Sir Henry in Chile.

Pan-American Board Is Host To De Medina

Gonzalez, and Senor Don Roberto D. Melendez, in charge of the legation of El Salvador.

In addition to the members of the board the following officials of the Pan-American Union were in attendance: The Director General, Dr. L. S. Rowe and the Assistant Director, Dr E. Gil Borges.

Mrs. Chauncey M. Depew has returned to Washington from Europe, where she spent the summer, and has opened her house for the winter.

Mr. and Mrs. G. Thomas Dunlop have returned home from a few days' stay at the Ambassador in Atlantic City.

Mr. and Mrs. Edgar R. McPherson, of the Burlington Hotel, sailed from New York on Tuesday and will be abroad an indefinite period.

Jane Stetson Is Made Bride In Elopement

Daughter of Former Envoy Married to Thomas Cartledge.

News of the elopement of Miss Jane B. Stetson, daughter of Mr. John B. Stetson, jr., of Philadelphia, former Minister to Poland, and her marriage to Mr. Thomas Cartledge on Saturday in Maryland brings an element of interest to friends in Washington, where the family is well known. Mr. Stetson served as Minister to Poland before the status of the mission was elevated from a legation to an embassy about two years ago.

The young set in the Capital recalls the conspicuous figure of Mr. John B. Stetson, 3rd, the young son of the family who several years ago enlisted in the Marine Corps and was on duty at Quantico. The youth brought his airplane down from Philadelphia and maintained it at the marine post for his own use while on duty there.

Confirmation of the marriage was given by Mr. A. B. Cartledge, jr., the bridegroom's brother. The bride was formerly a student at the Pennsylvania School of Industrial Arts. Her mother was presented at the Court of St. James three years ago, while Mr. Stetson was Minister to Poland. A younger sister of the bride, Miss Thomasine Stetson, is a student at Bucknell University, and there is another brother, Mr. Stuart C. Stetson.

Mr. Cartledge is a son of Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Catrledge, of Torresdale, Pa. He is a graduate of the Episcopal Academy in Philadelphia.

Miss Merritt Wed To Dr. E. M. McPeak

Miss Virginia Merritt, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Edwin A. Merritt, of Chevy Chase, and Dr. Edgar Meredith McPeak, of Virginia and Washington, were married yesterday afternoon in the home of the bride's parents. Autumn foliage and a profusion of flowers formed a setting for the ceremony, which was performed by the Rev. Dr. Noble C. Powell, of Baltimore.

Dr. Merritt gave his daughter away. The bride wore an ensemble of rust-color tweed with matching accessories and a corsage of orchids.

Dr. McPeak and his bride left after the ceremony for a wedding trip in the North and will be at home upon their return at the Kennedy-Warren.

Miss E. D. Kaeppele, Mrs. George D. Murray and Mrs. R. Perrett, all of Washington, will sail today on the liner City of Hamburg, of the Baltimore Mail Line, on her maiden voyage to Havvre and Hamburg.

Count Louis de la Bassetiere, great-great grandson of Charles Carroll, of Carrollton, a signer of the Declaration of Independence, is among the passengers.

Mr. Middleton Train, son of Capt. Charles Russell Train, naval aid to the President, and Mr. Train, has returned to Princeton University for his sophomore year.

Samuel Biddle, son of Mrs. John Biddle, has also resumed his studies at Princeton.

Becomes Bride

MRS. HAROLD CHARLES NYSTROM,

formerly Miss Ruth Greenwood, daughter of Representative Arthur H. Greenwood, of Indiana, and Mrs. Greenwood, whose marriage took place last night in the home of her parents here.

Mrs. Adams Due This Week From North

Navy Secretary's Wife Has Spent Summer in Minot, Mass.

Mrs. Charles Francis Adams, wife of the Secretary of the Navy, will return to Washington the last of the week from Minot, Mass., where she has been spending the summer.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry S. Morgan, of Locust Valley, Long Island, son-in-law and daughter of Secretary and Mrs. Adams, have gone to Europe to spend a few weeks with Mr. J. P. Morgan, Mr. Morgan's father, at his residence in Aldenham, England. Mr. Morgan, sr., went to England on his yacht, the Corsair, last July, and will remain there until the latter part of November.

Mr. and Mrs. V. R. Madsen, of Salt Lake City, are guests at the Mayflower with their daughter, Miss Frances Madsen.

Mr. and Mrs. William White, jr., will present their daughters, Miss Mary White and Miss Emma Gray White, to society at a tea at their home, 1910 Twenty-fourth street, on Friday, December 11.

Col. and Mrs. Robert Davis also have chosen December for the debut of their daughters, Miss Elizabeth Gould Davis and Miss Barbara Verscoile Davis, at a dinner dance at the Mayflower on December 21.

Dakota Girl Married Here To Judge's Son

Ruth Greenwood Is the Bride of Charles H. Nystrom.

In the presence of a small company the marriage of Miss Ruth Greenwood, daughter of Representative and Mrs. Arthur H. Greenwood, to Mr. Harold Charles Nystrom, of Rapid City, S. Dak., took place last evening in the Washington residence of the bride's parents, the Rev. William S. Abernethy, of the Calvary Baptist Church officiating. Owing to a recent bereavement in the family of the bride, arrangements for the wedding were simple, with only relatives and a few close friends in attendance at the ceremony and the reception which followed. The marriage of Miss Greenwood took place on the twenty-fifth wedding anniversary of the marriage of her parents.

The house was decorated with palms, ferns, and fall flowers, which formed a background for the improvised altar. The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of white satin, made on close fitting lines, with a long train. Her veil of three tiered tulle, was held in place by a cap of real lace. Lace was also combined with the satin in her gown. Miss Dorothy Gray, the maid of honor and only attendant, wore a frock of blue taffeta. Mr. Al Perry was best man for Mr. Nystrom.

After the reception, Mr. Nystrom and his bride left for a wedding trip to Canada. They will reside in Rapid City, where the former is engaged in the practice of law. Mrs. Nystrom is a graduate of George Washington University and of the American Academy of Dramatic Art in New York. Mr. Nystrom was graduated from the University of South Dakota and the George Washington University Law School. He is a member of the Phi Beta Kappa and the Phi Alpha Delta fraternities.

Mrs. J. Harry Covington, wife of Judge Covington, will not return from the Far East until December. She left for China early in the summer to visit her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Clark. The former is American consul at Hankow.

The Clarks will come to this country for a visit this winter during Mr Clark's leave of absence from his post. Mrs. Clark was formerly Miss Anne Covington.

Mrs. Edward Douglas White has closed her summer home at New London, Conn., and is making a brief visit in New York before returning to Washington for the season.

BASEBALL enthusiasts again have their choice between Graham McNamee and Ted Husing in tuning in on accounts of the World Series games. The opening game will start at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon, but both networks will be on the air half an hour earlier for preliminaries, including the line-ups.

Elaborate preparations are already under way by the National Association of Broadcasters for their annual convention, which will be held in Detroit October 26, 27 and 28. President Hoover has accepted an invitation to address the opening session. The invitation was extended by the association through its president, Walter J. Damm, Milwaukee; Frank M. Russell, member of the executive committee, and Philip G. Loucks, managing director. The address will be carried by special wire from the White House, and at the same time will be broadcast over the nationwide facilities of both networks.

Maj. Gen. Charles McK. Saltzman, chairman of the Federal Radio Commission, will speak briefly the opening day.

The National Association of Broadcasters is an organization consisting of nearly all of the large broadcasting stations in this country and its membership represents stations in every State.

ALTHOUGH James Wilkinson declares he has not been "in voice" since his arrival here a few weeks back, he has far and away the best barytone WRC has presented in many moons. We venture the prediction that it will not be very long before the executives decide it is of network quality. Wilkinson may be tuned in tonight at 6 o'clock.

A series of radio addresses, featuring representative American women, will be broadcast under auspices of the United States Chamber of Commerce, with the building of a new understanding between retailers and consumers as the immediate objective. The series, to be presented locally by WMAL, will begin soon.

For the sixth successive season regular performances of the Chicago Civic Opera Company will be broadcast direct from the stage. The first half hour of the Saturday night performances will be picked up by the WJZ network, beginning November 7. Instead of cutting into an opera, the program has been arranged so the broadcast will open with the overture and continue through the first act.

The RKO hour will present Joe E. Brown as an added attraction tomorrow (WRC, 10:30 p. m.).

THE new long-playing record, capable of reproducing an entire symphony, a complete vaudeville act, or a musical program lasting a full half hour, recently introduced by the RCA Victor Co., is declared to be having such success as to warrant the belief that it may revolutionize the radio-phonograph art. The records play for fifteen minutes.

Thirty-four of the better known classical and semiclassical compositions have been recorded and the list is being expanded. The complete musical score of the Broadway show, "The Band Wagon," will soon be available on the record.

A string quartet consisting of four of Washington's best known musicians, Leon Brustloff, violin; Henri Sokolov, violin; Alden Finckel, 'cello, and Walter Salb, piano, will furnish the musical background for a program sponsored by RKO-Keith Theater tonight between 7:45 and 8 o'clock.

THE Associated Broadcasters of America has withdrawn its protest filed with the Federal Radio Commission against the erection of a booster station in Washington by Columbia. Objection had been made by the Associated Broadcasters against the Columbia application for a 250-watt booster station on the ground that it was the first step toward a country-wide system of boosters and that it would result in the displacement of existing stations on the Columbia network.

Officials informed the association that while nobody knows what the future may bring, Columbia has no plan for a national system of booster stations and has no intention of depriving stations now affiliated with its network of its programs. It declares that its idea in asking for a booster station in Washington is to provide full-time CBS coverage here. It was pointed out that under the present allocation, a national system of booster stations would be impossible.

"These assurances of the CBS completely satisfy the objections of this association," said an executive in withdrawing the protest.

This withdrawal does not necessarily mean cancellation of the hearing scheduled for the middle of the month by the Federal Radio Commission in this matter.

The sons of the famous comedians, Ed Gallagher jr., and Al Shean jr., are to be tried out in a sustaining period on CBS.

The melodies of Franz Schubert have been especially arranged for presentation in the dramatic musicale tonight (WRC, 9 o'clock).

"BY the year 1940 we will have learned how to overcome static and magnetic barriers, and by our additional discoveries in the short wave field render international broadcasting as possible and as practical as the best we are now doing locally," predicts Frank A. Arnold, of the NBC, in his book "Broadcast Advertising," just published.

"Television, which for the last year or two has been peeking around the corner, will be walking up and down the street long before the next decade is finished," he continues. "It is already a laboratory success. It simply awaits its development along practical and business lines."

The new voice at Station WRC is that of Edwin Rogers, formerly of Stations WOR and WTIC, who joined the announcing staff early this week.

Arthur Godfrey, injured in an automobile accident last Saturday, is making "satisfactory progress," according to attending physicians.

WHEN the new liner Mariposa, which is now under construction, sails on her maiden voyage early next year she will be equipped with radio facilities as complete as any steamship ever possessed. She will have radio telegraph apparatus of world-wide range and a centralized radio system for reproducing radio broadcast programs at various locations in the vessel. An innovation will be specially constructed radio equipment for life boats.

Jane Interprets the Mode

Evening lounging pyjamas of black chiffon over rose satin, with a bodice of the rose satin, and rose velvet capelet. (A Dah-ray design).

New York, Sept. 30.

"DEAR DARE," writes one of my devoted readers, "if you had to name the two newest materials for evening wear, what would you tell us?"

Well, my deahs, I shall assume that I do have to tell you and name the fatal two right now! Taffeta is by all odds the leader, and metallic net is second. And if you just keep your eyes open when you look at fashion illustrations, you will see why there is room for more than one fabric in the position of "evening style leader."

For gowns that mold the figure closely at the waist and hips, and then flare out suddenly in wide skirts, or drape crisply in 1880 bustles, taffeta is ideal. And taffeta today is of slightly heavier texture than it ever was before, so its chief obstacle, splitting, is practically overcome. One of the most interesting evening frocks I have seen recently was of black taffeta, with bodice and hips cut on long, gored, princess lines, and then eight full godets of knife-pleated taffeta. The sudden flare into tremendous fullness from the long, form-fitting princess silhouette was startling—and lovely!

Naturally, metallic net can't do any of taffeta's tricks, but it has enough of its own! Many of the smartest gowns are sheathlike and form-fitting, on gracious princess lines, and nothing is loveller for these than metallic net. And always the beauty of the net is emphasized by intricate jeweled bands as girdles, shoulder straps of bracelets, and by wide bands of long-haired furs.

Manana, I said—meaning that on Monday I'd sketch for you the pyjamas that accompanied the negligee I sketched for you last Thursday! But manana went just as all the other mananas have a habit of doing, 'n' I suddenly decided that today was the time! So here they are—the trousers, black chiffon and very full, over a rose satin foundation, buttoned up over the hips with cut jet buttons. The bodice is an evening bodice of rose satin, for, you see, the pyjamas may be used for intimate evening wear as well as for lounging.

• • • •

And while I was designing I went right on and figured out a little cape that stayed right on my shoulders, even though it wasn't blessed with a single fastening! This, sketched above, is of rows and rows of pink velvet ribbon, all stitched on a satin foundation that is cut to hang together in the front. This, and the weight of the velvet ribbon, are all that's necessary to hold the cape on right where it should be!

• • • •

If you're figuring on a swanky pair of pyjamas for the winter months indoors, why not try to buy one that will do for both out-and-out lounging and for the evening? There are points about both versions that combine into just one all-purpose pyjama beautifully.

• • • •

The touch that finishes—for better or for worse—the chic modern costume is the handbag. That little feminine necessity is so-o-o-o-o much more important than many people realize! And the fact that it's important doesn't have to mean that it's expensive—for if you sit right down this minute and send your stamped, self-addressed envelope to the Dare department of The Post you'll receive this week's illustrated leaflet about making the loveliest bag in the world of velvet and showing three ruffes or tiers—the latest bag trick.

1 egg
1 tablespoon chopped parsley

Heat the oil in frying pan, add and brown the onions, peppers, celery and pimentos. Add rest of ingredients. Mix well. Shape into six cakes and place on shallow pan. Broil ten minutes. Serve hot.

Indoor—Outdoor Gardens

ANSWERS TO INQUIRIES.

PLEASE tell me the name of the blue flower I am inclosing. Also, please tell me the reason for my roses being in the condition of the one I am inclosing, and the remedy.

MRS. THOMAS, F. P.

The name of the blue flower is Barcleana. Your roses are covered with mildew. Better spray the foliage and while it is damp dust the foliage with powdered sulphur.

When I start my cyclamen, which has been resting all summer, must I remove the bulb from the soil or must I carefully replace some of the soil without disturbing the bulb.

MRS. LIZZIE H.

Do not disturb the bulb; merely replace two-thirds of the soil.

Please tell me the name and care of the vine of which I am inclosing a leaf. Please also tell me how to care for geraniums in the house in winter.

ANN H. K.

Your vine is a variegated vinca. This vine demands a rich soil and a great deal of water. It does best in a sunny location. Geraniums do best when a trifle pot-bound. Keep them in the sunniest place you have and do not water them too much. They demand plenty of fresh air. Keep the surface soil in their pots quite loose.

I am arranging a winter flower box. I have a fern and some ivy plants. What would you suggest?

EMMA Y. L.

As you do not tell me where you mean to keep your box, I can only suggest in a general way the plants you should use. Ferns never do well in strong sun and blooming plants refuse to flower in shade. If the box is to be placed in a north window, it will be better to confine your choice to foliage plants. If it is to be kept in a sunny location geraniums and begonias are sure to do well.

I have an indoor hydrangea which blooms one year but will not bloom the second year. Can you explain this? Would it be wise to plant it out of doors in the spring?

H. T. W.

Better plant your hydranges in a lawn tub. Keep it in a sunny location on the lawn in summer and before frost remove it to a light basement. While on the lawn water it generously every day, but when it is indoors give it only enough water to keep the roots from drying and the ends of the shoots from becoming shriveled. This variety blooms on wood made the previous season. Therefore, never prune it. Merely remove any wood that may have died during the winter.

Please tell me whether it is best to leave the dead stalks of hollyhock on the plants or to cut them down at this time. Also is it well to heap up the soil about the main stems of roses?

JOY B. P.

Better remove and burn all dead or dying foliage of perennials. This prevents in a large measure the spread of disease. Always pile the soil well up about roses. Do this after the first light frost.

Our rubber plant is covered with small white bugs similar to spiders. So far my treatment has been to feed it bonemeal and spray it with cold soapy water. I keep the plant in the sun and water it every day with soapy water. Please tell me how to get rid of these pests.

THOMAS R. T.

Better keep the surface soil in the pot quite loose and spray the plant once a week with nicotine solution.

CULBERTSON ON CONTRACT

By ELY CULBERTSON

World's Champion Player and Greatest Card Analyst

THE HOLE-IN-ONE AT CONTRACT.

THE Grand Coup is a play in Bridge so rare and unusual that those who have an opportunity to make it enter the same select circle in their favorite mental recreation as do the golfers who once in a lifetime make a hole-in-one. The play is rare for the reason that the cards are very infrequently so distributed as to give the opportunity for it and that even when such distribution occurs, the player fails to recognize that Fortune has singled him out for an unusual distinction.

All of the so-called coup plays at Bridge involve two elements. The first is using an end play to capture an adverse trumph donor when there are no trumps in the Dummy hand to lead through this adverse honor and the second is reducing the number of trumps in the closed hand to the same number as held by the opponent whose trump you seek to capture so that the closed hand will not have to trump prematurely and at the end concede a trump trick.

These elements are in all coups at Bridge. The term "Grand Coup" is used to describe the play in which, in order to accomplish this result, it is necessary to trump winning cards in the Dummy. Lack of sufficient entries in the Dummy frequently make even the simple coups impossible, and lack of sufficient winning cards in the Dummy make the Grand Coup rare indeed. Their very rarity give these plays a tremendous value in the minds of Bridge players.

For instance:

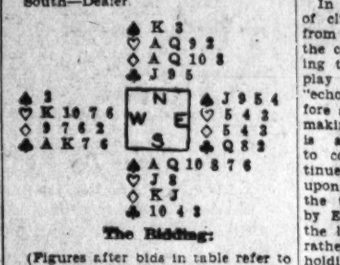
South—Dealer.



The Bidding:

(Figures after bids in table refer to numbered explanatory paragraphs.)

South	West	North	East
Pass	1♣	Dbl.(1)	Pass
3♣(2)	Pass	4♠(3)	Pass
Pass	Pass	Pass

1—With 3½ honor-tricks North's best procedure is to double for a Takeout rather than make a simle Overcall.

2—South holds 2 honor-tricks plus a long and fairly strong six-card suit. His correct response is therefore a double Jump bid as he might have been forced to bid on an entirely trickless hand.

3—Since the strength of the spade suit seems established by virtue of the double Jump, North's Raise to game is quite obvious.

In the play West opened the King of clubs. A small club was played from the Dummy and East asked for the continuance of the suit by playing the 8 rather than the 2. This play is known in Bridge as an "echo," i. e., to play a high card before a low one of the suit when not making an attempt to take the trick is a request for your partner to continue that suit. West continued by leading the Ace of clubs, upon which East played the 2, and the third round of clubs was won by East's Queen. East was now in the lead and was forced to make a rather undesirable lead up to tenace holdings in the Dummy. He selected as his lead the 5 of diamonds. It was pure chance as between the two suits. He was unwilling to lead a trump as to do so might endanger the prospect of making a trick with the trump Knave.

South won this trick with the King in his own hand and led a small trump to the King in Dummy. The second round of trumps disclosed the fact that East had held four originally and that he must win a trump trick unless the coup situation could be obtained. At this time South had four trumps and East held two. To have a chance of making the contract the Dummy must be in the lead on the eleventh round of play. In the meantime South must have disposed of two of his surplus trumps. The Knave of diamonds was led and overtaken with the Queen. Most players would now lead another round of diamonds and discard a losing heart but to do so would give up the chance of making the hand. South instead led the Ace of diamonds, upon which East followed and South trumped.

Now South led a heart and finessed the Queen. The risk of losing an additional trick was small compared with the chance of making a Grand Coup. The finesse won and South could now see his contract as reasonably safe and his Grand Coup as made. From the Dummy he led the 10 of diamonds, which was the controlling card of that suit. East refused to trump and discarded a heart. South, however, got rid of his surplus trump by ruffing Dummy's trick.

Now all was easy. South led his last heart and won with the Ace and to the twelfth trick led a small heart from Dummy. East was helpless. He ruffed with the 9, South overruffed with the 10 and East's Knave of trumps fell under South's controlling trump on the last trick.

TODAY'S POINTER.

The first step in bidding is to determine the temper of the deal. On most hands this means approaching with low suit bids.

FRANCES M'DONALD

An Amateur Philanderer.

DEAR Frances McDonald: How glad I am to feel that there is some one who will be willing to listen to and advise me. First, I must tell you that I am not a girl, but a woman who has passed her twenty-sixth birthday.

Six years ago I married a wonderful boy, just four years my senior. We both were attending the same college. I had to stop because of college rules, but he was allowed to go on. Fourteen months ago my little boy was born. You will never know how happy I felt when I saw my husband literally swell with pride when he saw our little one.

My husband and I both work, as each of us have a relative dependent. We have a darling little home. Our boy is healthy and pretty. Until a few weeks ago I was perfectly happy, but now I am filled with all kinds of doubts.

It happened this way:

Because of recent ill health of my monther, who used to take "Sonny" out daily, I have had to engage a young kindergarten teacher we have known from childhood. She needs extra money, and has been taking son out thre hours after school. They go to a park near home. Two weeks ago a woman spoke to me about my husband and this girl. Her home faces the park, and she said that my husband joins the girl there every day. Upon hearing this I gave him every chance to bring up the subject, asking him whether he thought she loved the baby, &c. So that if he were perfectly innocent he would have at once said that he often spent time with the two. He never said one word.

Really anxious then, I took time from the office; and one day visited the park. They were there. This was an hour before his hour to arrive from "the office." Next day I went again. There they were. I am just ill over it. The girl is only 20 and an orphan. And until now I really liked her. I still do not blame her as much as I do him. Regardless of what he might claim now, I feel as if everything was over. Certainly something is—or this could not have happened.

I feel like leaving and taking the baby, but I hate being or seeming dramatic. And I want to spare mother. What would you advise? I will do just as you say, and seek no revenge on any one. MARIAN.

Be just as reticent as your husband. Change nurses and never even tell him why. The girl will know and so will he. Eventually he will tell you everything. Until then be as aloof as your feelings dictate, with no hysterics to spoil the effect. Just be as unmindful of his claims upon you as he was of your claims upon his dignity and judgment. He has thus far sinned only against dignity. But unfaithfulness is so much more of the spirit than of the flesh. Punish him graciously for an ungracious affront, and at your leisure accept his penitence. He is after all, young, and so something of this sort had to happen some time to make him doubly yours. So in punishing him do not make the mistake of punishing yourself by attaching too much significance to a rather trivial reflection. Be big enough to see around things, but brave enough to face things, too. All will be well, never fear. Nothing is "over," as you call it. You are just living. So live wisely, as most women learn to do. Now smile and stop worrying. And give hubby his medicine.

What Today Means to You

"LIBRA."

IF October 1 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 10:10 a. m. to 1 p. m., from 5 p. m. to 6:40 p. m., and from 9:30 p. m. to midnight. The danger hours are from 2 p. m. to 4:15 p. m., and from 7 p. m. to 8:15 p. m.

Some unforseen changes, not so much of immediate, as of ultimate, importance, are foretold by the planetary aspects of October 1. An element, too, of romance in personal relationships will be fostered, although family ties are under adverse rays. Health conditions should be carefully watched, and all physical strain should be avoided.

The child born on October 1 will be endowed with an inherent sense of justice, and any act founded, not on reason, but on superior force, will produce a jarring effect. It will be very acquisitive of information, have a retentive memory, and is destined to "make good."

Although born on October 1, and compelled to work for all you get, the signs denote that, as a result of unfaltering perseverance and unfailing common sense, you are bound to succeed. All work intrusted to you bears the imprint of concentrated energy and untiring persistency. You do not claim to know it all, and, when up against it, never fail to seek assistance from those in a position to help you. Gratitude for advice given or service rendered is another of your outstapding characteristics, and, consequently, all are willing and ready to extend you a helping hand.

Difficulties do not dismay you. On the contrary, they apparently furnish an incentive to greater effort. Success, on the other hand, does not give you a swollen head, and when Fortune smiles, you modestly attribute it to good luck. This is not an affectation, but a state of mind.

Without being secretive, you can keep your own counsel, and you often use speech to hide, rather than to express, your inpermost thoughts. You are not thrifty, and are apt to err on the side of generosity. The stars predict that your home life will be happy during the early years, but that discord will later on disrupt it.

Successful people born October 1: Emperor Paul of Russia, Benjamin B. Hotchkiss, inventor, Annie Besant, theosophist, Henry Clay Work, composer, James Lewis, comedian, Kate Field, actress, author and journalist.

ROOMS HARD TO HEAT

the GASTEAM Radiator

Looks like a radiator—actually is a self-contained automatic gas heating plant. This modern marvel of engineering can be set up anywhere, in no time. Its steam heat is ample to warm stores, churches, small buildings or one or more rooms in a home. It operates automatically, maintaining just the steam pressure needed to keep the temperature you want.

Now there is no longer any need to suffer with "frigid zones"—rooms that have always been hard to heat. The Clow gasteam radiator will keep them warm in any weather. It is the perfect auxiliary to your present heating system or is ample when used alone to heat small homes or small buildings.

Call NAtional 8280 or any heating contractor for an estimate of installation and operating cost. You'll be pleased at the economy of the gasteam radiator. There are no boilers needed, no complicated piping, but there IS plenty of heat.

GLOTH REPLY DENIES OPPONENTS' CHARGE

ARLINGTON COUNTY BUREAU OF THE POST.
Tel. Clar. 509. Clarendon, Va.

Replying to the attacks of Clarence R. Ahalt and Amos C. Crounse, candidates for the office of Commonwealth's attorney, William C. Gloth, who seeks reelection, in an address before the Organized Women Voters of Arlington County yesterday, said:

"In answering the attack of Ahalt first, this tax question being raised is nothing but politics. The county has never paid me one cent; it is all political bunk."

He declared that his fees in the suits came from the taxpayer and not from the county treasury. Gloth stated that there are now on the books of the county treasurer $500,000 worth of delinquent taxes due the county.

He read a letter from County Superintendent of Schools Fletcher Kemp, in which it was stated that last year there was $40,000 in delinquent school taxes and that there was but two things to do, shorten the school term or borrow money. The latter course was followed.

Answering Mr. Crounse's attack on the recent annexation suit, Mr. Gloth stated that he did not say that Arlington County would not lose any section as a result of the suit. "No lawyer would make such a statement," declared Gloth.

"I feel it is about time we had a business administration in the office of Commonwealth's attorney, which I consider we have not had for the past four years," said Mr. Crounse, in an address following that of Mr. Gloth.

"Four years ago Mr. Gloth stated that if annexation proceedings were started by the City of Alexandria he would defeat the case without cost to the county. Gloth asked the board of supervisors for help and several attorneys were employed to assist him."

Other candidates who spoke in opposition to Mr. Gloth are Lawrence Douglas and Emery N. Hosmer.

Harry K. Green, commissioner of revenue, who is seeking his fourth term, appealed to the organization to continue to support him.

C. W. Clever, Mr. Green's opponent, stated he has been a resident of Arlington County for the past ten years and during the entire time he has been in the real estate business. He said that if elected that he would reduce taxes.

The program concluded with brief remarks by J. Foster Hagan, opponent to Hugh Reid for the House of Delegates, and Mr. Reid.

Arlington Obtains Bridge Road Tract

Eakin Gift Completes Right of Way; New Sidewalk Planned.

Accepting the offer of L. R. Eakin, of Washington, owner of large tracts of land in Arlington County, of a right of way, the last needed for the Washington street approach to the new Arlington Memorial Bridge, at its meeting yesterday, the Arlington County Board of Supervisors now have a free right of way. It is expected that work of grading and filling soon will be under way.

The board, on motion of Supervisor B. M. Hedrick, voted to build 1,300 feet of sidewalk along Wilson boulevard to the Woodrow Wilson School. Mr. Eakin has agreed to bear one-half of the total cost. County Engineer C. L. Kinnier was instructed to advertise for bids to be received and opened at the meeting of the board October 15.

The board voted to increase the street lighting from 40 to 100-watt lights, with service all night. This will increase the candle power 2½ times, while the cost will be increased only about 20 per cent, according to Mr. Kinnier. This work will be started immediately.

Warning of Holdup Stirs Annapolis Banks

Special to The Washington Post.

Annapolis Md., Sept. 30.—An anonymous telephone call, purporting to have come from Baltimore and telling of alleged plans to hold up one of the banks of Annapolis, excited officials of the banking institutions and the city police for several hours this afternoon.

The call came into one of the local banks, and an official immediately got in touch with police headquarters. Several of the night patrolmen were pressed into emergency service. Gov Ritchie also was advised, and a cordon of police with machine guns was dispatched from Baltimore as a precautionary measure.

Police Will Put Curb On Speeding to Races

In announcing that the 25 men recently added to the Maryland State police force will go to work Friday, Auto Commissioner Austin Baughman also said that policemen will be stationed every few miles along the Baltimore boulevard when the Laurel racing season opens Monday, to prevent speeding.

Because 60 miles an hour is an easy gait on this road, Mr. Baughman said, autoists seem to think they can speed. The limit is 40 miles an hour.

Senator Holds Electric Charges Should Be Based on Investment.

Los Angeles, Sept. 30 (A.P.).—Addressing the Public Ownership League of America, Senator C. C. Dill, of Washington, tonight declared that Congress should act to fix rates for interstate electric power on the basis of the actual investment of the producing and distributing company.

Senator Dill also asserted that Congress should prohibit the issuance of watered stock by any license of the power commission, and should authorize the construction of a few big dams and power plants to sell power to municipalities.

The senator said such Government plants should be used to demonstrate the cost of electricity and would provide the effective competition necessary to regulate the cost of electricity sold by the power trust.

Singer, Swinging Foot, Receives Sprained Ankle

George Jones, colored, of Bethesda, Md., employed by the G. & L. Construction Co. on the widening of Rockville pike, received a sprained ankle yesterday in an unusual accident. He was riding on a company truck on his way home from work with other laborers, all of whom were sitting on the side and swinging their legs in time to a tune they were singing.

As the truck left Rockville on the Norbeck pike, Jones' foot struck the license plate of a car going in the opposite direction, driven by Edwin G. Ballinger, of Falls Church, Va.

Dr. C. E. Hawks, of Rockville, treated Jones for the sprained ankle. The driver of the truck was Louis Edelman, of Baltimore, Md.

U. D. C. ONCE MORE, ELECT MRS. WEEDON

Ridgely Brown Chapter Holds Yearly Session in Rockville.

Montgomery County Bureau of The Post, 9103 Conn. Ave., North Chevy Chase, Md. Telephone Wisconsin 4205.

Mrs. John C. Weedon, of Rockville, was reelected president of Ridgely Brown Chapter, United Daughters of Confederacy, of Montgomery County, Md., at its annual meeting in Rockville at the home of Mrs. Robert E. L. Smith.

Other officers elected were: Mrs. Walter W. Mobley, of Derwood, first vice president; Miss Margaret Fields, of Rockville, second vice president; Mrs. William L. Hoyle, of Washington, recording secretary; Mrs. Loring D. Gaskill, of Washington, corresponding secretary; Miss Madeline Hoyle, of Washington, treasurer; Miss Hattie Griffith, of Redland, registrar; Mrs. Benjamin F. Whalen, of Bethesda, parliamentarian; Mrs. May Sellman, of Frederick, historian.

Members of the chapter number nearly 100.

The Baptist Women's Missionary Societies of Montgomery County will hold a group meeting tomorrow at Barnesville. One of the features of the all-day program will be a talk by Mrs. Ford Barker, of the Mount Zion Church, on her fifteen years of missionary effort in Turkey. The group includes societies from the churches at Germantown, Rockville, Cedar Grove, Barnesville, Kensington, Travilah and Mount Zion.

The annual meeting of the Montgomery Country Club will be held tonight at the clubhouse in Rockville. Election of officers is scheduled.

Chief among the subjects to be discussed is the question of continuing the club's existence. The membership for the past years has shown a decided decline and it is possible that the club will vote to disband. Means of reviving interest in the club's activities also may be discussed if it is decided to carry on. One of the proposals is to elect a slate of officers from the younger set so that new life may be injected in the organization, which has been one of the leading social groups of that section of the county for many years. The decline of membership is attributed to interest in other clubs where golf and tennis are available.

The clubhouse has been the scene of many political and social gatherings of note in the course of its history. D. A. DeLashmutt is president of the club.

The following officers have been elected by the Christian Endeavor Society of Warner Memorial Presbyterian Church at Kensington: Miss Margaret Graves, president; Charles R. Rowdybush, jr., vice president; Almon Spinks, treasurer, and Miss Hazel Zoerner, secretary. Plans for a busy year were discussed at the annual meeting.

Lee-Jackson League Seeks School Funds

President Martin T. Webb, of the Lee-Jackson School League, has called a special meeting of the league for this evening in the auditorium of the Lee-Jackson school near Seminary, Va., to consider a budget for the school year.

It has been estimated that to finance the league's activities this year will take approximately $800. The earnings of the league have been estimated to be about $300 during the coming year, leaving approximately $500 to be raised by the 214 patrons of the school. President Webb has stated that the Lee-Jackson school occupies a unique place, as its pupils are recruited from a 100-square-mile territory.

Representative Smith To Be Firemen's Guest

Representative Howard W. Smith, of Alexandria, has been invited by the Fairfax County Volunteer Firemen's Association as its guest of honor and principal speaker at a banquet in honor of the ladies' auxiliaries of the fire companies of the county.

The banquet will take place in the town hall at Vienna, October 9. Sergt. A. J. Bargagni of the Washington Fire Department; President G. Frank Allwine, of the Arlington-Fairfax Firemen's Association, and the Fairfax County engineer, F. Novell Larkin, are also invited.

Former Senator Jones Of Maryland Intestate

Dr. Eugene Jones, former State senator from Montgomery County, who died last week at Garfield Hospital, died intestate, it was revealed yesterday when application for letters of administration were filed by his widow, Mrs. Clara B. Jones, and his son, Charles C. Jones. The widow and son filed bond of $5,000 and were appointed administrators of the estate.

The value of the estate was not made public, but it is understood to be substantial.

Alexandria Dry Fines Rise.

Clerk of the Corporation Court Elliott F. Hoffman collected for the city of Alexandria in the past month $2,015.50 on cases of violation of the prohibition law. In August the collections were $1,448.50.

COUNTY RED CROSS RENAMES DR. CLOSE

Prince Georges Unit, in Meeting at Hyattsville, Elects New Staff.

Dr. C. P. Close, of College Park, Md., has been reelected chairman of the Prince Georges County Red Cross, and J. Enos Ray has been reappointed to head the annual drive for funds.

Other officers elected at a meeting held at Hyattsville were Edgar Brown, of Lanham, vice chairman; Mrs. A. B. Gahan, of Berwyn, secretary; and William S. Hill, treasurer for the second time.

The meeting also appropriated $200 for the county rescue squad to buy bandages, and gave a rising vote of thanks to Mrs. Herbert Roby, Mrs. James Severe, and Mrs. Claude Gilbert for the relief work they performed last summer as members of the central committee.

The following were appointed to the board of directors: Dr. A. B. Hooton, county health officer; Mrs. Retta D. Morris, head of the Associated Charities of Hyattsville; Mrs. Roby, Mrs. Severe, William B. Morgan, and Joseph H. Blandford, jr.

The board will also consist of the officers and Mrs. Charles O. Appleman, Dr. and Mrs. Thomas E. Latimer, Mrs. Arthur Bowie, Dr. Harry Nally, George Finger, Mrs. B. F. Wade, Dr. Albert F. Woods, Mrs. Wade Davis, Dr. H. M. Bowen, Summerfield D. Hall, clerk of the Circuit Court; W. R. Beattie, Mrs. Theodore J. Vandoren, George W. S. Musgrave, Guy S. Meloy, Nicholas Orem, county superintendent of schools; Mrs. J. J. T. Graham, Mr. and Mrs. Ray, Dr. and Mrs. H. J. Patterson, Miss M. Marjorie Zug, Mrs. Slingluff, W. T. Thorne, Mr. and Mrs. Millard Thorne, Dr. James H. Truitt, H. . Leonard, Mr. and Mrs. Claude Gilbert, Mrs. Minnie L. Brooke, Miss Ruth M. Tighe, county public health nurse; Miss Ethel M. Regan, county home demonstration agent, and W. B. Posey, county agricultural agent.

Minnesota Group Retains President

Miss Johnson Is Reelected for Sixth Term; Other Officers Named.

Miss Bede Johnson was elected to serve her sixth successive term as president of the Minnesota State Society last night at a meeting in the Willard Hotel.

Those elected as vice presidents of the society were Justice Pierce Butler, of the United States Supreme Court; Attorney General William D. Mitchell; Col. Charles H. March, of the Federal Trade Commission; William F. Schilling, of the Federal Farm Board; Walter H. Newton, secretary to President Hoover; Assistant Postmaster General G. Aaron Youngquist; James M. Doran, Commissioner of Industrial Alcohol; Senator Herrick Shipstead, Senator Thomas D. Schall and Sumner Trussel, of the Board of Tax Appeals.

Other officers are Mrs. Rutland D. Beard, corresponding secretary; A. F. White, financial secretary; Mrs. W. H. Hunter, recording secretary; O. W. Menk, treasurer, and William Monell, historian. Plans were discussed for participation in the George Washington Bicentennial.

Judges to Discuss Rules With Hughes

Chief Justice and Circuit Seniors to Take Up Problems Today.

(Associated Press.)

Means of making the scales of Federal justice balance better will be considered today when Chief Justice Hughes meets with judges from the ten Federal circuits.

The Chief Justice, who called the conference, believes approval should be given to the American Bar Association recommendation that bar committees be created in each district to study court problems from the standpoint of the lawyer. Conclusions reached by the committees then would be taken up at the annual meeting of senior circuit judges.

The conference will be confined to problems arising from congestion in Federal courts and to recommending adequate judicial service in each district. Chief Justice Hughes believes the conferences should be authorized by Congress to deal "more broadly with deficiences in administration."

Bradley Gets Saunders Gold Medal for Mining

New York, Sept. 30 (A.P.).—Selection of Frederick W. Bradley, of San Francisco, president of Alaska Juneau Gold Mining Co. and Bunker Hill & Sullivan Mining Co., to receive the 1932 award of the Saunders gold medal for "outstanding achievement in mining" was announced today by the American Institute of Mining & Metallurgical Engineers.

Previous recipients have included John Hays Hammond, Daniel C. Jackling, Herbert Hoover, David W. Brunton and F. W. MacLennan.

Gandhi and Sankey Go To Meeting of Quakers

London, Sept. 30 (A.P.).—Mahatma Gandhi and Lord Sankey, chairman of the federal structures committee of the Indian round table conference, went to a Quaker prayer meeting tonight and sat side by side for half an hour in the general silence.

The mahatma then went to a hotel to meet the Aga Khan for a further attempt at a rapprochment between Moslems and Hindus. Earlier in the day both Gandhi and the Aga Khan had separate conversations with Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald regarding the situation.

Dinner to Aid Firemen.

The Woman's Auxiliary to the Cherrydale Volunteer Fire Department will hold its benefit harvest dinner tonight in the Firemen's Hall from 5:30 to 7:30 o'clock. Mrs. Frank Shaw, president of the auxiliary, is general chairman in charge of the arrangements.

Five Men Will Visit Cuba.

Fire Chief James M. Duncan and Richard M. Green, jr., of Alexandria, will leave the coming week for Havana, Cuba to attend the meeting of the International Fire Chiefs, to be held in that city October 14, 15 and 16.

Clarendon Meeting Hears Candidates

Arlington County League to Indorse Slate This Evening.

Meeting in Odd Fellows Hall at Clarendon under auspices of the Arlington County Better Government League last night more than 300 citizens listened to 25 of the 51 candidates for the county board of five which, after January 1, 1932, will replace the present county board of supervisors in accordance with the new county government.

Frank G. Campbell, presiding, briefly outlined the purpose of the league which will meet tomorrow night in the Lyon Park Community House to indorse five candidates.

Among the candidates who addressed the meting were: James A. Sommerville, John A. McKnight, John C. Gall, L. C. Lloyd, Mrs. Elizabeth B. McGruder, C. H. Bowbeer, J. Vernon Smith, W. E. A. McShea, L. M. Kelley, Thomas Mechem, H. L. Wilson, A. H. Cohen, W. L. Ball, H. A. Fellows, F. F. Chew, Mrs. Florence E. Cannon, William Wolff, S. G. Warner, E. C. Turnburke, W. R. Robertson, W. C. Hull, J. W. KIWANIS TO HEAR VAN BIBBER TODAY

Richmond Women in Alexandria Hospital After Auto Turns Over.

THE WASHINGTON POST BUREAU, 907 Prince St., Alexandria, Va. Phone Alexandria 523.

L. W. Van Bibber, treasurer of the Virginia Public Service Co. and of the Seaboard Public Service Co., will address the Kiwanis Club today at a luncheon meeting at 12:30 o'clock in the George Mason Hotel. Forest F. Patterson is program chairman and will present Mr. Van Bibber.

Delegates will be elected today from this organization to the Capital District convention to be held in Baltimore October 29, 30 and 31. This is the first day of the last quarter of the fiscal year of the club and a full attendance is urged by President Roger C. Sullivan, as the attendance at meetings is recorded for the credit of the club.

The full program announced includes the nomination of officers, election of officers and a ladies' night.

Mrs. C. A. Montgomery, of 3101 Patterson avenue, and Mrs. Mary Smith, of 415 Maple avenue, Richmond, were brought to the Alexandria Hospital yesterday and treated by Dr. H. A. Latane for cuts and bruises received when the automobile in which they were driving ran off the hard-surface road and turned over.

The accident happened near Hybla Valley on the Richmond-Washington highway, south of Alexandria. Fairfax County authorities state that they have been unable to ascertain which of the women was the driver of the machine, and why it should have gotten from under control to leave the road.

Mrs. Lelia J. Meeks, 47 years old, wife of Harry M. Meeks, of 1219 Duke street, died Tuesday evening in the Alexandria Hospital, after a long illness. She is survived by her husband and four children: Mrs. Edna N. Humphries, Miss Frances Ruth Meeks, Harry F. Meeks and Merle L. Meeks. The funeral will be held at 11 o'clock tomorrow morning from Grace Episcopal Church, and burial will be in Ivy Hill Cemetery.

Miss Frances M. Entwisle died Tuesday night at her home, 315 South Lee street. The funeral will be held from the home at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon, conducted by the Rev. H. B. Van Couenhaven, of Grace Episcopal Church, and burial will be in St. Paul's Cemetery. She is survived by a sister, Miss Mamie Entwisle.

The funeral of Mrs. Alice C. Steiner, widow of Charles E. Steiner, who died on Tuesday at her home, 220 King street, will be held at 9:30 o'clock this morning from St. Mary's Catholic Church, and burial will be in St. Mary's Cemetery.

$1,000,000 in Loans Repaid by Farmers

Hyde Declares Action of Drought Victims Justifies Faith.

(Associated Press.)

More than $1,000,000 in drought loans has been repaid by farmers.

The first loans fell due yesterday in seven Northwestern States, but since July 1 farmers, who borrowed approximately $48,000,000 to plant again after last year's drought, have paid in to the Agriculture Department $1,239,146, of which $1,067,026 was on money loaned this year. The remainder of the loans are due in October and November.

Secretary Hyde said yesterday the repayment of this amount before any of it was due "justifies the faith of the Government in advancig this money to the farmers who needed it to tide them over a period when they could not get money elsewhere."

Map-Making Is Traced Back for 5,731 Years

Map-making as a romance, dating back 5,731 years, was discussed yesterday by Col. William A. Tufts before a luncheon of the Washington Rotary Club at the Willard Hotel. Col. Tufts traced map-making from the days of the ancient Egyptians to its present development in the United States.

There are instances, he said, in which as much as $90,000 has been spent in perfecting a map before it reaches the press. Makers of one standard globe map average 75,000 changes or corrections each year. President S. Percy Thompson presided.

Candidates to Be Heard.

Candidates for Sheriff and Commissioner of Revenue are announced as the speakers at the meeting to be held tonight in the Lyon Park Community House, under the Lyon Park Citizens Association. Arthur Orr will preside.

MAJ. GEN. GREBLE DIES IN SON'S HOME

Nearby Veteran to Be Buried in Arlington Cemetery Tomorrow.

Maj. Gen. Edwin St. John Greble, U. S. A. retired, Cuban, Mexican and World War veteran, and son of Lieut. John Trout Greble, first regular officer of the Union Army to be killed during the Civil War, died yesterday morning at the home of his son in Englewood, N. J., after a long illness, in his seventy-second year.

Gen. Greble was appointed to the United State Military Academy by Gen. Ulysses S. Grant, and on his graduation in 1881 was attached to the Second Artillery, his father's old regiment. He served in several important Government positions in Cuba during the evacuation by the Spaniards, and along the Mexican border in 1914.

In 1917 Gen. Greble was appointed commander of the Thirty-sixth Division of the National Guard at Fort Worth, Tex. He retired from active service in 1918 because of disability incurred in active service, and since that time made his home in Washington.

He was a member of the Loyal Legion, the Army and Navy Club here, the Ends of the Earth Club, the City Club of New York, the Toltec Country Club at El Paso, Tex., and the Fort Worth River Crest Country Club, Fort Worth, Tex.

He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Gertrude P. Greble, of 1822 Jefferson place northwest; a son, E. St. John Greble, of Englewood, and two daughters, Mrs. Anna Estes, of Bethlehem, Pa., and Mrs. Mildred Davis, of West Orange, N. J.

Burial will be tomorrow afternoon at 2:45 o'clock in the southern section of Arlington National Cemetery, with full military honors.

Miss Rosa Gockeler Dies in Sanitarium

Native Washingtonian, 69, Succumbs in Takoma Park Institution.

Miss Rosa K. Gockeler, daugter of the late Christian G. and Barbara Gockeler, succumbed to illness late yesterday in Mrs. Pomeroy's Sanitarium, Takoma Park, D. C.

Miss Gockeler was born January 4, 1862, in Washington. She lived with her stepmother, Mrs. Louisa Gockeler, at 1745 Q street northwest. Other survivors include her sisters, Mrs. Mary Hartig and Mrs. Emma Wilson; a half sister, Mrs. Harry T. Romer, and her half brother, C. J. Gockeler. Miss Gockeler was a member of St. Paul's English Lutheran Church.

The body rests at Hysong's funeral home, Thirteenth and N streets northwest. Funeral arrangements will be announced later.

Soldiers' Home Inmate Badly Hurt by Auto

Thomas H. Jenkins, colored, 81, of the Soldiers' Home, was in a serious condition at Homeopathic Hospital last night after he had been struck by an automobile at Ninth and N streets northwest yesterday afternoon.

William J. C. Chester, of 610 Irving street northwest, who was driving the machine that struck Jenkins, took the man to the hospital, where he was said to be suffering from a possible fractured skull and scalp lacerations.

LEFT TURN GRASPED BY SCHOOL PUPILS

Boy Patrols and Police Give Aid; Committee on Safety Renamed.

Washington school children are not being bothered by the new left-hand traffic turn, according to Selden M. Ely, supervising principal of the fifth division, who has been reappointed chairman of the committee on safety in the public schools.

Mr. Ely said that the children have quickly grasped the new turn due to the efficiency of the schoolboy patrol and 100 per cent cooperation from the police department and the American Automobile Association.

Other members of the safety committee reappointed yesterday are Miss Elsie E. Green, administrative principal, Whittier School; Miss J. R. McCardell, teacher, Bradley School; Charles K. Finckel, administrative principal, Thomson School; Miss Ruth E. Dick, teacher, Carberry School; Miss H. M. Knighton, administrative principal, Cranch-Tyler School, and Miss Annie C. Kelliher, teacher, Curtis Hyde School.

The committee for colored schools follows: John C. Bruce, supervising principal, Lincoln School; Miss G. L. Robinson, teacher, Wilson School; Mrs. F. B. Gould, teacher, Douglas-Simmons School, and Mrs. M. T. Latimore, administrative principal, Anthony-Bowen School.

Druggists in Convention Urge Dry Law Reforms

Detroit, Sept. 30 (A.P.).—Two resolutions proposing a change in national prohibition were introduced today in the National Association of Retail Druggists convention here. One, introduced by the convention committee on national legislation, offers to cooperate with the Federal Government and the medical profession in amending the national prohibition law in accordance with recommendations of the Wickersham Commission.

The other, introduced by the California Pharmaceutical Association, urges Congress to take such action as "will bring adequate relief from the intolerable conditions imposed by the national prohibition act."

BRITISH SHIP GETS WHEAT FOR BRAZIL

American Carriers Lose as Predicted in Coffee Trade Deal.

A prediction made a month and a half ago by American steamship men was borne out yesterday when a British freighter steamed away from Baltimore, carrying 240,000 bushels of American wheat destined for Brazil.

The cargo was the first to leave under the agreement entered into by the Federal Farm Board and the Brazilian government, whereby 25,000,000 bushels of American wheat were bartered for 1,050,000 bags of Brazilian coffee.

In the contract the American Merchant Marine, now hard hit by the depression, was ignored, Brazil being allowed to name the ships that would transport both the wheat and the coffee. Inasmuch as Brazil has only a single steamship line, American shippers predicted that British lines would get a large part of the business.

As has been said, this prediction has now been borne out. The British freighter Martha, which left Baltimore yesterday for Santos, Brazil, with 240,000 bushels of wheat, is evidently one of many British vessels that will be employed in hauling the huge cargo.

The failure of the Federal Farm Board to look out for the interests of the American merchant marine in its wheat and coffee deal with Brazil was exposed by The Washington Post, and a furore among shipping men and members of Congress followed.

Representative Will R. Wood (Republican), Indiana, called it the "biggest bonehead trick" of the year.

Later on, in making a wheat deal with Germany, the Federal Farm Board made up somewhat for its earlier dereliction by specifying that 50 per cent of the grain should be carried in American bottoms.

ample time to complete withdrawal of troops from Chinese territory and reestablish the status quo. The council will not reconvene if both China and Japan are satisfied with developments at that time.

Dr. Alfred Sze, of China, addressing the council, said he would hold the council responsible for reestablishment of the status quo in Manchuria and fixing of responsibilities and reparations for the entire incident.

Both China and Japan accepted the council's resolution in the affair, but the Japanese delegate rejected China's interpretation of resolution as permiting China to demand further action after October 14.

Great Britain Is Advised To Stop Foreign Buying

London, Sept. 30 (A.P.).—Lord Beaverbrook, British newspaper publisher and tariff supporter, told an audience tonight that if Great Britain would stop its foreign purchases, which he placed at $4,000,000,000 in manufactured goods and food, it could pay its short-term debts to France and the United States, amounting to approximately $1,000,000,000, in three months.

GRANGE, FARM BODY, VOTES AGAINST RETURN OF BEER

few years," the committee's statement said, "the National Grange has made studies regarding the economic effects of prohibition upon the farming interests. The facts disclosed by these studies show conclusively that the resumption of the brewing industry in the United States would be detrimental to the interests of agriculture."

Furthermore, the authority of Congress to legalize 4 per cent beer was disputed and notice was given that the Grange would oppose "all attempts to evade and nullify the fundamental law."

"Present conditions in Germany and in England or in South America," the committee added, "prove conclusively that beer is by no means a cure-all for social, economic and industrial ills."

When Mr. Hyde disclosed his intention of studying the question, he said President Hoover was not concerned in the investigation. Likewise, Walter H. Newton, one of the President's secretaries, said the White House was not involved when, a few days previous, he asked the Census Bureau for figures on brewery employment before prohibition.

In handing the statement to newspaper men, Mr. Taber, gray-haired Grange leader, called attention to the figures showing an increase in consumption of dairy products since 1917. Comparing that year with 1929, the increase is 242.7 pounds per capita.

The grain going into this increased production was placed at 10,047,196,000 pounds, approximately three times as much as was used in the manufacture of fermented liquors in 1917. In addition, the statement said, 25,461,084,000 pounds of roughage were required to produce the increased dairy products consumed in 1929.

"There has been" the committee said, "a pronounced increase in recent years in the use of eggs and dairy products in the manufacture of bread, cakes, pastries and candy. If, because of the resumption of brewing, the per capita consumption of dairy products and poultry products should drop to the same level as in the days of the saloon, agriculture would sustain a tremendous loss and one which it could ill afford to bear.

"It stands to reason that if the American people should spend a large percentage of their earnings for beer, they would have just that much less to spend for food, clothing and shelter."

"Those who are promoting the beer propaganda," the committee concluded, "have seized upon world-wide economic distress as an opening for their campaign, but agriculture will not be diverted from the consideration of the overwhelming economic problems which confront the Nation."

Besides Taber, the other members of the committee are A. S. Goss, Seattle, Wash.; Fred J. Freestone, Interlaken, N. Y., and E. A. Eckert, Mascoutah, Ill.

DEMOCRATIC VICTOR SCORES FARM BOARD

New Representative Holds Election Verdict on "Great Issues."

Marshall, Mo., Sept. 30 (A.P.).—Robert D. Johnson, Democrat, of Marshall, elected to Congress from the Seventh Missouri District in a special election yeysterday, said in a statement today "The voters rendered an unmistakable verdict upon the great issues."

"The Republican nominee (former Representative John W. Palmer, of Sedalia), sought indorsement and approval of the people to the policies and acts of the Hoover Farm Board, the administration of which has forced American farmers into bankruptcy and ruin, caused thousands of commercial failures and an unheard of era of unemployment among laboring people. * * *

"As Democratic nominee I squarely opposed the ruinous policies of the Hoover Farm Board administration and stood upon the Democratic promises of readjustment in the interest of the masses of the unfair tariff * * *."

Arthur M. Curtis, chairman of the State Republican committee said, "We were handicapped by present economic conditions. We are down but not out."

Services for Women Planned at Hospital

A retreat for Catholic women of the Army Medical Center will open tomorrow evening at the Memorial Chapel of the post. Father Peter O'Brien, O. P., of the Dominican House of Studies will conduct exercises which are to continue daily through Sunday evening.

Services will be held each evening at 7:45 o'clock and morning masses will be held at 5:45 and 7:30 o'clock. Special music will be given at the closing service Sunday with selections by the Catholic Chapel Choir and several instrumental and vocal solo selections.

Beer Drinker Wanted For British Exchequer

London, Sept. 30 (A.P.).—A complaint that no beer drinker has occupied the post of chancellor of the exchequer since 1918 and that, as a consequence, beer was made to bear a heavy load of taxes, was entered in the House of Commons tonight by Sir William Wayland, Conservative, who represents a hop growing district in Kent.

There have been chancellors, Sir William said, who were whisky drinkers, port sippers and champagne tipplers, but there has not been one "who imbibed good honest beer." Because of this, he said, beer was "continually sacrificed on the altar of teetotalism."

War Mothers Repudiate Favoring Modification

Long Beach, Calif., Sept. 30 (A.P.). Declaring they regretted publicity representing them as favoring light wines and beer, American War Mothers, meeting here today for their sixth biennial session, pledged support to the Constitution and its amendments.

Recommendation was made by the Americanization committee in a report given by Mrs. Isabelle Richards, chairman, that the national convention of American War Mothers continue to protest against any modification of immigration restrictions.

RECEIVERS RETAINED FOR WARDMAN FIRM

Shaw's Dismissal Plea Denied by Court; Injunction to Prevent Foreclosure.

A ruling of the District Supreme Court, made by Justice Jesse Adkins, yesterday more firmly entrenched Thomas D. Carson, Julius I. Peyser and Joseph P. Tumulty in their positions as receivers for the Wardman Real Estate Properties, Inc. Justice Adkins refused to interfere with them, and at the same time he denied a requdst for an injunction asked by Leslie M. Shaw, former Secretary of the Treasury under Theodore Roosevelt, to prevent the foreclosure of the properties under the present receivers.

W. Bissell Thomas and W. B. O'Connell, attorneys for Shaw, noted an appeal from the ruling. They plan to carry their fight to the Court of Appeals at the earliest opportunity.

Shaw filed a petition to have receivers appointed for the Wardman properties several months ago. His petition was denied, with ten days allowed in which to file an amended pleading. Before that ten days expired the Hanover Central Trust Co., of New York, one of the trustees on an $11,000,000 bond issue secured by the properties, came into court and, with the consent of the Wardman interests, asked that three receivers be appointed, and they were.

Shaw asserted that the receivers were too friendly to the banking interests that floated the loan, and he also said that his suit had priority over the second and successful suit. Justice Adkins stated he was unable to follow the line of reasoning, and he dismissed Shaw's plea for an injunction and to remove the present receivers.

WHEN YOU OVER-INDULGE

THERE are times when we all are tempted to take a holiday from the usual prudence.

Where is the person who wants to be discreet in diet every day in the year? It isn't human!

And it isn't necessary!

Your stomach won't be poisoned by every little indiscretion if you will just remember to give it the friendly aid of Phillips' Milk of Magnesia. It will sweeten the sour system and put things to rights.

Suppose you do overload your stomach with those things that bring an acidity? Phillips' Milk of Magnesia will neutralize many times its volume in acid. Just take two spoonfuls before and after such over-indulgence. It's a very simple way to prevent those miserable mornings which follow too much to eat and drink.

When you over-indulge—eating, drinking, smoking—don't suffer for hours! Nature will restore a proper alkaline balance in time, but Phillips' Milk of Magnesia acts immediately. A creamy, pleasant-tasting emulsion that sweetens the stomach, dispels that sour gas, and relieves the nausea and headache, and feeling of biliousness due to overdoing. (Phillips' mild laxative properties always help the bowels at such times.)

Make sure it's genuine. The signature of Chas. H. Phillips on the wrapper and bottle will tell you it's the real product endorsed by the medical profession. Less perfect preparations do not act the same.

For a Healthy Mouth.

Use Phillips' Milk of Magnesia as a mouthwash every evening before retiring. Use Phillips' Dental Magnesia, a superior tooth-paste, to keep the teeth clean and white.

DEATH OF AUTHOR, 32, VEILED IN MYSTERY

Police Say Playwright May Have Been Slain and Body Tossed in Cemetery.

Westport, Conn., Sept. 30 (A.P.).—Conflicting theories were advanced tonight by officials investigating the strange death of Kenneth Raisbeck, 32, author and playwright, whose body was found earlier in the day in a clump of bushes in Christ Church Cemetery.

Dr. William H. McMahon, medical examiner, after an autopsy, attributed death to acute suppurative miningitis. Police, however, advanced the theory that Raisbeck, a protege of Oliver H. P. Garrett, former New York newspaperman, might have been slain and his body tossed into the cemetery. They based their theory on the fact that bruises were found on Raisbeck's throat and on indications that the body had been dragged to the bushes.

Although he said he had found no indications of foul play, Dr. McMahon described the conditions surrounding the death as suspicious and unusual. He expresesd the opinion that some one was either with Raisbeck when he died or knew of his death. Dr. McMahon said the bruises on the neck indicate he had been choked, but the autopsy showed no indication of strangulation or dislocation of the larynx.

The body, its clothing disarranged, was discovered by John L. Somers, a salesman. An automobile used by Raisbeck and owned by Mrs. A. P. Garrett, mother of Oliver H. P. Garrett, was found on Kings highway, a quarter of a mile from the cemetery.

Raisbeck, who had been living in a cottage adjoining the home of Mrs. Garrett, left Westport last June when the latter left for Europe and asked that his mail be forwarded to Harvard, Mass. He returned June 15, packed his belongings on the roadster and left. That was the last seen of him here until the discovery of his body.

The cottage in which Raisbeck lived is about 300 feet from the cemetery.

Charles Fable, Westport undertaker, told police he saw the Garrett automobile in front of the cemetery at half-past 9 last night. When the car was found today its lights were burning.

Rothstein Papers Stir Tammany Quiz

Witnesses Say Politicians Help Gambling in New York City.

New York, Sept. 30 (A.P.).—Documents of the slain Broadway gambler, Arnold Rothstein, were used today at a lively hearing of the Hofstadter legislative committee to support testimony that aids of Rothstein had operated "floating games" in Tammany clubs.

A retired police lieutenant, Ezekiel E. Keller, who once conducted an unsuccessful campaign to drive gambling out of the city, testified that gambling could not exist in New York without the protection of "politicians and others."

The witness told of being transferred to "the sticks" and said he and his police associates were convinced he was sent to the new district as a punishment for his antigambling activity.

The transfer was made shortly after Grover Whalen was appointed police commissioner by Mayor James J. Walker.

Late in the day a detailed description of a racing poolroom which police uncovered in a Democratic club headed by Alderman Peter J. McGuinness was given the committee by Thomas McDonald, retired police lieutenant.

Four Men Are Injured As Auto Hits Light Pole

Four men were injured, one receiving a fractured collarbone, when their automobile crashed into an electric light pole at Forty-ninth street and Central avenue northeast last night. All were treated at Casualty Hospital and later discharged, except Morris P. Healey, 41, 515 Sixth street northeast, who suffered a broken collarbone.

Rudolph L. Cole, 22, 1367 Meridian place northwest, was driving the car, according to police. He received minor lacerations and contusions, as did James Cole and Clifford Gray, his other passengers.

Smoke Screen Is Found On Car After Collision

Police last night were seeking the driver of an automobile who, with a companion, jumped from the machine after a collision with a street car at the intersection of Second street and Indiana avenue northwest, according to E. A. Hundell, motorman of a Washington Railway & Electric street car which struck the machine. One of the men was said to be colored.

Police were summoned and the abandoned machine was found to be equipped with a smoke-screen device. It was listed to a man living on Thirteenth street near W street southeast.

WOMAN LIVES AFTER 60-FOOT PLUNGE

capacity to President Wilson, was dispatched to Georgetown University Hospital, where he visited Mrs. Greenleaf. He was not called into the case, however, which is being handled by staff surgeons.

Mrs. Greenleaf declared that she was leaning over the railing when she fell. The Seventh Precinct police report is to this effect, although Detective Floyd Truscott said he located a small colored girl who reported she saw the woman walk for several yards along the parapet and then jump.

The guard rail on the bridge is about 5 feet high and almost 2 feet in breadth.

Dr. Francis X. McGovern, 4707 Connecticut avenue, applied first aid measures, assisted by the fire rescue squad, before Mrs. Greenleaf was removed to Georgetown University Hospital in a police car.

Mrs. Greenleaf, who gave her age as 40 years, expressed concern at the hospital when she learned that she had lost her pocketbook in the plunge and police had not recovered it. The purse was said to contain $6 in cash and a $25 signed check make payable to herself.

ABOUT THE SHOWSHOPS

With NELSON B. BELL.

HOW long ago was it that "The Merry Widow" was swelling the coffers of the late Henry W. Savage as the most popular of the operettas since "Floradora?" Donald Brian, Frances Cameron, Lina Abarbanell are a trio of names that were identified with this tuneful and lovely story of romance along the Danube, with a lilting score and an imperishable waltz by Franz Lehar.

Well, no matter if you can't remember the original production. In all probability you can the silent screen version in which Mae Murray and John Gilbert played the stellar parts. It was generally conceded to be the best thing Miss Murray ever did before the cameras. Erich von Stroheim directed.

Now, say reports from Hollywood, a Technicolor production of the famous work is on the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer production sheet for this fall or early winter. One story has it that Jeanette MacDonald will play the leading feminine role, with the Prince Danilo still to be decided upon.

The recent improvement in the Technicolor process of chromatic photography is reputed to have had a strong influence on M-G-M's decision to put the old piece back into work.

Personally, I hope the rumor hasn't been too much exaggerated.

And did I tell you what happened after I had printed the recital of my early home-town acquaintanceship with Beulah Bondi, the Emma Jones of "Street Scene," whose brother, Raymond, was one of my first seat-mates in grade school out in Valparaiso, Ind. Then you should hear.

Almost before the ink was dry, a handsome photograph of Miss Bondi arrived, embarrassingly inscribed on the reverse side with inquiries as to whether I really deemed the subject of the sitting "a queer duck"—ill-chosen verbiage which I believe was employed in the original item concerning my respectful obeisance to the Bondi art as revealed in the film play still visible at the Columbia.

Assuredly I do not. And neither would you after viewing the stunning photographic study of this foremost of the theater's character actresses.

But what I meant to say in the original paragraph—in addition to the verbal faux pas, I finally managed to get in type—was that Beulah comes by her histrionic ability honestly. Her mother, although, I think, never a professional actress, was an accomplished dramatic reader, back in the days when recitationists were an accepted feature of every Chautauqua program, and most others presented elsewhere than behind the footlights of the socalled legitimate theater.

Now, I'm wondering if she will deign to answer my apologetic letter and tell me where Raymond is. I still have a few third-grade crows to pick with him.

If a poll of Walter Reed Hospital were to be taken, I dare say that Helen Kane would be unanimously elected to the position of favorite star of the boys still battling the evil consequences of the Great War.

The world's premier poo-poo-pa-dooper put on a one-girl show at the hospital Tuesday afternon and had the lads tearing their hair before she got through. Staging the same numbers she is using at the Palace this week in the "Karnival Kapers" revue, Miss Kane took the place of at least 90 gallons of medicine and 1,000 treatments, and put the boys way out in front in the matters of morale and physical well being.

What a trouper—and what a reception!

And that reminds me. Taxicabs seem to hold a strange fatality for film executives. It was not so many Christmases ago that Ace Berry, then territorial manager for RKO-Keith, sustained serious injuries while taxicabbing to Union Station to see Mrs. Berry safely aboard her train westbound for a holiday outing.

Yesterday morning, while taxicabbing from the midnight train from New York to their homes—at six-something in the morning, about the time most of us were starting home for a nice, long night's rest—John J Payette and Nat Glasser, of the local Warner Bros.' executive staff, were smacked by a truck and rendered hors de combat almost from now on.

Johnny Payette, zone manager for the Warners, was seriously injured; Mr. Glasser marred a little, but not importantly wounded. Mr. Payette is in Garfield Hospital with what an ex-ray diagnosis has determined to be a broken pelvic bone, a fractured hip and a compound fracture of the wrist, not mentioning the minor matters of shock, glass cuts and bruises.

A plaster cast is being applied today and the prospect of an extended period of inactivity confronts one of the most able and most nervously alert of the local film craft.

Johnny and I were members of the same organization for something over eight years—during most of which we fought like a couple of strange bulldogs—but he's a wide-awake executive and I deplore the plight in which a bad break of luck has placed him.

If I could do anything to speed his convalescence, I'd be happy.

So it came over the wire. I mean the summons to Fifi D'Orsay, engaged in a week of personal appearances at the Earle, to be ready to support Will Rogers in the Home Croy story that is soon to be filmed by Fox as a sequel to "They Had to See Paris."

Mlle. Fifi has been hoping that something would happen, and yesterday it did. Will Rogers has laid down the ultimatum that Fifi must be in the cast of the new picture, just as she was in the one it is designed to supplement.

And is she pepped up about it!

Now about next week's attractions. At the National, beginning Tuesday night, Walter Hampden and Fay Bainter, supported by Effie Shannon and Sydney Greenstreet, in Sir James M. Barrie's "The Admirable Crichton." One for the book.

The Belasco, with the customary Monday opening, will offer Irene Bordoni in "The Improper Duchess," a new comedy-drama with its locale in the National Capital during the next presidential administration.

In the temples of the titillating and talkative tin-types the line-up will be this: RKO-Keith's, Ann Harding in "Devotion;" Rialto, Evelyn Brent in "Pagan Lady;" Palace, Warner Oland and Anna May Wong in "Daughter of the Dragon," and Loew stage revue; Earle, Tallulah Bankhead in "My Sin," and vaudeville bill; Fox, Thomas Meighan in "Skyline" and Raquel Torres in person; Metropolitan, Edward G. Robinson in "Five Star Final;" Columbia, the Four Marx Brothers in "Monkey Business."

Yeah, you said it. I don't write very good columns, but I write 'em long!

BEACH OFFERS JOYS IN COMING SUMMER

Woodland Gives Comforts for Young and Old at Little Cost.

Be prepared. That slogan was famous during war times and it is no less appropos today in many things. While the summer season has just about ended, now is the time to begin planning for other summers and it is for that reason that The Washington Post is offering its readers an opportunity to be prepared.

When next summer arrives you and the members of your family; your friends and your guests will appreciate having a fine place to go, just a short distance from the city but nevertheless giving you all the advantages of home in a rural atmosphere.

Woodland Beach offers just that. This splendid resort site on the South River in Maryland is only 32 miles from the Capital. There can be found the rest and comfort so essential after a year of labor at your desk or over your machine. Too, the resort offers recreational facilities of the finest type. Swimming, boating and bathing are available for those who like sport. The children too will find pleasant coves of shallow water in which to splash and play in safety.

Obtaining a lot at Woodland Beach on which to build that long-desired summer cottage, is easy. The price of lots there is $93 but even this small amount need not be paid in cash. A down payment of $9, together with a subscription to The Washington Post, will enable you to make a selection. Then pay off the balance in monthly installments of $3.50. There are no interest charges to be met.

Excellent sites on the 4½ miles of waterfront are available. Buy now before someone else gets the lot you had in mind.

BROTHER IS SOUGHT IN GIRLS' MURDERS

Witnesses Say Oklahoma Teachers Feared to Return Home.

Newkirk, Okla., Sept. 30 (A.P.).—Defense moves came swiftly today in an attempt to turn a jury's eyes from Earl Quinn, on trial for murder, toward a brother of Jessie and Zexia Griffith, slain school teachers.

Jessie, brutally attacked and shot down with her older sister during a motor trip following Christmas holidays spent last year at their Blackwell, Okla., home, was pictured by witnesses as fear-haunted for weeks preceding her death.

Quinn, a former convict and an admitted whisky peddler, is alleged to have slain the teachers during a night in which he drove his automobile over country roads in a drunken frenzy.

Frank Ashby, University of Oklahoma student at Norman, where the pretty teacher was public schools music supervisor, said she expressed fear the night before she went home for Christmas that Amos, her brother, would be there "and I don't know what to expect."

James Mathers, defense lawyer, had promised in his opening statement to show the girl had a "deranged brother" and that he was in Norman about December 1—28 days before the killings—"hounding and harassing her for money." Mathers said he would show the slain girls' mother made the statement that "if they ever get the right man, I'll commit suicide."

The defense issued a subpena for Amos but he was not located.

Defense moves also developed to bring into the murder picture a man in a yellow sweater and a cap assertedly seen riding with the girls and a "big black car" speeding out of a road from where the sisters' bodies were left.

Quinn's mother, Mrs. George Quinn, of Kansas City, declared her son visited her "not long before New Year." Admitting Quinn was a whisky peddler, Mathers promised to show he could not have been near the scene of the slayings.

Washington Youth Wins Woods Prize at U. of Va.

Norwood Bentley Orrick, of 2818 P street northwest, has been presented with the annual Samuel Baker Woods, Jr. Award for excellence in the law school of the University of Virginia for the 1931-1932 session.

Orrick, who is in his third year of law and who will be a candidate for a degree next June, is president of the editorial board of the Virginia Law Review. During his first year in the law school he held an average of 94.5, while last session he maintained the high mark of 95.3. The Woods scholarship was established in 1930 by Forrest J. Hyde, Jr., of New York City.

ROSENTHAL DENIES KIDNAPING WAS PLOT

Avers He Did Not Submit to Abduction to Obtain Cash From Mother.

New York, Sept. 30 (A.P.).—Charles M. Rosenthal, wealthy young broker, on the witness stand today in the kidnaping trial of four men and a woman, emphatically denied he had participated in a plot to obtain money from his mother by submitting to abduction last August.

John J. Duff, counsel for Theodore Adinolfi and Albert Sileo, two of Rosenthal's alleged kidnapers, cross-examined the broker as to whether he had submitted willingly to the kidnaping.

Similar cross-examination was conducted by A. A. Pope, Negro attorney for Betty Stewart Green, the octoroon, who is accused of luring Rosenthal into the hands of his abductors.

The two other defendants in the trial are Marcus Blumenthal, reputed leader of the kidnapers, and Nicholas Rutigliano, proprietor of the Vendig Hotel, where police said $50,000 was paid for Rosenthal's release.

Duff asked if Rosenthal was intimately acquainted with Al Capone and owed the latter $100,000. He also inquired if it were not true that he had gambled with Arnold Rothstein the night the Broadway gambler was fatally shot.

Rosenthal made vigorous denials to all of these questions.

Rosenthal earlier told his story of the kidnaping. On August 9, a woman giving the name of Gross, but who later was identified as Betty Green, telephoned him, he related, and suggested he take her out, saying they had mutual friends in Philadelphia.

Rosenthal explained he considered it a social obligation and took the woman to dinner.

After dinner the Green woman suggested going to the apartment of a friend, and while waiting downstairs, Rosenthal said, he was kidnaped by three men whom he identified as Adinolfi, Sileo and Rutigliano.

Probus Club Votes New Official Staff

E. E. Woolen Is Chosen President at Lunch Gathering.

E. E. Woolen was elected president of the Probus Club at its luncheon meeting yesterday at the Hay-Adams House. Mr. Woolen will succeed Dr. Bernard A. Baer. Other officers elected are:

Joseph D. Dreyfuss, first vice president; H. D. Sherwood, second vice president; John D. Sadler, reelected secretary, and Maurice Starbecker, reelected treasurer. Officers will be installed at a dinner meeting to be held at the Hay-Adams House on October 7.

Members of the executive committee chosen yesterday are Milton Baer, L. Y. Buckingham, Melvin Gusdorf and J. F. McLaughlin, jr.

New Orleans Confers On Mississippi Bridge

New York, Sept. 30 (A.P.).—Officials of the New Orleans Public Belt Railroad Commission and New Orleans bankers conferred here today with executives of the Southern Pacific Railroad on the latter's share of the cost of the new bridge across the Mississippi River at New Orleans.

At the office of Hale Holden, chairman of the executive committee of the Southern Pacific, it was learned that a complete accord had not been reached, and that further details were to be worked out.

Lindbergh's Plane On British Carrier

Colonel and Wife, at Hankow, Prepare to Start New Map Assignment.

Hankow, China, Sept. 30 (A.P.).—Col. and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh's plane was hoisted from the Yangtse River to the flying deck of a British aircraft carrier tonight, to remain there until the Lindberghs commence their task of mapping and surveying the central China flood area.

The famous American fliers after arriving from Wuhu were welcomed by British aviators and later went ashore to spend the night at the United States Consulate.

The Lindberghs left Nanking yesterday for Hankow, but remained overnight at Wuhu to enable their passenger, Dr. Borcic, League of Nations health expert, to inspect local conditions. Delay in arrival here caused some anxiety for their safety.

Railway Consolidation To Be Effective Today

Watertown, N. Y., Sept. 30 (A.P.).—Consolidation of the Mohawk division and the Adirondack and Ottawa division of the New York Central Railroad, said a notice to C. F. Moyer, superintendent of the St. Lawrence division, will become effective tomorrow as the Mohawk, Adirondack & Northern.

Fifth Avenue Fashions

SIMPLE SMARTNESS.

So simple to make is this fascinating model developed in printed crepe silk. It is so entirely serviceable.

Tucked away at the neckline is a tiny crossover vest of white embroidered batiste. Frilling of the batiste appears again on the sleeves below the elbows. The cowl drape softens the line of the bodice.

The skirt favors the deep moulded hipline with attached circular lower part.

Style No. 261 may be had in sizes 16, 18, 20 years, 36, 38, 40 and 42 inches bust. Size 36 requires 3¾ yards of 39-inch material with ½ yard of 27-inch all-over lace.

Plain crepe silk, wool crepe, printed linen, shantung and eyelet batiste are charming ideas.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. W. A. EVANS

To the limit of space questions pertaining to hygiene and prevention of disease will be answered in this column. Personal replies will be made to inquiries, under proper limitations when return stamped envelope is inclosed. Dr. Evans will not make diagnosis or prescribe for individual disease.

STERILIZING SHOES AND STOCKINGS.

One reason for the difficulty in curing some cases of athlete's foot is that we fail to take care of a few of the things that call for control. We apply dyes and salves to the sites of infection that force themselves on our attention by reason of itching, redness, soreness, or pain, but we overlook some places in which the microbe is quietly lurking.

That itching sensation may be very disagreeable, but it serves a useful purpose in that it says in its own language: "Here is the bug you are after. Come and swat it." You heed the call and apply what is usually a pretty well thought out treatment to the area that has the needed sign flying in the breeze. The result is that the itching spot is cured for the time.

Then treatment stops. Whereupon the infection crawls out of some crack in which it was hiding, goes over the old battleground, and starts digging again. One of these often neglected lurking places is the toe nails. In hairy parts of the body the hair shaft is another port of safety in a storm.

Dr. Samuel Ayers calls attention to the necessity of paying some attention to the shoes and stockings. The bathroom floor and the rug thereon are also hiding places. The microbes of the fungus family have no trouble in living on skin, in nails and hairs, in the fabric of rugs, and on floors. Dr. Ayers thinks we should treat the man's house and clothes, as well as his toes.

His plan is to treat the feet by one of the methods now in use, and to supplement by fumigating the shoes, stockings, bathroom floor and rugs, at least twice during the course of treatment. This he does once, about one week after the beginning of local treatment. He repeats about the termination of treatment.

He has the person put his shoes and stockings in the bathroom, light a formaldehyde candle in there, close the door, and leave the objects exposed to the fumes for four hours. Presumably he makes use of formaldehyde fumes in preference to the more efficient sulphur fumes because of the harm to fabrics and polishes that the latter may do.

However, it is possible to protect surfaces and fabrics against sulphur fumes; and other fumigating agents are effective. It is possible to get the effects of sulphur by the use of solutions such as hypsulphite of soda solution. This is used to wipe floors, wash rugs, and to kill fungi in shoes and stockings.

IT'S IN THE TRAINING.

L. V. L. writes: From time to time you have insisted in your column that worry is merely a state of mind. Of course it is. Everything is just fine. But will you please tell us how can the ordinary guy adopt the don't-give-a-darn, everything-is-going-to-be-all-right attitude? Quite a few of us have borrowed money beyond the limit, haven't been smart enough to dodge bank failures, are behind with the rent and everything else, and are trying to figure out how or what we will eat tomorrow. But, as you say, "there's nothing to worry about, get a good night's sleep," &c.

REPLY.

I have written many pages on the subject you ask about. But I presume it will have to be covered many more times. Overcoming the worry habit is a matter of training. There is no magic about it. It differs from the rabbit-out-of-the-hat procedure. Neither wishful thinking nor a Pollyanna attitude will cure the worry habit.

So many people are looking for a short cut in this, as in the use of drugs and, for that matter, in getting rich. As a rule, such people are unwilling to earn their way out of bad habits or anything else.

MACKS 8-5 FAVORITES AS WORLD SERIES OPENS TODAY; DERRINGER, CARDS' CHOICE, LIKELY TO OPPOSE GROVE

This MORNING with SHIRLEY L. POVICH

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Sept. 30.—The imprints of defeats in 1928 and 1929 still show vividly in the attitude of St. Louis fandom on the eve of another world series. The city turned out in an enthusiastic baseball holiday on Tuesday to celebrate the victory of its Cardinals in the National League pennant race and cheer them on to world series triumph against the Athletics, but their confidence is based more on hope than expectation or logic, and withal there is a feeling that fans here are merely whistling to keep their courage up.

St. Louis fans have not forgotten the world series of 1928, when their Cardinals went into the game against the Yankees as the favorites only to be routed in four straight games by the home-run bats of Ruth and Gehrig. Last year hopes again were high, against the Athletics, until Lefty Grove and George Earnshaw and Jimmy Foxx crammed incipient cheers of St. Louis fans back down their collective throats.

As tidings reached the city today of the Chicago White Sox's 9-0 triumph over the Cubs in the Chicago city series, fans in many quarters seemed to sense a realization that the American League was superior all down the line, for the White Sox finished a lowly eighth in the American, while the Cubs were considered one of the strongest of the National League clubs.

This Paul Derringer, whom Gabby Street has designated as his pitching choice for the opening game tomorrow, is a product of the extensive St. Louis farm system, although it is denied that he was unearthed in an ant hill by the St. Louis scouting force.

Derringer's debut with the Cardinals down in the Florida training camp at Bradenton, was everything but auspicious. The possessor of one of the most complicated windups in pitching history, Derringer came to grief in his first windup. Winding up to deliver his first pitch before the critical eyes of Manager Street and his managerial aids, Derringer bent far over on his side. He never came up with the ball in his hand, his glove caught in the spikes of his shoes and he went down in a heap on the pitching mound. Several strained muscles were the result and his debut was delayed for a matter of weeks.

In his first year in the majors, Derringer has been a comparative sensation, winning 18 games and losing 8. The figures speak more eloquently when it is realized that no pitcher in the league was able to win 20 games, while a half dozen hurlers have topped that mark in the American.

Derringer's forte is a fast ball, for he is a husky lad and gets his entire body into each delivery, hurling himself almost out of the box on every pitch. But, for a youngster, he boasts remarkable control and that has contributed largely to the fact that he has been the most consistent of Street's pitchers.

Derringer's style is also notable in that he features, too, a change of pace reputed to rank second only to Herb Pennock's. The habit of mixing up the pitches has become virtually a lost art in the major leagues and, as a result, every batter who strides to the plate is set for a fast ball or fast curve.

The late Urban Shocker, of the Browns, was another clever exponent of the change of pace. Goose Goslin, when he was with Washington, was one of Shocker's pet victims. Shocker would float a slow ball at Goslin and break into a raucous laugh as the Goose took a roundhouse swing a full second before the ball reached the plate. Then it was Shocker's habit to throw a fast ball at the Goose, who, poised for another slow one, was so far off balance he had no time to take his bat from his shoulder as the ball sped by.

Oglethorpe Is Offered Chicago Charity Date

Atlanta, Sept. 30 (A.P.).—Dr. Thornwell Jacobs, president of Oglethorpe University, announced today the school had been invited to play a benefit football game at Soldiers' Field, Chicago, Saturday, November 21, by the Illinois department of the Disabled Veterans of the World War.

Teams offered as opponents are Carnegie Tech, Princeton, Alabama, Cornell, Penn State, Tennessee, Colorado, Utah, Vanderbilt or Washington and Jefferson, any one of which has an open date November 21.

Dr. Jacobs did not say whether the invitation would be accepted.

THE WORLD SERIES AT POST BUILDING

The Post again will bring the world series home to Washington fans by its magnetic scoreboard, radio and public address system.

See each game depicted on the front of The Post Building exactly as it transpires on the scenes of action at St. Louis and Philadelphia starting this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

Every movement of the baseball in each of the series games can be followed accurately as the magnetic ball moves across the scoreboard illustrating a strikeout, putout, single, double, triple home run or error.

A member of The Post sports staff will supplement the radio accounts, detailing the progress of the game and describing the characteristics of each player as he assumes the limelight. Next best to a box seat is The Post's scoreboard.

D. C. Elevens In 6 Games Saturday

G. U. Faces 1st Test in Western Md. at Stadium.

Maryland, Virginia in Annual Clash at College Park.

STREAKING down the path of college football on the dynamite end of a two-year winning streak, the Green Terrors of Western Maryland move into Griffith Stadium Saturday, there to battle Georgetown University, which twice has taken it on the collective chin from the Mountaineers. This tussle, together with Maryland's traditional Virginia game, lend to Saturday's grid card a dignity not often found in a season in its second week of life.

Not to be overlooked in the scramble for seats for Saturday's gridfests is the homecoming of Catholic University's 1931 standardbearers, who will take on something of a breather in City College of New York. Reasonable odds are also to be obtained on George Washington to run over Elon in jig time at Central High Stadium.

American U. and Gallaudet, both hit heavily in vital spots by graduations, open their respective seasons Saturday on foreign fields. American drops down to Lynchburg to meet Lynchburg College, while Callaudet is tackling Loyola of Baltimore, there.

Maryland, Virginia Have Nine 1930 Men.

Nine regulars of Maryland will appear against Virginia, as they did in 1930, when the Old Line won, 14-6, and the Cavaliers are bringing along an equal number of veterans of last year's battle. Three District boys, all of whom shone in high school here, are coming to College Park with Virginia, Homer Drissell, 1928 Tech High captain; Eugene Stevens, former Central satellite, and Milton Abramson, former Devitt prepman.

The grimest sort of attitude is prevalent at Georgetown, where inability to score on Western Maryland for two straight years has not added to the joy of both players and student body.

Making use of City College plays, the C. U. freshmen yesterday served as fodder for the attack of the varsity teams. The second big team gained more ground against the plebes than did the regulars. Neither Phil Grossnor Jim Lyons, big linemen, will start the game, because of minor injuries.

Purple Frosh Name Tangora Grid Leader

Edmonston, Ill., Sept. 30.—Paul Tangora, husky Washington, D. C., prep school football product, was elected captain of the 1931 Northwestern University Freshman Team here today at a meeting of the giant squad.

Tangora was a mainstay for the Devitt Prep Team, of Washington, for three years. He is a tackle, and has clinched a berth on the Purple plebe outfit.

4 Birmingham Stars Banned From Eleven

Birmingham, Ala., Sept. 30 (A.P.).—Four football players of Birmingham-Southern College were suspended today for "extreme breach of college discipline."

They are Loy Vaughan, of Jasper, cocaptain and quarter back; Harold James, of Birmingham, end; J. T. Hand, of Dothan, tackle, and Milner Doster, of Dothan, substitute quarter back. All were on the varsity squad. The nature of the breach in discipline was not made public.

Mrs. Haynes Winner In Philadelphia Upset

Philadelphia, Sept. 30 (A.P.).—Three upsets enlivened the opening of the golf tournament for the Bertheliyn Cup at the Huntingdon Valley Country Club today, the casualties being Mrs. Glenna Collett Vare, Miss Edith Quier and Mrs. Helen B. Stetson.

Mrs. Vare, five times national champion, lost her first-round match to Mrs. William A. Johnson, 2 and 1.

Miss Quier, who won the cup in 1925, fell before the steady stroking of Mrs. J. Marvin Haynes, of Washington, D. C., who won, 2 up. Mrs. Haynes was able to enter the tournament only after winning a playoff against two others who qualified as she did with 91s.

Mrs. Stetson, also a former national title holder, lost, 2 up, to the youthful Miss Katherine Beach, of Montclair, N. J.

The elimination of Miss Jane McCullough by Mrs. George R. Johnson, 3 and 2, left the home club without a contender for the cup.

PRINTER-GOLFERS PLAY.

The third and final tournament of the Union Printcrafts Golf Association will be held at Beaver Dam Country Club October 12, 13 and 14. Eighteen holes of medal play, with a handicap based on the last two tournaments will be the order of the day.

The annual dinner will be held October 14.

Baseball World Puts Magnifying Glass on These Stars in Opener Today

Plenty of fuss and feathers is promised today when the Philadelphia Athletics tangle with the St. Louis Cardinals in the first game of the world series at Sportman's Park. The players pictured above promise to hold the spotlight. Al Simmons, left fielder, and Mickey Cochrane, catcher, will be ready to harass the National League hurler. Chick Hafey, left fielder, and Frankie Frisch, second baseman, are the Cards' big guns. Series-eve pitching selections are Paul Derringer, St. Louis, and Lefty Grove, Philadelphia.

Shires Passed Up in Draft; No Players Drawn by Nats

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 30 (A.P.).—The Cincinnati Nationals tonight drafted Clyde Manion, promising catcher from the Milwaukee Club of the American Association at the opening of the draft meeting, presided over by Kenesaw Mountain Landis, commissioner of baseball.

Under the rules, C. Arthur Shires, the self-confessed great man and Milwaukee first baseman, will be retained by the Brewers or later sold, as the rules prohibit drafting of more than one player from a class AA or a class A league.

Only three clubs in the American League, the White Sox, Browns and Yankees, took advantage of the draft.

American League—White Sox, Carey Selph, Houston, Tex.; St. Louis Browns, Westcott Kingdon, a shortstop from the Chattanooga Club, of the Southern Association; New York Yankees, Frank Nekola, a right-handed pitcher, from Jersey City, of the International League.

National League—Cincinnati, Clyde Manion, from the Milwaukee Club, of the American Association; Boston, Walter Betts, right-handed pitcher, of St. Paul, of the American Association; William Hargrave, catcher, from Baltimore, of the Interantional League; Frank Coleman, pitcher, from Scranton, of New York-Penn League; Philadelphia, George Knothe, a shortstop, of New Orleans, in the Southern Association; Al Todd, a catcher, from the Dallas Club, of the Texas League; Chicago Cubs, Allen Newsome, a pitcher, from the Little Rock Club, of the Southern Association; Marvin Gudat, a pitcher and outfielder, of the Columbus Club, of the American Association.

Betts, the right-handed pitcher acquired from St. Paul by the Boston Braves, shut out Rochester today in the opening game of the little world series, holding Rochester to six hits.

Roettger's Homer, 3 On, Wins for St. Paul, 4-0

St. Paul, Sept. 30 (A.P.).—A terrific eighth-inning line drive over the left field fence by Oscar Roettger with three men on the bases gave St. Paul the opening game of the little world series with Rochester today, 4 to 0.

The game had been a tight pitching battle between Walter ("Huck") Betts, for the Association champions, and Carmen Hill, of the International League, up to that inning.

Betts himself started the inning with a sizzling single to center over second. Anderson sacrificed him to second and Saltzgaver walked. Davis beat out an infield hit to third base and the stage was set for Roettger's clout on the roof of a dance hall adjacent to the park.

It was the second hit of the game for the first baseman who goes to the Philadelphia Athletics next year.

The game may prove costly to the Red Wings in more than one way. George Sisler, former big league star now playing first base for the International League Club, aggravated an old injury to his groin going to first in the second inning on a single, and was forced to retire from the game. Judd ran for him and then Jack Bentley took the first sack when Rochester went back to the field.

GLASS TO ATTEND SERIES.

(Associated Press.)

Senator Carter Glass, of Lynchburg, who enjoys a baseball game as much as any other senator and as well as most rooting fans, is going to the world's series when the games open at Philadelphia next Monday.

Leonard in Comeback Against Silvers Oct. 6

New York, Sept. 30 (U.P.).—Benny Leonard, retired undefeated world's lightweight champion, will make his "comeback debut" in a ten-round bout with Pal Silvers, New York middleweight, at Queensboro Stadium, October 6.

Leonard had previously signed to make his first New York appearance against Paulie Walker, capable Trenton, N. J., youngster, at Madison Square Garden. The State Athletic Commission, however, balked at approving the contest as a featured $10 attraction and ordered Leonard first to prove his ability in one of the smaller clubs.

LEVINSKY BEATS SEKYRA.

Chicago, Sept. 30 (A.P.).—King Levinsky, the former Maxwell street fish peddler, slugged out a victory over Joe Sekyra, of Dayton, in ten bruising rounds at the Coliseum tonight.

GOLF WOMEN NEAR FINALS IN CANADA

Miss Orcutt, Three Others From U. S., Among Survivors.

TORONTO, Ontario, Sept. 30 (A.P.).—Four players from the United States, two from Canada, and two from Great Britain marched into the quarter-final round of the Canadian Women's Golf Championship today with only a few traces of real competition.

At the end of the second round of match play the defending champion, Maureen Orcutt, of Englewood, N. J.; Virginia Van Wie, of Chicago; Mrs. O. S. Hill, of Kansas City, and Marion Hollins of Santa Cruz, Calif., were left to carry on the United States half of the battle for the title and the Duchess of Connaught Cup. Enid Wilson, the British champion, and Marjorie Kerr represented England, and Mrs. Alexa Stirling Fraser, of Ottawa, and Marjorie Kirkham, of Montreal, Canadian closed champion, carried on for Canada.

Brilliant sunshine and high temperatures made things comfortable for the players today, and most of the stars took advantage of the good playing conditions to win by wide margines. Miss Orcutt advanced at the expense of another star from below the border, Mrs. Harley C. Higbie, of Detroit, winning 6 up and 5 to play. The veteran, Mrs. Hill downed another Detroiter, Mrs. John Arends, 7 and 5, shooting comparatively high scores. Hiss Hollins eliminated Mrs. E. W. Whittington, of Toronto, 3 and 2.

The closest match of the day came when Miss Van Wie downed Miss Mackenzie, holder of many Canadian titles, 1 up in nineteen holes. The Canadian star won the first two holes and then they halved the next ten. Miss Van Wie squared the match by taking the thirteenth and fifteenth and finally won by shooting a 4 on the extra hole to Miss Mackenzie's 5.

Pegler Consults Figures And Finds the Answer to Series Problem Is Macks

(World's Premier Expert of the National Game).

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Sept. 30.—A careful analysis of the dope, including the offensive and defensive features, as well as the element of chance, clearly indicates to me that the Athletics have a preponderance of .0002 in the impending blue-ribbon series of baseball against the St. Louis Cardinals. On this basis, taking into consideration the fact that Sparky Adams may not play owing to having an injured foot, and allowing for a surprise move by the canny Connie Mack, I am picking the Athletics to beat the Cardinals unless Gabby Street's men show unexpected strength at bat and in the field.

This contingency I have provided for by subtracting .0046 of a percentage point from the reserve account and transferring .0006 of a percentage point from the current operating column, thus leaving a deficit of .062, an apparent advantage in favor of the Cardinals. But this advantage is only apparent and not actual when you come to consider that Joe Boley is not able to play owing to having an injured foot, thus discounting Adams' injured foot and partially retiring the .0001 of a point represented by Jess Haines' not playing owing to having an injured ligament in his shoulder.

In my scale of calculations, an injured foot for Adams counts for .0021 of a point, whereas Boley's having his foot hurt counts either .0032 or .0022 of a point, according to whether it is his right foot or his left, respectively, he being right-footed in some things but left-footed in others.

These figures are as nearly accurate as science can get, and say what you will, you can not flaunt the cold, hard dope of the mathematical statistics.

The dope percentage points on injuries are one of the most important factors in arriving at your conclusions in a time like this and perhaps it would be a good idea to open my books to you and show you how simple it is to dope a world series. But it must be remembered that accuracy is the main feature to remember because a slight error, such as writing down .0013 of a point by mistake for .0103 might make the difference between a pop fly and a home run with a runner on second and your results will not be reliable.

Injuries are counted in the dope percentage points as follows:

Injury.	Points.
Injured foot	.0012
Sore thumb	.1111
Extra sore thumb	.1112
Not feeling good	.0201
Hand cut by glass (infected blister	.0202
Mild-red, central	.0435
Fell in bath tub	.1004
Lunch	.0085
Tip	.0005
Black eye (bumped door in dark)	.0026
Arrive, Grand Central	.1245

Mack Jokes About Pitchers, Says Krausse Has Chance

By EDWARD J. NEIL.

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 30 (A.P.).—Connie Mack's world champion Athletics rolled into town late today on a wave of roaring confidence to get at Gabby Street's St. Louis Cardinals tomorrow afternoon in the first game of the world series.

Down a narrow lane of what apparently was a small section of St. Louis unemployed, lank Lefty Grove led the procession, the inevitable black "segar" tip tilted from his teeth, a wide grin on his narrow features.

"You're good, Lefty," some one in the crowd shouted. "But you're gonna get beat. We'll lick you sure this time."

The long left-hander, with 31 pitching victories to his credit over the season, just grinned back at the greeting. Behind him trailed Al Simmons, the slugging ace, a big smile on his face. Self-consciously the rest of the Athletics followed—round-faced Jimmy Foxx, the first-base powerhouse; dark Bing Miller, blonde Max Bishop, chunky Jimmy Dykes, "Big Jarge" Earnshaw, Dapper Mickey Cochrane, limping Joe Boley, "Mule" Haas and the rest.

They were bundled into flag-bedecked automobiles and started immediately the procession to their hotel on the outskirts of the city.

There was little excitement as the special train ambled into the station. Mayor Victor Miller was on the platform to greet officially the team that conquered his home-town representatives in the six games in the 1930 classic. He had his picture taken with Connie Mack, the 68-year-old pilot of the champions.

During the day, as the train rolled through Ohio, Indiana and into Missouri the players lolled about in the Pullman, playing cards, reading, some dozing, others watching the scenery,

Nats Again to Train At Biloxi in Spring

President Clark Griffith last night announced that Biloxi, Miss., again would be the spring training base of the Nationals, who will open their third annual camp there late next February. As was the case last spring, the Washington club will do a "brother act" with the Baltimore Internationals in exhibition games, the Orioles having decided to return to Gulfport, about 12 miles from Biloxi.

Chisox Rout Cubs, 9-0, In City Series Opener

Wrigley Field, Chicago, Sept. 30 (A.P.).—Donie Bush's White Sox, which finished last in the American League, drew first blood in the Chicago championship series with the Chicago Cubs, third-place National League entry, here this afternoon when they turned in a one-sided 9 to 0 victory.

It was not until the sixth that the American Leaguers unloosed the long pent up power of their bats to push over seven runs and two more were added in the seventh to gain their head start in the series.

So good was Urban (Red) Faber today that he failed to walk a single batsman. Only one Cub reached third base and he got there because of a two-base muff by Johnny Kerr. Faber never was in serious trouble, and the seven-run rally by his mates in the sixth gave him enough rest to keep plodding along without any difficulty.

Up until the noisy sixth, the White Sox were held to two scattered hits by Charley Root, ace of the Cub pitching staff.

Derringer, Superstitious, Shuns Camera on Eve of Series Debut

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 30 (A.P.).—Paul Derringer, 25-year-old pitching "freshman" who will start the world series for the Cardinals tomorrow, observed an ancient and superstitious baseball custom today by refusing to be photographed while working out at Sportsman's Park.

On the same ground, that it's bad luck to be photographed before a big battle Manager Gabby Street declined to collect his athletes for a group picture.

PIRATES WANT SANDLOTTER.

Columbia, S. C., Sept. 30 (A.P.).—Kirby Higbe, 16-year-old right-handed pitcher on the Columbia American Legion Junior Baseball Team, the Eastern champions, today said he has been proffered a contract by the Pittsburgh Pirates and would sign it.

Coast Fans Ride Rails to Series; Only Capital Is Price of Bleachers

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 30 (U.P.).—Probably the most enthusiastic fan here was the second man in line for a bleacher seat, Dan Corcoran, of Portland, Oreg. He arrived here with only the price of a bleacher ticket—$1—in his pocket after riding the rods from the Coast.

"I ain't never seen a big league game," Corcoran said, "and seeing I was out of a job, and didn't have anything else to do, I came on to see a world series game."

There were other prominent fans here, too, the governors of Arkansas and Kansas, and Senator Jim Reed, as well as all the major circuit officials. Even "One Eye" Connelly had to pop up with his usual yarn about having only $1.50 in his pocket.

National Mat Group Names Londos Champ

St. Louis, Sept. 30 (A.P.).—The championship committee of the National Wrestling Association, at a meeting here today, recognized Jim Londos, of St. Louis, as world's heavyweight wrestling champion and ordered him to post $5,000 forfeit within ten days to meet within six months any one of twenty "logical contenders" named by the committee.

Londos will be required to meet the contender selected by the committee at a time and place named by the committee and under its conditions and supervision.

Street Elects To Gamble On Rookie

Manager Says Star Has Stuff to Win Over Macks.

Mack Keeps Silence on His Pitching Selections.

By ALAN GOULD
(Associated Press Sports Editor).

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 30 (A.P.).—The world series, baseball's big show and one of the most picturesque pageants of American sport, will be launched tomorrow with prospects of balmy weather, a boom-time capacity crowd and a dramatic pitching duel between Lefty Grove, ace of the world champion Athletics, and Paul Derringer, freshman star of the St. Louis Cardinals.

Good times or otherwise, the world series annually commands a national interest second to nothing else in the country's sporting activity. This year is no exception, as the championship clubs of the American and National Leagues come to grips in their struggle for diamond supremacy.

Sportsman's Park has been sold out for the first two games, so far as reserved seats are concerned. A capacity crowd of nearly 40,000 is expected to cheer Gabby Street's Cardinals as they begin a fight to stop the onrush of Connie Mack's machine, one of the greatest in modern baseball.

Cards Underdogs Again.

The National League's gallant but crippled forces enter the series again as underdogs, after four consecutive and decisive setbacks at the hands of their rivals. Even the entuhsiasm of hometown support, the advantage of starting on their own grounds and the widespread admiration for Manager Gabby Street failed tonight to cloak the fact there is more hope than conviction in the chances of the Red Birds overthrowing the world champions. The Athletics ruled 8-to-5 favorites to capture their third straight crown and deservedly so on the record and "dope."

The American League's forces have captured 16 of the last 19 series contests. If the Athletics triumph again, they will set a new all-time club record of three straight and a league record of five consecutive championships.

St. Louis is carrying the National League banner for the fourth time in six years. The Cardinals of 1926 were the last representatives of the senior circuit to win the world championship. Their shrewd and popular leader, Gabby Street, is confident his club is the one destined to turn the tide, in spite of a succesion of late-season injuries.

The Cardinals have lost their veteran right-hander, Jesse Haines, for the series. They probably will start with a substitute, Andy High, at third base instead of Earl (Sparky) Adams, who twisted an ankle 10 days ago and is still hobbling. They will have a semicasualty in center field, the youthful Pepper Martin, who has a slightly damaged leg.

Street Gambles On Derringer.

They will gamble in the box with Paul Derringer, powerful young right-hander with a remarkable first year record but no previous experience whatever in world series combat.

"We have survived a flock of difficulties before and came out on top," declared Street tonight. "We have had some tough luck but it's going to make my boys scrap that much harder. I will start Derringer and don't make any mistake about him. He has the stuff to win. If he does, just watch us."

This seemed to sum up the prevalent feeling. Although nine out of ten of the assembled experts predicted a decisive victory for the Athletics, they agreed the National League champions would be hard to stop if they got off to a winning start behind Derringer, the only freshman pitcher ever accorded the distinction of an opening world series assignment.

Connie Mack, arriving this afternoon with his championship collection of stars, maintained his usual reticence in discussing pitching prospects. There was no reason, however, to doubt he would again adopt the orthodox system of rotating Robert Moses Grove, greatest of modern pitchers, and George Livingston Earnshaw, right-handed hero of the 1930 battle.

CLOCK TOWER ALWAYS LEADS IN HAVRE DE GRACE FEATURE

Valenciennes Beaten by Length

Hertz Filly's Challenge in Stretch Falls Short.

Tred Avon Is Third After Leading in Early Stages.

By J. B. SNODGRASS.
Special to The Washington Post.

HAVRE DE GRACE RACE TRACK, Sept. 30. — Several thousand Philadelphians and 500 members of the Penn Athletic Club came down from Billy Penn's town and saw Morton L. Schwartz' Clock Tower race a mile and a sixteenth in 1:45 4-5, to win the feature, which was named in honor of the popular club. At the conclusion of the race officers of the Penn Athletic Club presented Trainer Maxie Hirsch with a handsome silver trophy. Jockey Tex Callahan, who rode Clock Tower, was presented with a pair of gold cuff links by members of the Penn Athletic Club.

Callahan shot Clock Tower on top soon after the start and, despite the numerous bids made by S. W. Labrot's Tred Avon, continued to set the pace right down to the pay-off line.

Tred Avon's efforts told on her in the stretch and she had to relinquish the place to Mrs. John D. Hertz's Valenciennes.

Secondary Feature Won by Surf Board.

The Prospect, the day's second feature, at 6 furlongs, saw the Greentree Stable's Surf Board winning in 1:12, the fastest time of the meeting.

Surf Board's victory enabled the stable, Trainer Rowe and Jockey Kurtsinger to make it a double. The colt remained well back of Magnifico and Rip Van Winkle until straightened out in the home stretch, where he went up fast to win by a length from Rip Van Winkle. Magnifico just lasted for the show money.

The Yarrow Brae, one of the day's trio of features, found the Greentree Stable's Espinaca getting up in the final stride of the 6-furlong journey to win by a nose from William Zeigler jr.'s Phantom Legion and pay $48.20. Well back of his field until straightened out in the home stretch, Espinaca, under a powerful finish by Charlie Kurtsinger, got up in the closing stride to win by a nose from William Zeigler, jr.'s, Phantom Legion, J. F. Schorr's Frederick was third.

The Glen Riddle Farm scored its first victory of the Maryland fall season when War Plane outran a field of eleven other 2-year-olds in the 6 furlongs of the second.

Off slowly, Steffen went around his field, swinging for home, and won by two lengths from Altmark, the favorite, with Mea third.

Monocle Shows Form in Taking Opener.

The day's sport was opened with John J. Farrell's Monocle winning from eleven other maidens. Jockey Gordon, after being far back the first half mile, closed fast in the stretch to trim Launcelot, the favorite, and Sir Wrack.

Otto Blank's Workless, 4-year-old chestnut gelded son of Hourless and Patchwork, raced a mile and one-quarter in 2:08, to win the sixth.

—Havre de Grace Selections—

By J. B. SNODGRASS

HAVRE DE GRACE RACE TRACK, Md., Sept. 30.—Five fleet sprinters are scheduled to dash six furlongs in the Deep Falls Handicap, which will feature the racing here tomorrow. Cornelius V. Whitney's HALCYON, in well under 110 pounds, may be winner of the Deep Falls. The speedy son of Broomstick is in great shape. Before coming here HALCYON had The Beasel, an extremely fast mare, straight as a string in a race at Saratoga Springs.

FOLLOW ON is one of the most improved horses in training. HALCYON will likely have him to beat. FOLLOW ON just failed to outlast the fleet and game Con Amore in a six furlong sprint here last Saturday. BLACK MAJESTY won his last start in New York. He beat a high class field of selling platers. AVALON and GOLDEN PRINCE are the others entered in the Deep Falls.

FIRST RACE—RABBIT SKIN, if she gets off the also eligible list, will be hard to catch in the day's opener. The filly couldn't have missed here last Thursday had she not stepped in a hole at the eighth pole when enjoying a good lead. She came back Saturday and set the early pace in the Eastern Shore Handicap. BIRD NEST, another on the waiting list, ran a good race her first and only start. She comes from a good stable. TEMPLE BELLS and GLORIA MARIS figure in the order named.

SECOND RACE—SNAPPY SNUB should outstep the cheap ones named to go in the second. ANGRY PLUME gets a good figure on New York form. FAIR DAWN has been knocking at the door. FAIR BETH would prefer a longer route.

THIRD RACE—MONEL may never be hsaded in the Glen Wild, for 2-year-olds foaled in Maryland. The Sir Greysteel filly has been outstepping fleeter youngsters than she will oppose here this time. LOUIS MERRYMAN ran a winning race Monday when he finished fourth. He was away slowly and closed an immense gap. The colt changed hands after that race. GRAND ACRE may get up to beat TARQUIN. The latter has been training well. He will be coupled in the betting with MAJOR GENERAL.

FIFTH RACE—WHITE CLOVER II has beaten MORSEL twice and HOT TODDY once since the current meeting got under way. He should be able to lick a horse like BERBER, despite the fact the latter ran a clever race to beat Sunvir. INCEPTION has been running in steeplechases. He will hardly do. All things considered, WHITE CLOVER II shapes up as the most probable winner of the day. MORSEL should hold HOT TODDY safe.

SIXTH RACE—The sixth is an extremely open race. Tips will be plentiful at post time. STAR LASSIE scored so easily last Saturday we must take her to repeat. EAGER PLAY, on best races, figures close up. YOUR FLAG ran a good race last Monday.

SEVENTH RACE—RUANE returned to competition last Thursday after a long layoff and raced in his best form to whip the same class of platers he will meet in the nightcap. The 7-year-old Behave Yourself horse looks like a repeater. VIMONT needs only to repeat his last winning effort to be close up. RUANE beat him the last time they met.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—MONOCLE, $10.80, $4.10, $3.50; LAUNCELOT, $3.30, $3.00; SIR WRACK, $9.80.

MONOCLE, shuffled back going to the first turn, worked his way up stoutly on the outside to reach contention, assumed a brief lead in the final furlong and outstayed LAUNCELOT in the final stride. LAUNCELOT, heartily placed in the early stages, came with good courage when placed to punishment. SIR WRACK raced BROWN MARY into defeat, but weakened fast in the last quarter mile. AREV showed a good test for the entire trip. PANTAGRUEL had speed in spots. MAGOTHY closed fast from a slow beginning. BROWN MARY stopped from her early pace.

SECOND RACE—Six furlongs. Purse, $1,300; claiming. For 2-year-olds. Start good from stalls. Won driving; place same. Went to post at 2:53. Off at 2:58½. Winner, Glen Riddle Farm's ch. g. Two-dollar mutuels paid—WAR PLANE, $22.70, $6.90, $4.00; ALTMARK, $3.30, $2.70; MEA, $3.20.

WAR PLANE, away fast and kept in close attendance of the pacemakers, closed determinedly when placed to punishment during the stretch run, wore ALTMARK down and was going away at the end. ALTMARK, hard ridden to secure a forward position, went around the pacemakers to take command, but tired nearing the finish. MEA, in tight quarters rounding the turn, finished fast when clear. JAMBALAYA was held safe throughout. PRINCEL showed good speed for a half mile. TRIPLE THREAT was making up ground at the end. SCION had a rough trip. GOLDEN SPUR stopped.

THIRD RACE—Six furlongs. Purse, $1,400; allowances. The Arrow Brae. For 2-year-olds. Start good from stalls. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 3:29. Off at 3:30½. Winner, Greentree Stable's br. c. (2), by Epinard—Prudish. Trained by J. Fitzsimmons. Value to winner, $1,000; second, $225; third, $125; fourth, $50. Time, 0:23, 0:46 4-5, 1:12 4-5.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—ESPINACA, $48.20, $18.90, $9.00; PHANTOM LEGION, $10.60, $6.20; FREDERICK, $8.30.

ESPINACA, favored by the rapid early pace, was rated along until leaving the back stretch, came to the outside for the closing drive, finished resolutely and was up in the final strides. PHANTOM LEGION followed in near pursuit of the leaders, challenged stoutly when straightened into the home stretch and just failed to get up. FREDERICK, from the start, shook off keen contention from CAPACITY and MASKED KNIGHT, and held on gamely under severe pressure. MASKED KNIGHT saved ground the entire trip. He weakened during the closing stages. STEPPING SISTER finished strong. CAPACITY was eased up when he stopped suddenly.

FOURTH RACE—Six furlongs. Purse, $1,500. The Prospect. For 3-year-olds. Start good from stalls. Won easily; driving. Went to post at 4:00. Off at 4:05. Winner, Greentree Stable's ch. c. Two-dollar mutuels paid—SURF BOARD, $10.10, $4.60, $2.60; RIP VAN WINKLE, $20.80, $8.60; MAGNIFICO, $3.20.

SURF BOARD, restrained for the first half mile, went to the leaders when ready, wore the pacemakers down and had speed in reserve at the finish. RIP VAN WINKLE, showing keen speed, raced MAGNIFICO into submission, but was unable to withstand the winner. MAGNIFICO weakened fast during the stretch run. SUNEROS went wide throughout. GAY BIRD appeared high in flesh and may need racing. RIENZI was outclassed.

FIFTH RACE—One and one-sixteenth miles. Purse, $2,000. The Penn A. C. Handicap. For 3-year-olds and upward. Start good from stalls. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 4:35. Off at 4:37. Winner, M. L. Schwartz's br. or blk. c. (3), by Snob II—Daylight Saving. Trained by M. Hirsch. Value to winner, $1,400; second, $350; third, $150; fourth, $100. Time, 0:24 3-5, 0:49 4-5, 1:15, 1:39 4-5, 1:45 4-5.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—CLOCK TOWER, $12.50, $6.50, $3.40; VALENCIENNES, $7.10, $3.50; TRED AVON, $2.60.

CLOCK TOWER, going in his best form, took command without being rushed, was rated along under steadying restraint, resisted repeated efforts from TRED AVON and had enough left to stall off VALENCIENNES, never far from the leaders, who sprinted gamely to punishment and finished with good speed. TRED AVON, taken in hand in the early stages, weakened steadily during the final three furlongs. STORM saved ground all the way. He was making up ground steadily.

SIXTH RACE—One and one-quarter miles. Purse, $1,300; claiming. For 3-year-olds and upward; horses and geldings. Start good from stalls. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 5:05. Off at 5:11. Winner, O. Blank's ch. g. (4), by Hourless—Patchwork. Trained by P. Clausen. Value to winner, $950; second, $200; third, $100; fourth, $50. Time, 0:24 2-5, 0:49, 1:14 4-5, 1:41 3-5, 2:08.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—WORKLESS, $5.50, $4.00, $3.60; PLAIN DEALER, $12.40, $8.00; MANZANA, $13.60.

WORKLESS moved up on the outside midway of the back stretch, took command when nearing the final furlong pole, but had to be kept under stiff pressure to make good. PLAIN DEALER, rated in front and saving ground, continued with good courage after being displaced. MANZANA, allowed to drop out of early contention, came with good speed when shaken up. HARRISH was going steadily at the end. BYE AND BYE could not keep pace when the real issue came. GLENNO lacked early speed.

SEVENTH RACE—One and one-quarter miles. Purse, $1,300; claiming. For 3-year-olds and upward; horses and geldings. Start good from stalls. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 5:40. Off at 5:44. Winner, Mrs. B. F. Christmas' b. g. (3), by Johren—Corilla. Trained by B. F. Christmas. Value to winner, $950; second, $200; third, $100; fourth, $50. Two-dollar mutuels paid—JORICO, $8.10, $4.60, $3.40; RUBAN ROUGE, $5.60, $3.50; DADDY NELSON, $2.80.

JORICO, on the inside from the beginning, was badly blocked and forced to take up midway of the last turn, recovered quickly and, circling his field, wore the leaders down to set up approaching the finish. RUBAN ROUGE, as usual slow to bet going, finished with a belated rush. DADDY NELSON entered contention with good speed and fought it out stubbornly after shaking off JIMMY D. Latter had good early speed and held on with good courage for the final drive. OLD SOL had speed in spots.

POLO GAMES AT FORT MYER

2 Contests Today to Inaugurate 5-Goal Tournament.

THE annual Fort Myer 5-goal polo tournament will get under way today with the Sixteenth Field Artillery clashing with the Marshall, Va., team at the Fort and the Quantico Marine Mallet Welders engaging the War Department Whites at Potomac Park at 3:30 p. m.

Two matches will be played each day of the tournament which will run until October 7. One game will be at Fort Myer and the other at Potomac Park.

Maj. A. D. Surles heads the executive committee in charge of the tournament. Capt. Lucian K. Truscott and First Lieut. Frederick W. McKinney, the latter a member of the all-Army polo team, will act as referees. Tomorrow the War Department Reds oppose the Third Cavalry Wellows at Potomac Park, and the War Department Blues play Fort Humphreys at Fort Myer.

Teams competing include the three War Department quartets, Reds, Whites and Blues, Third Cavalry, Sixteenth Field Artillery, 110th Field Artillery National Guard, Quantico Marines, Fort Humphreys and Marshall, Va.

PITCHERS HOLD BIG EDGE OVER BATTERS IN WEEK-DAY PLAY

Corkins Tops Hurlers in Title Set

G. P. O. Ace Wins 4 Games as Team Cops Honors.

Riley, Commerce, Is Next Best; Thompson Tops Hitters.

PITCHING, and not batting, won the week-day title for Government Printing Office in the series ended Monday, according to figures released last night by Edward J. Conover, official scorer of the series.

Frank Corkins, the veteran who twirled the Printers to victory in two of their three games with Commerce after battling to a tie in the regular schedule, topped the mound artists with four wins against no defeats. He was closely followed by Leon Riley with one less victory.

Thompson Heads Batters With .450 Mark.

Thompson, of Eldbrooke, sporting an average of .450, and O'Donnell, with a mark of .428, captured the batting honors. Wells, of Commerce, drove out the most hits, twelve in number, just one more than "Hot Doggie" Homan, of the champs. "Hot Doggie's" nine runs gave him the edge in this respect. He also slammed two home runs, one more than Lew Hollis, a teammate. Wells, of Commerce, and Hunt, of Eldbrooke, tied in the matter of stolen bases with five each. Leon Riley achieved distinction by fanning thirteen opponents in one game.

Quantico Eleven Off For Scranton Game

Quantico, Va., Sept. 30.—Thirty strong, the Quantico Marine Leathernecks will depart early this morning, bound for Scranton, Pa., where St. Thomas College eleven is met tomorrow night under the arclights. Coach Lieut. George W. McHenry yesterday sent his Marines through their last workout before the big tiff, and none of the squad suffered injuries through the long scrimmage.

McHenry announced that the starting lineup would read: Farrell and Adams, ends; Shew and Copple, tackles; Gann and Stuckwisch, guards; Hastead, center, while the backs would be chosen from Robertson, Geher, O'Neill, Young, Bauer, Booth, Sheff, Butler and Williford. Substitutes are Tressley, Trees, Brant, Burger, Budd, Moret, Williams and John Farrell.

The team will be accompanied by Coach McHenry, Sergt. Green B. Evans, trainer; Corp. H. S. Beck, property man and Lieut. Irwin L. Norman, team physician.

POTOMACS SEEK FOE.

The Potomac A. C. will have its new field available for a game Sunday and would like to book a strong foe in the 135 pound class. Manager "Dutch" Williams is arranging the schedule at Cleveland 3014.

ST. LOUIS AWAITS START OF SERIES

field will be replaced by the person of "Pepper" Martin, equally as good a fly hawk and carrying a well-rounded batting punch. Douthit, a failure in the last three world series of the Cardinals, long since was traded to the Reds.

When the Athletics take the field, only one position will present a face strange to world series throngs. At shortstop, Dibbrell Williams will hold forth instead of the veteran, Joe Boley, according to the present plans of Manager Mack. Boley has been the first of the Athletics championship club to show the strain of years and has performed in but 65 games this season. Williams, not to be mentioned in the same class with Boley as a smooth and often brilliant infielder, can outhit Boley by 20 points. Only a resolve by Connie Mack to rely once more on his veteran, Boley, will keep the youthful Williams out of the line-up.

Rumors of Macks Choice Abound.

On the eve of the series, speculation centers on the known penchant of Connie Mack for doing the unexpected. Rumors that he will duplicate his strategy of 1929 and start one of his lesser lights in the opening game as he did with Howard Ehmke with such notable success against the Cubs, are as free as the night air. Waite Hoyt is the name heard most frequently, but Grove appears the man of the hour, and Grove it will be in the opening game according to the soundest precept of baseball. With Earnshaw to follow in the second game on Friday.

Grove out there on the pitching mound, shooting his fire ball at National League batters who have never seen the likes of his steaming curves since the series of 1930, gives the Athletics an easily recognizable advantage in the opening game. Twice last year he beat these same Cardinals. His record during the past season eclipses even his 1930 performance, with 31 victories and only 4 defeats. He looms invulnerable to Cardinal swatsmiths.

Derringer Star Of Staff.

Street has turned to the mainstay of his staff in Derringer. The rookie has been the most consistent of the St. Louis pitchers on a staff in which pitching talent is boasted in abundance with such names as Grimes, Hallahan and Johnson gracing the roster. Hallahan was one of the two St. Louis pitchers to turn back the Athletics last year, and he shut them out. But Derringer has outshone the clever little left hander this season. Grimes, veteran of many a crucial series, appears slated for the starting role in the second game.

Overshadowed on the pitching mound by the great Grove, neither do the Cardinals stack up with the concentration of hitting power in the Athletics batting order. Derringer will oppose, in Cochrane, Simmons, Foxx and Haas, a row of sluggers that has no rival in the National League. Derringer will truly be facing an ordeal of fire in his world series baptismal.

Grove exerted a consummate mastery over the sluggers in the Cardinals line-up last year. Frankie Frisch alone was able to redeem his batting prestige. Bottomley was a complete flop with only one hit during the series. Hafey, their other prize slugger, was handcuffed at the plate. Charley Gelbert, who lifted himself into a hero's role by his play at shortstop, proved a dangerous hitter, but the rank and file of the Cardinals were helpless before Philadelphia pitching, batting exactly .200.

But in the field, the Cardinals concede nothing to the Athletics. As a fielding team they are superior in every department with the exception of catching. They are faster on the bases and will take an extra base on the slightest provocation, compared to the dull record of the Athletics who were last in the league in respect to stolen bases.

Now to the task of predicting the winner. The odds are heavily in favor of the Athletics. But I am reminded of the sage injunction, "If you are going to be a damn fool, be sure of your facts." I am sure that the facts favor the Athletics. But I am going to stop there.

Mrs. Brownell, Medalist, Wins Indian Spring Title

Shatters Golf Tradition With Double-Win, Beating Mrs. Heap, 6 and 5, in Final; Manor Women to Finals.

By HENRY LITCHFIELD WEST.

MRS. J. V. BROWNELL yesterday shattered the old tradition that a medalist could not win a tournament when she defeated Mrs. A. C. Heap, 6 and 4, and secured the title of woman champion of the Indian Spring Club. At the turn Mrs. Brownell, who won the qualification medal with a card of 92, was 2 up and then won the tenth, eleventh and twelfth holes, so that the result thereafter was never in doubt.

Mrs. E. B. Wagner won the second flight, defeating Mrs. George Diffenbaugh, 2 up, while Mrs. H. L. Lacey won the third flight from Mrs. M. S. Hulsapple, 6 and 5. In the consolation of the first flight Mrs. J. H. Holland won from Mrs. Tom Moore, 1 up, and by the same margin Mrs. Hesselbach defeated Mrs. W. M. Smith in the consolation of the second flight. Mrs. Wilson Barrett won the consolation in the third flight.

The first round of match play in the Woodmont Club's women's championship tournament yesterday resulted as follows:

First flight—Mrs. Jerome Meyer defeated Mrs. L. B. Schloss, 6 and 5; Mrs. Jack Shulman defeated Mrs. Gilbert Hahn, 1 up; Miss Bertha Israel defeated Miss Sylvia Straus, 5 and 4; Mrs. T. D. Peyser defeated Mrs. J. G. Bensinger, 7 and 6.

Second flight—Mrs. Jesse Miller defeated Mrs. M. D. Montage, 8 and 6; Mrs. A. J. Stephens won over Miss Sylvia Sherby by default; Mrs. D. R. Simon defeated Mrs. Leon Oppenheimer, 1 up; Mrs. E. R. Nordlinger defeated bye.

Mrs. E. M. McClelland, the defending champion, will meet Mrs. D. N. Burnham this morning in the final round of the contest for the women's championship of the Manor Club. Yesterday in the semifinal round Mrs. McClelland defeated Mrs. L. C. Pray, 5 and 4, while Mrs. Burnham was victor over Mrs. J. T. Powell, 2 up. The summary of the matches yesterday:

First flight—Mrs. E. M. McClelland defeated Mrs. L. C. Pray, 5 and 4; Mrs. D. N. Burnham defeated Mrs. J. T. Powell, 2 up.

Second flight—Mrs. George D. See defeated Mrs. J. J. Hasley, 4 and 3; Mrs. George F. Miller defeated Mrs. F. A. Smith, 1 up, 19 holes.

Third flight—Mrs. R. E. Jones defeated Mrs. W. W. Tolcott, 1 up; Mrs. H. J. Kane defeated Mrs. J. G. Taylor, 2 and 1.

Fourth flight—Mrs. W. C. Geling defeated Mrs. George W. Riley, 6 and 5; Mrs. R. E. Burney defeated Mrs. Wilson Barrett, 5 and 4.

WOLVERINES PRACTICE.

The Wolverine unlimited football team will drill tonight and Saturday at 7 o'clock on the Virginia Avenue Playground in preparation for Sunday's game with the Brentwood Hawks. The Hawks will be met at 1 o'clock on No. 3 field of the Tidal Basin.

Team Tennis Play Ends 1931 Season

League Champions Meet for Title This Week-End at Wardman.

The swansong of the tennis season will be sung this week-end on the courts at Wardman when the six net teams which are champions of the six local leagues, encounter one another for the title of team champion of Washington. Matches will start Saturday at 1:30 o'clock and wind up some time late Sunday afternoon.

Henry Park, 1930 winners of the team get-together, may not be among those in the 1931 swim. Potomac Park has virtually won the Public Parks League, with Henry holding a precarious chance of still copping. The two teams meet today at Henry Park in an important postponed match, which will decide the champion of the league.

Edgewood, champions of the Capital City League, will open the show Saturday, meeting Standards, victors in the Suburban League. Navy Department, winners of the Departmental League, takes on the winner between Potomac and Henry in the other match of the day. Sunday morning Edgemoor Club, Country Club title holder, plays the winner between Standards and Edgewood, while Bankers meet the winners between Navy and the public parks team.

Matches will be composed of four singles and three doubles.

Chevy Chase Seniors Busy on Golf Links

An active month spreads out before the Chevy Chase Senior Golf Association. Play started this week for the Halloeen Cup; Capt. E. S. Kellogg put up a trophy for the best net medal score during October and Bob Barnett, club pro, has arranged another mixed senior-pro match for Monday.

The seniors' year ends on the last day of the month, when another kickers' tournament will be held.

SAINTS LIST PRACTICE.

The St. Stephen's eleven will drill tonight at 7:30 o'clock at Seventeenth and B streets northwest. Joe Bush will again coach the team. All members of the squad are requested to report promptly.

Szabo and Wilson Battle Tonight in Mat Feature

THE bone-bending behemoths of the rassle trust are advancing on town again, and at the rate they are progressing will reach Griffith Stadium tonight at 8:30 o'clock, when Matchmaker Joe Turner cracks a whip over a couple of preliminary boys and starts a card of five rassle fests.

On top of the program tonight is Sandor Szabo, the handsome Hungarian, who is expected to make goulash of Dr. Ralph Wilson, his opponent. Doc Wilson has not lost a match in Washington in a year, several draws being the closest he has come to losing, but it does not seem likely that his winning streak will continue tonight, what with Szabo able to draw 20,000 with Jim Londos in New York off and on.

Whether they are the two best wrestlers in the country is open to doubt, but there probably are not two better looking growlers in the business. They should put up a good exhibition, since both are young and have given every intimation of being honest.

Dick Shikat, rated by those in the wrestling know as the best of them all, will appear in the semifinal against one John Katan, whom he should beat by merely making a ferocious face.

Tiny Roebuck, a local brave, takes on Don De Laun, the quarter-ton of beefage who used to have a Sandow brand on him. Karl Jojello, holder of the world's light-heavyweight championship and one of the five or six best heavyweights, takes on big Floyd Marshall in another preliminary.

The card will be opened by Pat O'Shocker's waltz with Bad Man Ivan Vakturoff.

Ladies, armed with escorts, will be admitted free.

Pale Dry Team Rolls 698, 598, 660 in League Match.

FLASHING midseason form, the National Pale Dry Team hung up a new District record for duckpins, tallying 1,956 to sweep all three games with Judd & Detwiler in a National Capital League match. The beverage boys barely missed breaking 700 in the first game when Rosenberg missed a two-pin spare break in the final box, which would have put the team across the mark. The total was 698.

A fair second game of 598 after the dazzling start really cost the team its big opportunity of smash! the 1,990 national record established by the Charter Oaks Team in the Connecticut League last April. The winners dropped off an even 100 pins in this game. With Paul Harrison leading the way in the final game the team came back with a will, sending 660 sticks topsy-turvy.

Harrison was the big gun for the winners, counting 409 chips for the evening's toil. Clark's 158 was good for high game. The 698 score ties the District record rolled by Hyattsville last year in the District League.

Joe Sweeney Signs To Coach Northerns

Joe Sweeney, former back field ace of the Apache and Mohawk Elevens, has been signed to coach the Northern A. C. of the Capital City League, it was announced last night. Sweeney succeeds "Izzy" April, former Tech High star, who has foresaken the gridiron for this season. The new coach of the Red Birds is also expected to hold down a half back position with the team. Sweeney will take charge of the team tonight when it reports for practice in its home field at 7:30 p. m.

Collegiate Conference Lists Meeting Tonight

The first meeting of the Washington Collegiate Conference will be held tonight at 8:30 o'clock at Benjamin Franklin University for the purpose of planning for the coming basket ball season. Representatives of the following schools are expected to attend: Columbus University, Benjamin Franklin University, Southeastern University, Strayer College, Bliss Electrical School and the American Institute of Banking. A silver loving cup will be awarded the team capturing the conference championship this season.

MERIDIANS MEET.

The Meridian football team will meet tonight at 8 o'clock at 1401 Columbia road northwest, apartment 409, to discuss important club matters. All members are urged to be present, as ways and means of obtaining uniforms will be the chief topic of the meeting.

PET PENNANTS DRILL.

The Petworth Pennants will drill tomorrow at 7:30 p. m. on the Iowa avenue playground in preparation for the opening game Sunday with Engine Co. No. 5, at Alexandria. All members of the team are requested to report promptly for the drill.

FRATERS OPEN SUNDAY.

The Alpha Delta Omega Football Team will open its season Sunday, meeting the Northern A. C. at 3 p. m., in Baggetts Park. The Fraters, who will compete in the unlimited section of The Post's Capital City League this season, have signed several former college and high school stars. Dr. Driefus, former Tulane star, is coaching the team.

BRENTWOOD DRILLS.

The Brentwood Hawks will practice tonight at 7:30 on the Mount Rainier Field, following which they will hold a business meeting at 3701 Fenwick street, Brentwood, Md. Sunday the Hawks meet the Wolverines on the Tidal Basin Field.

CELTICS NOTICE

Thomas-Chudada Bird First in Pigeon Race

Averaging more than 40 miles an hour for 200 miles, a pigeon from the Thomas and Chudada Loft showed its tail feathers to a field of 774 birds yesterday in a National Capital Concourse Association race from Roanoke, Va.

Fifty-nine lofts competed. The birds of H. C. Hile won the percentage diploma with 100 per cent returns the same day.

Thomas & Chudada	1,185.10
Parker	1,184.80
Thomas & Chudada	1,184.20
Huntt	1,184.10
Ferguson	1,183.40

CROWD KIDS GROVE ON ST. LOUIS ARRIVAL

as they sought to stave off the monotony of the long trip.

Barely was the subject of baseball and the coming series mentioned. The Athletics believe whole heartedly this series already is virtually won. They feel that they have to win this series to bring to Connie Mack the goal no other baseball leader ever has attained—three straight world champions.

Connie himself made only a brief comment on the pitching situation tomorrow.

"I haven't the faintest idea," he insisted, "as to who will pitch tomorrow. As far as I know now it might even be Lew Krausse."

Krausse, youngest of the pitchers and rookiest of the rookies, will not start, of course. There was some feeling aboard the special train that Waite Hoyt, veteran of six world series games while with the New York Yankees, a cagey, cool, old-timer, might get the first game assignment tomorrow. But if the choice is left to the players, it will be Robert Moses Grove, the big left-hander.

ARBITERS WOULD PLAY.

A team composed of members of the D. C. Umpires Association is seeking a game with a strong unlimited foe for Sunday. Commerce, G. P. O. and Saks are especially challenged. Mr. "Bottle" Cox is selecting opponents for the arbiters. Mr. Cox can be reached at Atlantic 2550, but only strong teams will be considered for games, according to that portly gentleman.

PEGLER USES FIGURES ON SERIES

Calculations Disclose Macks as 3-Time Champions.

mate conclusion, but the figures given should be sufficient to make clear the process by which the positive and negative factors are balanced and the winner is revealed.

How we come to the mysterious problem of the pitching selections, one of the most intricate departments of doping a world series by which I mean if Connie Mack should decide to pitch a dark horse in the first game again this year all the foregoing would have to be revised on the 1921 basis. Every one remembers what happened that year when McGraw crossed up the situation by announcing that he was going to pitch Nehf and then evidently changing his mind, deciding to pitch Nehf after all. It was the same thing, practically, in 1929, and the old wizard of the National game is just as likely to pull another master stroke this year. Connie Mack's shrewdness in concealing his pitching selection will have to be given extra value and I am not exaggerating when I give this feature a rating of .2029 to be subtracted from by Gabby Street's strategy total. This obviously pulls the Cardinals' dope percentage points way down in the psychology column and they do not hardly make it up altogether even with their strength of .3002 in their outfield reserve factor.

There are some fans here in St. Louis, pouring off of every train and pouring into the hotel rooms, who will want to dispute me on this last item, I am afraid, but I know my figures and they probably overlook the right-handed-hitter situation in relation to the left-handed-pitcher strength where there is a decided advantage.

So now all roads lead to Sportsman's Park and the eyes of the world are straining for the first unfurling of the tension which always marks the great fall diamond drama. Barring the unforseen, the Athletics dope to win, but in a struggle like this any number of little things like a missed signal or a sore arm can seriously affect the outcome and dissipate a last-minute shifting of the dope after it is all over.

On that I stake my reputation.

STOCKS REPEAT SAG IN PRICES AT CLOSE

September Losses Average 30 Per Cent on Selected List of 90 Issues.

New York, Sept. 30 (A.P.).—A gloomy September closed today with the financial markets still seeking the cheer which it had been hoped the month would bring.

Stocks moved confusedly during much of the active session, but two rallies failed to turn the tide, and principal issues closed lower under the weight of late selling in the utility group. The average loss, according to the averages, was 2.8 points against yesterday's decline of 3.5, while the turnover of 3,204,207 shares was the largest since the Monday of the British gold suspension.

The Standard Statistics-Associated Press composite, based on final prices of 90 issues, closed at 77.1; at the conclusion of business on August 31 it was 110.1, so the shrinkage of quoted values in September amounted to 30 per cent.

On the whole, stocks declined more moderate than in some recent markets, but pressure against numerous prominent shares was severe. American Telephone, Woolworth, North American, Consolidated Gas, Sears Roebuck, Allied Chemical and Loew's were down about 3 points net.

Steel Sets New Low.

U. S. Steel set a new low at 71 and closed at 71¾, off ¾. Losses by American Can, General Motors, Union Carbide, Kennecott, Case and Chrysler were also fractional. Bethlehem, Radio, Standard Oil of New Jersey, Texas Corporation, Montgomery Ward and General Electric averaged a point. Bethlehem and Kreuger & Toll closed slightly higher.

Rails tried all day to lead the market upward and succeeded in holding a firm tone, although their best prices were reduced. Renewal of negotiations for the Eastern Trunk Line merger, which appears to be making progress, and termination of the freight rate increase hearings provided the basis for the carrier's stability; their August earnings were hardly open to Bullish interpretation.

The general tone of the bond market was weak, notwithstanding rallies by some foreigns and better resistance by scattered highest grade domestics. United States Governments were lower, but succeeded in closing off the bottom.

Foreign exchanges were more stable, with the notable exception of the Canadian dollar, which dropped 3 cents, to 86 cents, on the eve of Canadian gold bond maturities involving the unconverted portion of the second war loan. Success of the conversion plan, arranged in the summer, sharply reduced the payment due tomorrow, but it was pointed out here that the situation was still rather delicate, in view of the exchange position.

Other Currencies Firm.

British, Swiss, Dutch, Italian and French currencies were firm, sterling closing at $3.92, up a cent. The French franc's rise to approximately the gold point suggests further shipment of the precious metal to Paris. Today's earmarkings for foreign account amounted to $19,400,000.

The steel industry ended the third quarter with operations around the lowest level of the depression. Iron Age reported an advance to 31 per cent this week, from 29 per cent a week ago, but Steel said there had been a 3-point decline to 29. Much of the current buying is for construction projects and there seems to be uncertainty as to wheth r present price levels can resist demands for a cut following the wage reduction.

Wheat was mostly steady. September lost half a cent net, but otherwise there was little or no change, reflecting a better export demand and unfavorable Canadian weather. September corn dropped a cent; other months were firm on forecasts of smaller receipts and a bullish weekly weather forecast. Cotton was off 3 to 5 points net.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

Chicago, Sept. 30 (A.P.).—Swayed largely by fluctuations of Wall street securities, grains at least temporarily quit backsliding today, but failed to hold well on upturns.

September wheat contracts touched a new all time low record for any wheat future on the Chicago Board of Trade, and all deliveries of corn outdid the lowest levels reached heretofore this season. Then buying broadened, influenced by the fact that grains had declined for five successive days and that a reversal of trend appeared overdue. Late action of the stock market, however, put grains under a fresh handicap.

Wheat closed nervous, unchanged to ⅝ cent off, corn varying from 1⅛ decline to ⅜ advance, oats unchanged to ⅜ down, and provisions unchanged to a rise of 12 cents.

The new minimum price scored for Chicago wheat futures, 44⅜ cents a bushel, represented less than 1 cent fall overnight, but today's final quotations for September showed only ¼ cent recovery. Putting the market under strain were sharp downturns in wheat quotations at Liverpool, where offerings had enlarged and millers and speculators had stopped buying. Canadian urgency to sell abroad was reported to have increased, and Russian export prices were slashed again, this time to 3 cents a bushel lower than yesterday's cheap basis.

Canada's export sales of wheat today were estimated at more than 1,000,000 bushels. Any bullish effect from this was offset here, however, by indications that no new export business in United States wheat had been put through. A circumstance attributed more or less to a difference in exchange rates. Announcement that the Hoover administration was opposed to an export debenture on cotton, and therefore presumably also to a wheat debenture, came too late to be a grain market factor today.

Weakness of corn prices were associated of late in corn to arrive here from rural sources, 250,000 bushels. Besides, today's Chicago receipts were large, 169 cars, compared with 58 a year ago. Auspicious weather for field work gave a further advantage to bears. Oats followed corn.

BOND PRICES SLUMP TO NEW LOW LEVELS

Weakness of Federal Issues Is Market Feature as Losses Continue.

New York, Sept. 30 (A.P.).—Weakness of United States Government issues and pressure against many domestic obligations, especially carrier loans, combined to more than offset the rallies in the foreign list, and sent the average level of prices in the bond market to a new low for the year today.

The foreign section again showed signs of a letup in the nervous liquidation among American holders of foreign loans, and while the movement was mixed, much needed support rallied to bolster the price of an extensive list of issues that have been forced to inordinately low levels.

Selling was somewhat less active than yesterday, the day's transfers totaling $18,636,000 par value, or $2,500,000 less than yesterday, but there was no diminution in the offerings of United States Governments.

Demand Is Better.

They found a better demand, however, than in the previous session and the decline was moderate with the exception of Treasury 3¾s of 1941-1943, off 10-32ds, and the Liberty first and second 4¼s, which reacted 1½ points, to a half-point above par. Treasury 3s were the most heavily traded and sagged 3-16ths to a new low.

Commenting on the fall in prices of Government bonds, regarded as the premier investment of the world, the National City Bank said today in its monthly review that "Despite their unquestioned eminence, their price is inevitably affected by the law of supply and demand."

Referring to the prospect of additional Government financing, the bank says that "even in a period when safety is the first consideration of investors, the issuance of constantly increasing amounts of securities necessitated by unbalanced budget in a market narrowed by the general reduction in purchasing power can not be accomplished without depressing effects upon prices of outstanding issues."

Drag on Recovery.

While noting that there has been a great deal of hysteria in the bond market, the bank says the situation is a trying one, and is "undoubtedly the greatest present drag upon domestic business recovery, making it extremely difficult for those who have projects in hand to obtain capital for carrying them out."

Losses of a point or two were fairly plentiful in the domestic list and while more general in the railroad section where they affected both first and second grade loans, were fairly well sprinkled through utilities and industrials also. For the second successive day the decline in the averages of 30 bonds dipped a point or more.

About a dozen loans of the Canadian National and Canadian Pacific Railways were under pressure, with losses of 1 to 5 points, and other weak spots included obligations of the Boston & Maine, Alleghany Corporation, Chesapeake & Ohio, Great Northern, Grand Trunk of Canada, Missouri Pacific, Prisco, and Southern Pacific. Southern Pacific 4½s yielded 4¾ points.

CONTRACTORS PLAN BUILDING BONDS AID

By THOMAS M. CAHILL.

Stabilization of the market prices of building bonds through a proper appraisal of values behind real estate mortgage loans was seen as an essential step toward the revival of construction finance at the meeting of the governing board of the Associated General Contractors of America, whose two-day meeting opened at the Washington Hotel yesterday.

Claiming that sound building securities are being adversely affected by the slow processes involved in liquidating unsoundly financed and speculative ventures, the executives of the contractors' association urged its members to take local action in support of those bond issues which have been floated on a conservative basis.

One of the suggestions made to halt the "dynamiting" of securities which would otherwise command par value would involve the appointment of local appraisal committees, composed jointly of contractors, architects, realtors and bankers. Disinterested appraisals from such committees, it was thought, would tend to establish the genuine market values and restore confidence among investors.

Workmen's Insurance Rates.

Another subject discussed was the alarming increase in workmen's compensation insurance rates, despite the active efforts of the association to introduce safe-working methods and conditions on the jobs of its members. One of the reasons cited for the increase in claims against insurance companies was malingering on the part of workmen, due to fear of inability to get new jobs when projects were drawing to a close. Several contractors present cited epidemics of "lame-back" disabilities during the closing days of operations.

Failure of insurance companies to keep pace with changing conditions by reclassifying types of work were also cited as a contributing factor to such mounting costs chargeable against the public's construction dollar.

In an evening session presided over by President A. P. Greensfelder last night, progress reports were heard from 30 standing committees of the association.

Wage Discussion Planned.

At today's meeting it is expected to settle the attitude of the association toward the enactment of more effective laws requiring the payment of prevailing wages, legislation to curb prison labor competition with free labor, and whether congressional appropriations to increase public construction are desirable.

Tonight the association will act as host to a delegation of British contractors, members of the London Institute of Builders. Silas H. Strawn, president of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, will be the principal speaker.

The Baltimore & Ohio Railroad Co.'s statement of earnings and expenses for August reveals net railway operating income of $2,451,403, which is $2,021,823 under that of the month last year. For the eight months it amounts to $16,699,306, or $9,145,854 below the same period in 1930.

Telephone revenues of the Chesapeake & Potomac Telephone Co. of Baltimore City in August amounted to $1,169,035, the report of operations just filed with the Maryland Public Service Commission shows. Expenses during this period were $916,263, making net telephone revenues $252,772.

Telephone revenues for the eight months ended August 31 were $9,521,668, as compared with $9,384,165 for the same period last year. Expenses for the eight months ended August 31, were $7,323,031, as compared with $7,395,921 for a similar period in 1930. Net telephone revenues for the first eight months of this year were $2,198,637.

Capital Bank Clearings.

Washington bank clearings for September totaled $93,291,469.62, or $4,577,461.38 less than those of the month a year ago. Local clearings for the first nine months of the year aggregate $933,457,444.79, as contrasted with $979,919,220.93 during the comparative period in 1930.

At a recent meeting of the board of directors of Federal Storage Co., the regular quarterly dividend of $2 per share on the preferred stock was declared payable October 15 to stockholders of record at close of business September 30.

Guy O. Dove, jr., Princeton graduate, associated with James M. Johnston & Co., was recently elected a director and treasurer of the E. B. Adams Co.

Phil S. Hanna, for many years head of the Wall Street Journal's Detroit organization and a contributor to many other business and financial publications, becomes editor of the Chicago Journal of Commerce today.

THOS. J. OWEN & SON, Auctioneers.
1431 Eye Street Northwest.

Trustees' Sale of Valuable Seven-Story and Basement Brick and Stone Apartment Known as "The Wyoming," Being Premises 2022 Columbia Road Northwest.

By virtue of a certain deed of trust duly recorded in liber No. 4736, folio 90 et seq., of the land records of the District of Columbia, and at the request of the party secured thereby, the undersigned trustees will sell at public auction, in front of the premises, on MONDAY, THE TWENTY-EIGHTH DAY OF OCTOBER, A. D. 1931, AT TWO-FIFTEEN O'CLOCK P. M., the following-described land and premises, situate in the District of Columbia, and designated as and being parts of the tract of land called "The Widow's Mite," now known as "Oak Lawn," described by metes and bounds, as follows: Beginning for the same on the easterly line of Columbia road, as widened, at a point distant 321.88 feet southerly from the intersection of said road, as widened, with the south line of the land conveyed to Stephen P. Quackenbush by deed recorded in liber 1190 at folio 187, of the land records of the District of Columbia, and running thence northeasterly along the said line of Columbia road 221.88 feet; thence in a line parallel with the south line of said Quackenbush's land, south 81¾ degrees, east 189.48 feet to the west line of an alley conveyed to the District of Columbia by deed recorded in liber 2910 at folio 112 of the said land records; thence southerly with the west line of said alley 203.82 feet to the point of intersection with a line drawn parallel with said second line from the point of beginning, and thence north 81¾ degrees, west 277.51 feet to the place of beginning, including with other parcels, lot numbered twenty-six (26) in Oscar W. White's subdivision of a part of "Oak Lawn," as per plat recorded in the office of the surveyor for the District of Columbia in liber county 19 at folio 186. Said property now being taxed as lot 822, in square numbered twenty-five hundred and thirty-five (2535). Subject to building restriction line, 16½ feet back from Columbia road, as shown on plat in county book 19 at page 109, of the records of the surveyor's office of the District of Columbia. Subject to the restriction to run with the land for 15 years from June 6, 1910, that no building, wall, fence or other structure shall be erected within ten (10) feet of the north line of the herein described property. Also a strip of land 77 foot on Columbia road in subdivision of "Oak Lawn," conveyed by the District of Columbia to Lester A. Barr by deed dated June 5, 1912, and now taxed as lot numbered eight hundred and fourteen (814) in square 2535.

TERMS OF SALE: One-third of the purchase money to be paid in cash, balance in two equal installments, payable in one and two years, with interest at six per centum per annum, payable semi-annually, from day of sale, secured by deed of trust upon the property sold, or all cash, at the option of the purchaser. A deposit of $10,000.00 will be required at time of sale. All conveyancing, recording, &c., at cost of purchaser. Terms of sale to be complied with within 30 days from day of sale, otherwise the trustees reserve the right to resell the property at the risk and cost of defaulting purchaser, after five days' advertisement of such resale in some newspaper published in Washington, D. C. Conveyancing, recording, &c., at purchaser's cost.

GEORGE N. EVERETT,
BRAINARD W. PARKER,
Trustees.

NOTE: The New York Life Insurance Company, owner and holder of the notes described in the deeds of trust above referred to recorded in liber 6214 folio 257 and liber 6312 folio 179, respectively, have agreed to extend for any purchaser said principal sums secured by said deeds of trust for a period of 3 years from September 1, 1931, with interest at 5 per cent, with semiannual curtails of 1½ per cent, starting at the end of 18 months upon payment of all overdue interest and taxes.

This renewal is also subject to usual appraisal and brokerage fees.

200-FOOT COLUMNS FOR BRIDGE MAY BE AVIATION SACRIFICE

Grant Says Proposals Will Be Modified if Menace to Ships Is Shown.

MEMORIAL ON COLUMBIA ISLAND ALSO CRITICIZED

Board of Trade Committee Warns Hoover Airport May Be Closed.

Should thorough investigation prove that the two 200-foot granite columns, with which it is proposed to embellish the new Arlington Memorial Bridge, would be a menace to transport airplanes flying to and from Washington-Hoover Airport, steps will be taken to modify their construction accordingly, Lieut. Col. U. S. Grant 3d said yesterday.

The director of public buildings and public parks, who himself instigated the investigation to determine whether the towering shafts could be erected without imperiling air traffic, made the announcement at a conference with a special subcommittee of the Board of Trade's aviation committee, speaking as executive officer of the Arlington Memorial Bridge Commission.

Island Memorial Also Hit.

Headed by William P. MacCracken, jr., former Assistant Secretary of Commerce for Aeronautics, the subcommittee called on Col. Grant to discuss the issue which threatens to cause the closing of Washington-Hoover Airport, according to critics. Not only have the two columns drawn their fire, but also the Navy and Marine Memorial on Columbia Island.

While recognizing the danger which the bridge columns might present to planes circling for a landing at the airport, Col. Grant was inclined to minimize the peril offered by the memorial. He pointed out that it will stand only about 45 feet above the Potomac at low water, a height equalled and surpassed by trees, posts and other obstacles in the vicinity.

Col. Grant several months ago forewarned the Department of Commerce and the Fine Arts Commission that objections to the height of the massive shafts probably would arise.

To Cost $560,000 Each.

Although the Commerce Department has not the authority to close the airport, it could recall the operating licenses of the fire lines which operate therefrom, carrying about 7,000 passengers each month to and from the Capital.

Members of Mr. MacCracken's subcommittee which called on Col. Grant yesterday were Lawrence E. Williams, chairman of the Board of Trade aviation committee; Charles M. Saxelby and Robert J. Cottrell. Their next step will be to lay the matter before the Fine Arts Commission, which has not yet selected the design for the columns.

KEY WITNESS LOSS DELAYS JOB PROBE

Disappearance of Woman May Balk Prosecution of "Racket" Boss.

A temporary halt has been caused in the investigation by the District attorney's office into the employment agency "racket" here through inability of Assistant United States Attorney William A. Gallagher to locate a colored woman who was expected to prove a key witness.

The woman is not now living at the address she gave some time ago, and attempts to communicate with her have failed. By her the Government hoped to get a Police Court conviction against the head of the organization here that is said to have been most flagrant in its operations.

This agency takes $2 to enroll the unemployed and then apparently makes no effort to secure positions, it is charged. Those enrolled are on the files for future needs, but in the meantime, despite the fact that there are scores who have not secured work after paying their money, additional persons are allowed to pay to get jobs that are daily advertised as actually existing.

The woman sought dealt with the head of the employment bureau, which has a high-sounding name. Others who have complained have dealt with minor employes, and the desire of the office of Leo A. Rover, United States attorney, is to get the boss. The woman will be asked to swear out a warrant and appear in Police Court. Until she is located, the exact charge will not be known.

Citizens See Need For Traffic Lights

Rhode Island Avenue Body Urges Increased Control Equipment.

Need of traffic lights at various points on Rhode Island avenue northeast was stressed at a meeting last night of the Rhode Island Avenue Citizens Association. Points at which traffic protection is needed particularly are Rhode Island avenue and Mills avenue, Twentieth street and Seventeenth or Sixteenth street, it was stated. The car stop at Rhode Island avenue and Monroe street was described as dangerous, and it was recommended that the car stop at Eastern avenue be moved from the east to the west side.

Dr. Cloyd Heck Marvin, president of George Washington University and director of the District Bicentennial Commission, addressed the association on plans that have already been completed for the celebration. Dr. Marvin was told of the contribution planned toward the celebration by the Northeast suburban bicentennial committee. Three events will take place this month to raise funds for the celebration, a card party on October 3, a dance on October 10 and an entertainment October 23, it was announced by Mrs. Clare Jean Speaker.

A committee of five was appointed by President E. G. Sievers with power to act in cooperating with organizations planning the Halloween celebration.

Officers Are Installed By Sorority Chapter

Miss Elsie Trittipo was installed as president at a meeting of Pi Chapter of the Beta Chi Sorority in the Hay-Adams House last night.

Other officers installed were Miss Ethel Hayes, vice president; Miss Irma Bitter, treasurer; Mrs. Mae H. Taylor, recording secretary; Mrs. Margaret Wertmen, corresponding secretary, and Miss Martha Lacey, sergeant at arms.

50,000 Now Expected To Take Typist Tests

Applications for jobs as stenographers and typists, flowing into the Civil Service Commission at the rate of 1,500 a day, are expected to reach 50,000 when the time for filing expires next Wednesday.

The figure breaks all records, the commission announced. Examinations for existing vacancies are to be held this fall throughout the country, the date to be announced later.

Residents of the District, Maryland and Virginia will be barred, unless they maintain "domiciles" elsewhere, the commission has ruled.

$8,375 ESTATE LEFT BY SUICIDE COUPLE

Property Is Willed to Two Petrenko Children; Petition Filed.

A $7,000 equity in the home at 4824 Forty-first street northwest, valued at $10,000, and $1,375 in cash comprise the estate left by Serge N. Petrenko, engineer at the Bureau of Standards, and his wife, Mary M. Petrenko, when they ended their lives in a suicide pact September 17, it was revealed in the District Supreme Court yesterday when Alexander I. Krynitsky, named as executor in the wills, filed a petition for their probate.

Petrenko, who fled from Russia, where he was a captain in the army, when the Reds overthrew the czarist regime, and his wife planned to end their lives because of the tragedy they were continually encountering in the news from their friends in Russia who were unable to flee.

Krynitsky told the court he was a frequent visitor at the Petrenko home and last saw the couple alive at 8:30 o'clock on the night of September 15, which is the night fixed by police when the two made arrangements for their own suicides and agreed to include in their plans their smallest son, Vadim.

The entire estate is willed to Aridana, 19 years old, and Eugene, 18, though the sister is to direct it for both when she becomes of age. In the meantime, Krynitsky, himself a former officer in the czar's army, and now the caretaker at the old Russian Embassy on Sixteenth street, is to manage the estate.

Costello Post Marks Its Twelfth Anniversary

Vincent B. Costello Post of the American Legion celebrated its twelfth anniversary last night with a dance and entertainment at the Army War College. In addition to vaudeville entertainment the post enjoyed music by the Army Band.

Capital Girl Honored At Radcliffe College

Miss Margaret S. Firnie, of 2325 Twentieth street northwest, a member of the class of 1932 at Radcliffe College, Cambridge, Mass., has been awarded a place on the dean's list at the New England institution.

A place on the dean's list is a purely academic honor and was awarded to the local young woman through excellence achieved in her grades during the second half of last year. Students on the dean's list are given special privileges and the honor is greatly coveted.

MINISTER DEPLORES MORALS OF PARENTS

Evil Example Set for Youth, Synod Told; Convention to End Today.

Stating that "long before the moratorium on international debts was declared by President Hoover, millions of Americans declared a moratorium on the moral law," the Rev. Paul Leinbach, of Philadelphia, president of the Editorial Council of the Religious Press of America, addressed the convention of the Women's Missionary Society, Synod of Potomac, Reformed Church of the United States, last night at the First Reformed Church, Thirteenth and Monroe streets northwest.

Dr. Leinbach, whose topic was "The Creation of an Atmosphere of Spiritual Blessing," declared "as a result of this situation the profoundest confusion that confronts the country today is not financial or economic, but one of moral disintegration.

"A great number of our older people who have had the advantages of a Christian ancestry have been willing to start a pagan posterity," he continued, "and although we hear considerable about the pitfalls in which the younger generation is liable to become entangled, the most dangerous thing the youth of the land must contend with is the evil example of their parents and elders."

Outlines Four Essentials.

Dr. Leinbach outlined four essentials for the creation of an atmosphere of spiritual blessing as: The intensity of desire or the thirst after righteousness, a reverent humility, an unfaltering faith, and an obedience to the known will of God.

Last night's meetings marked the completion of two days of the convention which will end today.

New officers of the synod were elected during the afternoon sessions. They are: President, Mrs. John L. Barnhart, of Baltimore; first vice president, Mrs. W. H. Causey; second vice president, Mrs. Joseph H. Appel, of Frederick, Md.; recording secretary, Mrs. Irvin A. Raubenhold, of York, Pa.; statistical secretary, Miss Ruth Gillan, of Chambersburg, Pa. and treasurer, Mrs. Thomas E. Jarrell, of Washington, who is at present serving as convention chairman.

During the morning session Dr. Calvin K. Staudt, of Baghdad, Iraq, spoke on "Our Work in the Bible Lands." In the afternoon, Mrs. W. G. Seiple gave an address on "The Challenge of the Church in Japan."

Departmental Reports.

Departmental reports were given at the afternoon meeting, following which the visiting delegates were taken on a sight-seeing tour of the city and to Arlington.

A fellowship dinner was held in the evening under supervision of Mrs. J. H. Appel and Miss Pauline Holler. Miss Greta Hinkle, literary secretary for the General Synodical Society, spoke on "Who Are the Young People of Today." This talk was followed by informal speeches by several of the delegates, among whom was Alliene DeChant, who spoke briefly on "The Inspiration of Being a Leader."

Yesterday's meetings were opened with a greeting from Mary Edith Jarrell, niece of Mrs. Thomas Jarrell, chairman of the convention.

Roof Layers Deny Seeking More Pay

Union Men Say That Aim Is Established Scale for All Workers.

With tomorrow marking the fourteenth day of a "truce" in the wage scale battle between members of Composition Roofers' Local No. 109 and their employers in the Federal building program, a representative of the organization last night told The Post that his companions were not seeking an increase in wages, but an established scale for all workers.

More than three weeks ago a strike was declared by workers on the new Department of Agriculture building. According to the contractors they demanded an increase from 90 cents an hour to $1.25. On September 21 a seven-day truce was declared and the men returned to work. Their demands were reduced to $1.10 an hour and when the "truce" was extended another week, the workers lowered their demands to $1.00 an hour.

Three firms, the workers say, who are not members of the association, are now paying $1.25 an hour. Thus, if the scale of $1.00 goes into effect the men working for these firms will take a reduction rather than an increase.

POPULOUS SECTIONS LOSING PLAYGROUND, SUPERVISOR SHOWS

Northeast, Miss Baker in Report Points Out, Is Deprived of Plaza.

SAYS DISTRICT LAGS BEHIND OTHER CITIES

Pools for Swimming and Wading and Night Lighting Are Urged.

Despite steady progress of the District Playground Department, large and established grounds in populous sections are being abolished more rapidly than new playgrounds are opened, Miss Sibyl Baker, supervisor, declared in her annual report to the District Commissioners yesterday. The report is the twentieth for the department, but the first from Miss Baker, who last June succeeded Mrs. Susie Root Rhodes.

Miss Baker notes "with apprehension" the disappearance of the Plaza Playground, the impending loss of the Iowa Avenue Park, and the seizure by the District Engineer Department of valuable space at the Bloomingdale Grounds.

Northeast Area Deprived.

The loss of the Plaza Playgrounds through the Capitol Plaza beautification program, "has deprived one of the most closely settled sections of the District of a playground," the report states. "It is most desirable that Northeast Washington * * * be provided with a municipal playground."

Additions acquired by the Playground Department in the fiscal year include the strip on Hamilton street, between Thirteenth and Fourteenth streets, the western end of the Payne Playground, several lots at the Barry Farms Ground, and some land adjacent to the Raymond School.

Last year there were 29 playgrounds and a play station at Children's Hospital open for year-round service. In addition, there were 49 school playgrounds open during the summer and others at various times throughout the year.

Grounds Lack Beauty.

Complaint of inability to develop playgrounds to compare with those in other modern cities is voiced by Miss Baker, who says:

"It has not been possible to make any ground a really beautiful playground, important as beauty is recognized to be in the lives of little children. Our playing courts are not well surfaced; planting, sodding, and shady nooks for the older people to sit in are still lacking. Nowhere do our children have the lovely parklike areas with ample field houses and well-kept grassy plots and terraces which some modern cities possess.

"Three grounds only have swimming pools; five more are needed. There are only six wading pools, and every municipal playground should have one of these."

Attention is called to the increasing interest among girls in various activities of the department. Last year, it is estimated, 18,396 girls took part in tournaments and league games.

Miss Baker indorses the proposed coordination of the Capital recreational facilities by stating that: "It is highly desirable that the study of coordinating the recreational facilities of the District be pushed forward with all possible vigor."

Six Recommendations Made.

Six specific recommendations are offered in the report. They have been urged previously, it is recalled, by Mrs. Rhodes, and are:

1. Adequate play space means not less than two acres.
2. A supervised playground in every public park large enough to provide the space.
3. Beautification of playgrounds.
4. In providing additional playspace the thickly populated sections should receive first consideration.
5. An urgent need is wading and swimming pools.
6. Lighting of the larger playgrounds, such as Rosedale, Georgetown, and Howard, would open them for evening use.

Miss Baker finally recommends that, whenever contracts for buildings or for additions are let which necessitate removal of a playground or the relocation of equipment, the contract shall include the expense of such readjustment.

Two Boys Injured When Hit by Auto

Bicyclist Has Fractured Skull; Other Severely Cut About Head.

Two boys were seriously injured yesterday afternoon when they were struck by an automobile at 1340 Hemlock street northwest as they rode out of an alley on their bicycles.

The boys, Charles Lambros, 11, of 1300 Floral street, and James Thompson, 10, of 1208 Floral street, were taken to Walter Reed Hospital, where Lambros was reported suffering from a fractured skull and possible internal injuries and Thompson from shock and severe lacerations of the head and face. Thompson later was removed to George Washington Hospital, while Lambros remained at Walter Reed, as his condition would not permit him to be moved.

Eugene F. Colella, 29, of 7512 Fourteenth street northwest, driver of the car which struck the youngsters, was arrested by Thirteenth Precinct police, but later released in the custody of his attorney.

Boy, 7, Hurt by Auto In Front of His Home

Charles Mann, 7, of 816 E street northeast, was in an undetermined condition at Casualty Hospital last night, suffering from a possible fracture of the right leg, sustained when he was struck by a Veterans' Administration automobile in front of his home yesterday afternoon.

Henry Bond, colored, 30, who was driving the machine, took the boy to the hospital. Bond told police that the accident was unavoidable, as young Mann ran out in front of him from behind a parked car.

ONLY CLEW TO WAIF'S IDENTITY

These footprints, not left behind him "on the sands of time" but indelibly recorded on paper by identification experts, may help to establish the real name of John Henry Doe, pudgy infant abandoned by his mother at a New York avenue bus terminal more than a week ago. As hospitals make a practice of "footprinting" babies, the above copy will be sent to institutions throughout the country in an effort to identify the baby who, meanwhile, is perfectly happy at Gallinger Hospital.

BONDHOLDERS GET CASH AND EQUITIES

$15,000,000 in Securities of American Co. Settled by Committee.

Settlement of $15,000,000 of American Bond & Mortgage Co. securities for $3,900,000 in cash, plus certificates of ownership of the equities above new first mortgages, was announced yesterday by the committee for the protection of holders of first mortgage bonds of the huge financing agency behind the Mayflower Hotel, now in receivership.

Cash payments to bondholders on reorganized securities amount to 25 per cent of their cash value, with "excellent prospects of further returns in the future," Craig B. Hazlewood, vice president of the First National Bank of Chicago and chairman of the protective committee, announced yesterday.

He said $80,000,000 bonds in more than 100 issues on projects in half a dozen cities, put out by the corporation, are in default and being handled by the protective committee.

"The committee is working and making steady progress on the other $65,000,000," he said. "Issues are being handled one by one. Each problem is being solved on its individual merits."

He said 89 per cent of the face value of all bonds has been deposited with the committee.

Patriotic Council Reelects Officers

Executive Board Praises Legion for Stand Against Communism.

All officers of the National Patriotic Council were reelected for the coming year last night at a meeting of the executive committee at the Hay-Adams House.

They are: President, Mrs. Noble Newport Potts; vice presidents, Secretary of the Navy Charles F. Adams, Mrs. Larz Anderson, of Massachusetts and Washington; Maj. Gen. Hanson E. Ely, U. S. A.; Mrs. Laura B. Evans, of Illinois; Maj. Gen. Amos A. Fries, U. S. A., retired; Mrs. Lowell Fletcher Hobart, president general of the D. A. R.; Rear Admiral William A. Moffett, chief of the Bureau of Aeronautics, and Curtis D. Wilbur, former Secretary of the Navy; treasurer, Mrs. Franklin Getzendamer, of Maryland, and secretary, Rexford L. Holmes, of Washington.

Upon the motion of Gen. Fries, the council gave its unqualified indorsement of the attitude of the American Legion at Detroit in its scathing denunciation of communism and pacifism and commended the legion for its determination to investigate the various peace societies of the United States.

Riverside DrivewaySoon To Be Opened to Public

The Riverside driveway between K street and Constitution avenue was completed yesterday, according to officials of the office of public buildings and public parks, but it will not be opened to the public for another month.

The highway, which is a part of the Rock Creek and Potomac Parkway, has as yet no outlet at Constitution avenue. Construction of the road in Rock Creek Valley between P street and Massachusetts avenue will be started at once.

Man and Wife Injured As Two Autos Collide

Joseph W. Pilkerton, 25, and his 18-year-old wife, Olive, were injured late yesterday when the auto in which they were riding collided with another car at North Carolina avenue and Eighth street southeast. The former suffered a possible fracture of the collarbone and lacerations and his wife was treated for a possible jaw fracture and lecerations of face and hands.

WITNESS IS FOUND IN POLICE BEATING

Paper Hanger, Who Accuses Police, to Have Trial Tomorrow.

Another witness was found yesterday who is ready to testify against the police in the latest instance of alleged brutal treatment toward a prisoner.

This witness, who runs a rooming house at 1600 New Jersey avenue northwest, is prepared to tell Department of Justice agents the circumstances surrounding the arrest of James Lester colored paper hanger, who asserts his arm was broken by two Fourth Precinct policemen when they placed him under arrest on charges of drunk and disorderly conduct.

Meantime, Lester, his face badly bruised and one arm in a sling, was granted a continuance of the drunk and disorderly charges when he was arraigned yesterday in Police Court. The man told Judge Mattingly that he wanted time to collect witnesses in order to prove his innocence. The case was set for tomorrow and Judge Mattingly ordered Lester remanded to the District Jail until the trial date.

Keith to Get Charges.

Lester's charges will be presented to John M. Keith, of the Department of Justice, who with J. Edgar Hoover, director of the Bureau of Investigation, led in gathering evidence in alleged third degree and brutality cases. The case will be laid before Mr. Keith by Allan Griffith, colored employe of the Department of Justice, and a friend of Lester.

Lester said the woman running the rooming house where Lester lives is ready to sign an affidavit to the effect that he was sitting quietly in the house when the police came in to arrest him. She says the police started punching Lester in the ribs with their nightsticks and that one of them swung at Lester with his fist.

Lester is said to have attempted to fight back then, but desisted when the policemen grasped his arm. His protests that they were hurting his arm were unavailing, according to Lester's friends.

Taken to Second Precinct.

After the arrest Lester was taken first to the Second Precinct Station and later to Freedmen's Hospital, where he was refused treatment. Later he was taken to Gallinger Hospital, according to the charges, where he was held for three days before any move was made to set his arm. While at the hospital a friend called to see Lester, but was not allowed to see him, according to charges.

After being discharged from the hospital Lester was sent to the Fourth Precinct, several miles from the scene of the arrest, where he was held until the trial yesterday. During the time he was held at the hospital and the two station houses he was held incommunicado, Lester's friends assert.

Shortly before the July grand jury was found to be an invalid body because a Government pensioner was sitting as a member, Department of Justice officials declared that their investigation of Washington police methods was at an end.

In view of the fact that all of the cases brought before the July grand jury must again be presented to the October jury, it is believed the Department of Justice may continue its investigation and attempt to take action on Lester's charges.

Policemen who appeared as arresting officers in the drunk and disorderly cases against Lester are B. C. Thompson and C. R. Bremerman.

Forged Prescriptions Are Laid to Prisoner

Accused by police of having forged prescriptions to obtain drugs, a man identifying himself as Walter Hubert Schott, 36, Lancaster, Pa., was arrested yesterday and detained for investigation at the Thirteenth Precinct station.

Schott was arrested after a Takoma Park druggist notified the station that there was a man in his store who answered the description of an alleged prescription forger which had been broadcast by radio.

SCHENCK REFUSES TO TALK IN SECRET TO LAWYER GROUP

Silence Balks Staples Case Probe Body in Session at District Jail.

FORMER POLICEMAN WANTS OPEN HEARING

Fear of "Double Cross" Is Given as Reason of Demand for Witnesses.

Washington's special committee of "silent" lawyers, whose investigation of grand jury charges against the police has been marked throughout by the strictest secrecy, yesterday encountered a silence as unbroken as their own when they attempted to cross-examine former Policeman Frederick A. Schenck at the District Jail.

The committee still was silent following the interview, but not so Mr. Schenck, who told a group of newspapermen what had transpired during the 60-some-odd minutes the committee had sought to persuade him to repeat the testimony he gave a District grand jury two months ago.

Schenck protested vehemently to what he termed the committee's "star chamber" proceedings, declaring he feared it would result in "another whitewash." He said he offered to repeat his testimony that former Policeman Orville Staples was "framed" in the presence of newspapermen, or Col. William Peake, superintendent of the District Jail, but the committee rejected his suggestion.

Second Attempt Planned.

Henry P. Blair, chairman of the special committee, declined to make a statement. Admitting he had been chosen "mouthpiece" for the committee he said the group at the same time had instructed him "to say nothing." No details of the inquiry will be made public until the body reports to the District Commissioners in about two weeks, he said.

Meanwhile it was learned that the committee may make another effort to break Mr. Schenk's silence today, although the former policeman indicated he would be just as adamant unless his requst for witnesses is complied with. The group of lawyers has been holding daily sessions of late.

Corporation Counsel W. W. Bride said he did not believe the committee has authority to make Schenk testify, although he might be compelled to talk before a trial board.

"Double Cross" Claimed.

Questioned after the committee left the jail, where Schenk was interrogated behind the closed doors of the officers' dining room, the former policeman said:

"I told them that I was going to be heard in public, even if I had to wait to testify before a congressional investigating committee this winter. I told them that I had testified before the grand jury behind closed doors, and that the grand jury had issued a report fixing all blame for the framing of Staples upon me and Private Joseph H. Hunt.

"Hunt and I merely carried out the orders of the higher officials in the Police Department when we gathered perjured testimony against Staples."

Schenk declared the grand jury made a "goat" of Hunt, while protecting higher officials whom he said he named at the grand jury hearings.

He said his sole purpose in not "talking" to the committee was to guard against being "double crossed" again.

Burlingame Mentioned.

"I have already been double crossed several times, and I know that if my statements are made in the presence of newspaper men or other witnesses, I will get a square deal," he said.

The former policeman made clear however, that he did not question the "integrity" of the committee.

He disclosed that several members of the committee propounded questions about Guy E. Burlingame, retired police captain, acquitted by a special trial board several years ago on charges brought by Mrs. Helen Blalock. He said they sought to determine Burlingame's attitude toward Staples.

Besides Chairman Blair, the committee of lawyers which called at the jail yesterday included Walter C. Clephane, Col. J. Miller Kenyon, Daniel W. O'Donoghue and Stanley C. Peelle.

Schenck, who was brought from the Federal Penitentiary at Leavenworth, Kans., where he is serving sentence, testified before the July grand jury, whose findings have since been invalidated. He is being held at the jail pending resumption of the grand jury inquiry into the Staples "framing" charges by a jury to be sworn in October 6.

Staples, who, Schenck claims, was "framed" by the police, will address the Washington Open Forum Saturday night at 8 o'clock in the National Press Club Auditorium. He will speak on "The Third Degree and Police Brutality."

Man Hurt as Auto Starts Runaway Dash to Shop.

While trying to crank the engine of his automobile in front of 1244 Eleventh street northwest yesterday morning, Jessup Brown, 21, of 1105 N street northwest, suffered a fractured right arm and severe lacerations when the car started and pushed him through a fence.

The machine failed to stop at this and continued on its way, finally crashing through the plate glass window of a barber shop at 1244 Eleventh street. Brown luckily cleared himself of the car before it went through the window. He was taken to Emergency Hospital and treated for a fractured arm and lacerations.

Robberies and Vandalism Laid to 7 Lads, 12 to 15

Detectives J. E. Caine and P. E. Ambrose, of the First Precinct, yesterday completed the roundup of seven boys between the ages of 12 and 15 who were held responsible for the entry of more than a half dozen business establishments and the theft of merchandise valued at more than $1,000.

Police charge that the youngsters made a practice of wrecking the interior after robbing the store and in one case attempted unsuccessfully to "crack" a safe. They are held at the receiving home, booked for "taking property belonging to another."

Among the commercial houses said to have been victimized by the youths are Guy Curran & Co., dry goods; a chain grocery store, the American Furniture Co., the C. D. Kenny Co. coffee store, two printing shops and a gasoline station. All are in the downtown section.

Kipling's Idea on Females Is Borne Out by Mosquitoes

While gentlemen mosquitoes diet on plant and fruit juices, the females of the species, lustful for blood, go gunning for human beings.

So says J. L. Robertson, coordinator of mosquito control for the District, and he knows his insects. Discussing the family life of the mosquito, Mr. Robertson disclosed intimate pastimes and dietary habits of man's ancient enemy.

Among other things, "Coordinator" Robertson explained just why it is some varieties with fiendish cunning bite only the back of the neck and the backs of the hands and ankles. It's because they can't be swatted there without warning twitches of the muscles.
